Fire at Cumberland.
Mr. J. L. Smith's residence was burned down at Cumberland this morning about 2 o'clock. It is thought to have caught from the kitchen.

First Bale Ginned.
Mr. R. C. Leggett, of 71st, had a bale of cotton of the new crop ginned at McNeill Milling Co.'s gin to-day. It was good middling, and weighed 498 pounds. This is the first so far reported in the county. Mr. Leggett was the first last year to have a bale ginned.

Young Musselwhite Bound Over.
Mr. J. P. Musselwhite, the well-known baseball player of Hope Mills, was tried yesterday before Squire John Smith, on a charge of forging an order on the station agent at Hope Mills for two gallons of whiskey, and obtaining the same early on Sunday morning, the whiskey being the property of Mr. Zeb Hall. He was bound over to court, and failing to give bond, he was remanded to jail.

Bryan Flood.
We take the liberty of publishing the following personal letter from a prominent citizen:

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 27, 1908.
Dear Sir:
Enclosed find $5.00 for campaign. I think Bryan Flood is the best man you can give the present fresh—indicative of the great flood of votes that is flowing into the Bryan column, preparing to sweep away everything that opposes the people's onward march to victory.

C. J. COOPER.

In the Superior Court.
The trial of Solomon Khoury, charged with burglary in the second degree, and forgery, was completed late this afternoon in the Superior Court, and the jury is now out considering its verdict. The defendant, through his counsel, pleaded imbecility. The defendant is represented by Messrs. Bullard and Nimocks, and the Solicitor is assisted in the prosecution by Messrs. H. L. Cook and C. G. Rose.

The case against Whit Monroe, charged with the murder of Frank Walker, in Raeford, and for which a special venire was summoned to be present to-day, will be taken up this afternoon or in the morning.

The Loss in Bridges.
Mr. Herbert Lutterloh, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, thinks that $3,500 will replace all the bridges swept away, or damaged by the recent floods in this county, exclusive of the Clarendon bridge. So far heard from Lamont's across Little River, McNeill's, Nunnelee's and Emmett's, across Rockfish, are practically total losses, while news from the bridges in the northern part of the county is as yet meagre. A great number of culverts all over the county were also destroyed.

ACTION OF ALDERMEN FOR RELIEF OF FLOOD SUFFERERS.
Appropriates Funds for Relief of Sufferers.

A called meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. The meeting was held for the purpose of voting an appropriation for the relief of the flood sufferers.

Mayor Bullard presided, and the following Aldermen were present: Messrs. McNeill, Buckingham, Armfield, Ledbetter, Poe, McMillan and Culbreth.

The following motion was made by Alderman Buckingham, and seconded by Alderman Culbreth, and carried unanimously:

"That the Board appropriate whatever funds found to be necessary for the relief of the flood sufferers, and upon approval by the Board of Audit and Finance, the Mayor and Clerk be instructed to issue scrip in such amounts as ordered by the Central Committee, appointed at the Citizens' Meeting, to relieve the flood sufferers."

A Beautiful Home Marriage at Bule.
In the presence of near relatives and close friends at the home of the bride a beautiful home marriage took place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Dr. W. H. Andrews led to the altar Miss Leona Prevatt, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Rev. John Prevatt, who lives at Bule, R. F. D. Robeson county, Rev. R. A. Hedgpeth, of Barnsville, where Miss Prevatt had been music teacher for the past two years in the Barnsville high school, officiated in a beautiful ceremony, and spoke the words which blended their lives into one.

While the guests waited in the front parlor, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion with evergreens, potted plants and flowers, Miss Edna Tynes played with artistic touch Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the happy couple marched down the long hall and into their presence where they witnessed the happy event.

The groom is a son of Mr. Nathan Andrews, a well-to-do farmer of the Fairmont section.

Notwithstanding the fact that there were no invitations sent out, the many useful presents attested the popularity of the young couple, who left immediately after the ceremony for their future home at Proctorville, where the groom is a merchant and physician amid showers of rain, rice and congratulations.

THE FLOOD IS NOW A THING OF THE PAST.

WATER RECESSES RAPIDLY, AND IS NOW WELL IN BANKS OF CAPE FEAR.

The Greatest Damage Done is to Crops.

The great freshet of the Cape Fear, of 1908, is now a thing of the past, and, for years to come, or until another freshet comes and surpasses it, it will be an epoch in local history.

While considerable suffering followed in the wake of the great flood, there is not as much as was expected, and the several hundred people, who were forced to leave their homes in the low part of the city, are being well cared for, and many of them have already returned to their homes and are now putting them in order.

Though a large number of houses were more or less damaged, only one, so far as we can learn, was destroyed, and that was a small one-story affair. The people of Campbellton, and those farther up in the city whose houses were flooded, are going about the work of setting things in order, with a marvellously cheerful spirit. Our people behaved splendidly all through last week, and as usual Fayetteville emerges from what at one time threatened to be a great calamity, with smiling countenance and a brave spirit.

The greatest loss is, of course, by the farmers along the valley of the Cape Fear, and, though it is impossible to make an estimate with any accuracy, the amount will go considerably beyond one hundred thousand dollars.

Some of the prominent farmers residing within a few miles of Fayetteville, who lost practically all their crops, were: R. B. Evans, Sidney McDaniel, Sidney Smith, D. P. Carter. Mr. Thos. Gibson escaped with a loss of only a few acres.

Other farmers, who are heavy losers are: Mr. J. N. Talbot, 40 acres in cotton, total loss; S. C. Godwin, 60 acres in cotton, 60 acres in corn, total loss; James Hall, 30 acres of cotton, total loss; John Neill, 25 acres of cotton, total loss.

Mr. N. B. Alexander is one of the heaviest losers by the flood, his cotton gin and warehouse, with contents, situated just across from the Clarendon bridge, are damaged thousands of dollars.

The Clarendon bridge stood the great flood, and is damaged to the extent of only a few hundred dollars. The two steel railway bridges, across the Cape Fear, and the county steel bridge, across Lock's Creek, are apparently uninjured. Most of the bridges in town, and in the county, are more or less damaged, and some of them a total loss.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT BLIND TIGERS?
Deputy Sheriffs Scouring the Town for Young Men to Tell Grand Jury.

Constable reigned in this city yesterday among a large number of young men, when they learned that deputy sheriffs, armed with subpoenas, were out looking for them, for the purpose of summoning them to appear before the grand jury, and tell what they knew of whisky selling in Fayetteville and Cumberland county. Some of the young men at once made themselves scarce, while others, not warned in time, were caught. Fifteen of twenty subpoenas were issued, many of them for prominent men, to appear before the grand jury on Friday.

The law, under which this section was taken, is as follows:

"Unlawful sale through agents. If any person shall unlawfully and illegally procure and deliver and spirituous or malt liquors to another, he shall be deemed and held in law to be the agent of the person selling said spirituous and malt liquors, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court. Whenever the solicitor of any judicial district shall have good reason to believe that liquor has been manufactured or sold contrary to law within any county in their said district and shall believe that any person shall have knowledge of the existence and establishment of any illicit distillery, or that any person has sold liquor illegally, then it shall be lawful for said solicitor to apply to the clerk of the superior court of the county wherein said offense is supposed to have been committed to issue subpoenas for the said person to appear before the next grand jury drawn for said county, there to testify upon oath what he may know touching the existence, establishment and whereabouts of said distillery or persons who have sold intoxicating liquors contrary to law, and shall give the names and personal description of the keepers thereof, and such evidence when so obtained, shall be considered and held in law as an information on oath upon which the grand jury shall make presentment, as provided by law, in other cases."

COTTON ITEMS.
The break in the dam at Hope Mills No. 2 has been repaired, so that buxies and wagons can pass over. The water in the weave room is about one foot deep this morning (Aug. 29). Rockfish, below the dam, seems to be falling quite slowly on account of the back water from the river. The loss sustained by the Hope Mills Manufacturing Company at mill no. 2 cannot be properly estimated. We suppose that it will go into the thousands, besides a large number of laborers will be thrown out of employment for some time. Business is at a standstill here now.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.

THE KHOURY CASE NOW ON TRIAL.

Herbert Simpson Gets Five Years—Several Other Defendants Convicted and Sentenced.

Judge Peebles sentenced Herbert Simpson to five years on the roads yesterday afternoon, the jury having found him guilty of carnally knowing an innocent girl under the age of fourteen years. While she was asleep at her grandmother's, where he boarded, the prisoner took advantage of Melissa Taylor, a 13-year-old orphan negro girl, placing his hand over her mouth when she awoke to prevent her crying out and threatening to use his pistol if she ever told of the crime.

J. Sprunt Newton, Esq., his counsel, put up a stiff fight, but the physician's evidence was too much to overcome.

The case of Solomon Khoury, charged with burglary in the second degree, and forgery, is now on trial. Khoury's counsel are trying to establish his insanity.

When court adjourned for dinner, Q. K. Nimocks, Esq., who appears with Mayor Bullard for Solomon Khoury, had finished the direct examination of Dr. Jennings, a physician of Bishopville, S. C., who said in answer to a hypothetical question containing the principal points of all the evidence, that in his opinion the prisoner did not know it was wrong to break in the store of his relative and steal.

The burglary charge against Khoury was taken up and the prosecution showed that after he had sent his uncle, Joseph and Jacob Zahran, to Camden, S. C., by means of a bogus telegram stating that their sister, Solomon's mother, was hurt and about to die, he was sent to leave Joseph's store on Lumberton Road about day break the next morning, and about nine o'clock at the National Bank, when he secured currency for 450 pennies, which Joseph found on his return the next day were missing from his store, along with old pass book, cancelled checks, and other articles. Solomon had the book and checks with him at the bank. At the store a window had been broken, a door lock removed and the money drawer rifled. Other circumstances were also shown tending to connect the prisoner with the commission of the crime.

When the State rested its case, the defense introduced and read in evidence the deposition of a South Carolina physician, who testified that defendant was an imbecile of unsound mind, and that he had treated him for various diseases and a wound in the head. Dr. Jennings had treated him for indigestion also.

Assisting the solicitor in the prosecution are Messrs. H. L. Cook and C. G. Rose.

The following is the jury in the Khoury case: John N. Phillips, W. S. Nunney, W. D. Smith, J. D. Pope, W. J. Robinson, J. J. Beard, H. R. Wade, J. W. Hardison, J. F. Lee, J. B. Fisher, L. B. Vinson, Bunch Newton.

The following cases in addition to those already recorded in the Observer have been disposed of:

Hector Porter, carrying a concealed weapon, fined $20 and costs.

Wm. Robinson, larceny, judgment suspended on payment of costs and good behavior.

A. K. Khoury, assault with a deadly weapon, plead guilty, and judgment suspended on payment of the costs and good behavior. This case was the outcome of the celebrated Syrian battle which occurred in the Magistrate's court, during the preliminary trial of Solomon Khoury.

Fred Andrews, larceny, verdict guilty, and sentenced to 12 months on the roads.

Henry Alexander, resisting an officer, found guilty and sentenced to 12 months on the roads.

Mary Helen Peterson, larceny, plead guilty and sentenced to 12 months, with leave to hire out.

Simeon McCormick, assault with a deadly weapon, plead guilty and judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Richard Colvin, larceny, guilty and sentenced to six months on the roads.

Thos Smith, assault and battery, defendant plead guilty and judgment suspend on payment of costs.

Khoury Gets Fifteen Years.
The jury returned a verdict late yesterday afternoon that Solomon K. Khoury was guilty of burglary in the second degree. The court deferred judgment until this morning, when he was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. The statute provides for punishment from any number of years to like imprisonment in the discretion of the judge.

This was one of the most interesting cases heard here in years. The issue was insanity and the jury found the defendant to be sane, and conviction followed as a matter of course, the facts of the burglary and flight were not contradicted. There is still a charge of burglary against Khoury.

WHIT MONROE ON TRIAL.
The trial of Whit Monroe, charged with the murder of Frank Walker in Raeford, began yesterday afternoon. The following jury was selected from the 50 special venire summoned by the Sheriff:

Joshua Jackson, G. B. Sessoms, D. J. Howell, H. M. Hales, J. R. McIntyre, J. C. Horne, J. T. Allen, J. B. Fisher, D. J. Humphrey, Jno. N. Phillips, F. C. Yarbrough, L. L. Pate.

The examination of witnesses is being conducted this afternoon.

Whit Monroe Gets Twenty Years in Penitentiary.
The Grand Jury filed into court at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and through their Foreman, Mr. James M. Lamb, stated that they had finished all business before them. They were thereupon discharged.

Under the sections of the law, giving the Grand Jury power to examine witnesses supposed to have knowledge of whisky selling and gambling, ten or twelve of those whom the subpoena servers were able to find, were examined yesterday, but as their testimony revealed nothing, no indictments were found. In connection with the above section, which we have already published, we are requested to publish the following in justice to the Solicitor:

Officer failing to discharge duty removed from office. If any officer mentioned in sections three thousand five hundred and thirty-three and three thousand five hundred and thirty-four shall fail or refuse to use due diligence in the execution of the provisions of such sections, after being informed of violation thereof, he shall be guilty of laches in office and such failure be cause for removal therefrom.

The special term, which has been held by Judge Peebles, will adjourn this afternoon. Next week the regular term of the Superior Court, for the trial of criminal cases, will convene with Judge Biggs presiding.

The trial of Whit Monroe, charged with the murder of Frank Walker near Raeford, which has occupied the attention of the Superior Court since late Thursday afternoon, came to a close at noon today. At the conclusion of all the testimony, counsel for the defendant tendered a plea of murder in the second degree, which was accepted by the State, and after a plea to the mercy of the Court by his counsel, the defendant was given 20 years in the State penitentiary by Judge Peebles, who is presiding.

The evidence developed on the trial tendered to show that Monroe shot Frank Walker three times at the house of Bert Nicholson, on the night of March 28th last, from the effects of which Walker died two weeks later. Both were rivals for the woman's favor, and she seemed to prefer Walker. They were both at her house the night of the trouble, which began over an orange, and the closing of the door, which Frank wanted opened, and Bert wanted shut, Monroe siding with the woman. There was a conflict of evidence as to the details of the tragedy, there being no eye witnesses save Monroe and the woman.

The defense contended that the shooting was in self-defense, Walker advancing upon Monroe with an open razor, while the State contended that Walker did not open the razor, and kept it in his pocket, and in fact made no attack upon the defendant. There was evidence of murderous threats made by the defendant against the deceased, and it also appeared that the two were seemingly on friendly terms on the night of the shooting and at other times when they had visited the Nicholson woman together.

A woman—two lovers, a razor, a pistol, a dead negro, and 20 years at hard labor for the slayer—the usual result of such a deadly combination.

All the parties to the affair were negroes.

The Solicitor prosecuted for the State, while the defendant was represented by Chas. G. Rose, Esq., and Q. K. Nimocks, Esq.

SUPERIOR COURT CONVENES.
Judge Biggs Failed to Reach Here To-Day.

Sheriff Watson convened the August term of the Superior Court, for the trial of criminal cases this morning, but, as Judge Crawford Biggs failed to appear, he adjourned court for a recess.

Clerk of the Court, Maj. A. A. McKethan, received a telegram from Judge Biggs this morning, stating that he was at Selma yesterday ready to come to Fayetteville, but was unable to reach here from that point, as no trains were running, so he returned to Raleigh, and will reach Fayetteville this (Monday) afternoon. Court will, therefore, not open for business until to-morrow.

Whether there will be any necessity for another Grand Jury, has not yet been determined, as the Grand Jury drawn for the special term held last week, pretty thoroughly covered all the cases left over for this term. So if a Grand Jury is found to be unnecessary Fayetteville will witness the spectacle of a regular term of the court convening and being held without a Grand Jury.

All the more important cases were disposed of last week, but there are a great number of cases of minor importance to be tried.

ECHOES OF THE FLOOD.
Things Assuming Normal Conditions.

Business has resumed its normal conditions in this city and section, and those whose homes were flooded in this city are getting their things in order, and the majority who were forced to leave their homes, are now back in them. The farmers of the flooded district, outside of Fayetteville, are getting together the remnants of their scattered stock, fences, cord wood, etc., and taking inventory of the damage done their crops.

Wilmington has opened up subscriptions for the flood sufferers of North Carolina.

The Wilmington Dispatch of yesterday afternoon says:

"The entire community deeply sympathizes with the people of Cumberland county and other stricken sections of North Carolina, while, of course, their thoughts also tenderly go out to the people of the rest of our Southland who have felt so sorely the cold hand of disaster. Our sympathy was well and timely expressed in the telegram sent Saturday by Mayor Springer, of Wilmington, to Mayor Bullard, of Fayetteville.

"The people of Fayetteville are admirably taking care of the sufferers within their midst and such is also being done at other points, but there will still, no doubt, be left much to be done; much that limited means cannot do. Hence, our people should help in every way possible, to relieve this unfortunate, deplorable situation. Send in your contribution to the chamber of Commerce—brother to brother."

ADVERTISING FAYETTEVILLE.
Article for "Encyclopedia Britannica."

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce was recently requested to examine, correct, amend and return an article of Fayetteville, N. C., prepared for a new edition of the "Encyclopedia Britannica."

Both time and space being limited, the following was sent forward by the Secretary to appear in this celebrated publication:

FAYETTEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA.
County Seat of Cumberland.

This historic Southern city, which antedates the Revolution, was at one time one of the alternate seats of the State Government. The Constitution of the United States was ratified in Fayetteville, N. C., in the year 1789. Fayetteville is at the head of navigation on the Cape Fear River. Several steam boats ply regularly between Fayetteville and Wilmington, N. C., carrying many passengers and large freights.

Fayetteville, N. C., is on the direct line of travel between the North and Florida, Cuba and West India, via A. C. Line, being just midway between Jacksonville, Fla., and New York City.

A new railroad, the Raleigh and Southport, has been completed from Raleigh to Fayetteville on the way to the sea at Southport below Wilmington. This latter city being already connected by rail with Fayetteville on the Atlantic & Yadkin system. Fayetteville being a water rate competing port, enjoys exceptional freight rates. Twenty-four mail and passenger trains arrive and depart daily in Fayetteville. These with lines of steamboats afford excellent transportation mail and passenger facilities.

The United States government has adopted a scheme for the canalization of the Cape Fear River between Fayetteville and Wilmington, which will cost over one million dollars to complete, and give eight feet or more depth of water at Fayetteville and several other varied industries are in successful operation, several of these being run by electric power, obtained from a gigantic plant on the Upper Cape Fear River. The climate of Cumberland is healthful. The land is adapted to cotton, tobacco and trucking. Trucking being exceptionally profitable. Seed cars are loaded here during the season with lettuce, melons and berries; and freight facilities are so prompt that vegetables and fruits gathered one day are on the market of Washington, Baltimore and other Northern cities the next.

Fayetteville's population at the last census was only reported as 5,000, local estimates recently made place the present population at over double this number.

The place is rich in historic associations. It was the home of Flora McDonald, Gen. LaFayette visited the place, and in his honor the name was changed to Fayetteville.

At Liberty Point in the heart of the city, a Declaration of Independence of Great Britain was promulgated June, 1775.

The splendid United States Arsenal, located in Fayetteville, was destroyed by Gen. Sherman at the close of the war of 1861-5.

Fayetteville has the State Normal School for colored people.

The old historic place has taken on a new lease of life within a few years past, and the city now owns the electric light system, splendid waterworks, and is at present engaged in laying sanitary sewerage, sidewalks and up-to-date pavements.

Cumberland, the county, was named after an English Lord. The soil is splendidly adapted to grape culture, many specimens are indigenous. The celebrated Tokay Vineyard is near Fayetteville.

MEETING HELD FOR RELIEF OF FLOOD SUFFERERS.
Committee Appointed and Money Will Be Raised At Once.

A largely attended meeting was held in the City Hall at noon, in response to the following call:

Whereas a portion of the city of Fayetteville, and also vast territories throughout Cumberland County, are covered with water and thousands of people are forced to leave their homes and seek refuge with others, and suffering is likely to result; and

Whereas, the undersigned believe that those who are bereaved with comfort and safety will contribute liberally to the needs of the suffering;

Therefore, the undersigned in behalf of the City of Fayetteville, and in behalf of Cumberland County, respectively, do hereby request all persons who are desirous of aiding in raising a relief fund for the suffering and appointing committees to direct the disbursement of the same, to meet at the City Hall at Police Headquarters in the City of Fayetteville, at 12 o'clock noon to-day.

This August 28th, 1908.
V. C. BULLARD,
Mayor City of Fayetteville.

H. LUTTERLOH,
Chairman Board of Commissioners of Cumberland County.

Upon motion Mayor Bullard was called to the chair and Mr. Frank Stedman requested to act as secretary.

Mayor Bullard thereupon read the above call, and declared the meeting open.

A committee of eleven was appointed, the chairman of the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor of Fayetteville to be included in the list.

A motion was carried requesting the chairmen of their respective bodies to call a meeting of the Board of Aldermen and the County Commissioners as soon as possible for the purpose of contributing to the relief of the sufferers. The following committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions and take such measures to immediately relieve the sufferers: H. Lutterloh, L. W. Hughes, H. R. Horne, J. G. Shaw, E. E. Gorham, John Anderson, J. D. McNeill, J. F. L. Armfield, L. A. Williamson, C. J. Cooper and V. C. Bullard.

After an appropriate prayer by Rev. I. W. Hughes, the meeting adjourned.

The Central Committee met and appointed Rev. I. W. Hughes chairman, Messrs. E. E. Gorham, Jno. H. Anderson and C. J. Cooper were appointed as a Finance Committee and Messrs. J. D. McNeill, H. Lutterloh, Jno. G. Shaw and H. R. Horne as a Relief Committee. The Relief Committee, J. D. McNeill chairman, appointed all the ministers of the city as a sub-committee, to report upon all cases of distress, with recommendations, and the following gentlemen from the several flooded townships as sub-committees for their sections, with similar powers as above:

For Carver's Creek—Messrs. Jno. C. Adams and John Elliot.
For Flea Hill—Adam McArthur, Josiah Cook, W. G. Holmes, D. J. Broeze, W. H. Downing and Noel Galney.

For Cedar Creek—W. C. Fields, T. J. Haywood, H. B. Downing, Ras Hall, For Beaver Dam—D. C. Bryant, Emmett Jessup.

For Gray's Creek—W. H. Graham, Bailey Evans.

For Rockfish—R. D. Carver.
The ministers in the last named townships are requested to report all cases of distress to the sub-committee.

THE FRESHET AT GARLAND.
Garland, N. C., Aug. 28, 1908.—The freshet in South River exceeds by four inches any that has ever swelled the river before. Back water from the river for more than a mile covers fields and railroads.

At the Creechcoke Lumber mill much damage is being wrought. Many houses situated on the banks of the river are flooded with water, and several families have had to take refuge on higher ground. It is thought that the water reached its limit yesterday afternoon. The river is falling a little this morning, and it is hoped that it will not take another rise.

RELIEF COMMITTEE HEAD-QUARTERS.
The Relief Fund Committee have opened headquarters at 105 Green street, Highsmith Building, where all claims for relief from the flood will be given attention. The committee desires it understood that only those in ACTUAL NEED and ARE IN DISTRESS can be helped. The pastors of the several churches of both races have been authorized to give orders for immediate relief to all needy applicants.

JAS. D. McNEILL,
Chairman.

A GOOD MAN SUGGESTED FOR TREASURER.

To the Editor of the Observer: Please give me space in your paper for a few words as a voter and a Democrat: I wish to suggest the name of Oliver Evans, an old Democratic soldier, who has been a worker for the good old party for many years, as the people know. A better man cannot be found in the county for County Treasurer. Now, brother Democrats and elect Mr. Evans. He does not seek the office, and I don't think we ought to elect a man who is always hunting for a better man than the office hunts.
