Mr. Editor: Having received man re and petitions for and many more cainst the proposed Stock Law for fully considered the matter and advisand to it, I have decided to oppose the passage of the Currie bill in the Senate, with due respect for the views of those who have expressed them es in favor of the bill, as many Law was not an issue in the campaign and many good citizens seem to think it would be taking undue advantage of the situation and of a large element of the people to force a Stock Law upon the county by legislative enact ment. Personally, I favor a stock law for State and county, but as a public servant, feel that my personal views should be subordinated to what seems to be the prevailing public sentiment on this subject. If I misjudge that nt in our county, as -possibly I may, then the advocates of a count Stock Law can secure an election on the question at any time desired, upon a petition of one-fifth of the qualified voters of the county, and under the general law (Revised sec. 1672, etc.) the County Commissioners are required to submit the question to the people, without delay.

Will you kindly publish this, as a reply to the many who have written me or sent petitions on the subject. Q. K. NIMOCKS.

The hall was filled with the town's most cultured and best, and Maj. Hale had indeed a most appreciative and expressive audience.

The speaker was introduced most fittingly by Mr. H. McD. Robinson, who spoke of the Civic organization—of the work accomplished, and the many improvements of the city due to its influence.

Prom start to finish Maj. Hale held his audience as by magic—told of his audience as by magic—told of Payetteville in the days of the fathers, of its rise and influence which held nway over an immense area of territry, and of the three factors which led to her decline—loss of prestige by the change of the seat of government, of its architectural beauty by the fire went in and I showed him the bureau, of 1831, and of its loss of capital by the war between the States. When the apeaker described the magnificence of the gardens of the past, the audience felt as if they wandered with him in Cold World's gardens of forgotten days.

That the evening was one of rare pleasure, and that Maj. Hale captivate.

1 notice a cilpping in The Charlottobserver from your paper relative he finding of the remains of a Fede a soldier unearthed in the vicinity is solder unearthed in the vicinity of the Holt-Morgan Mills and concerning which Mr. Walter Watson relates accurate history of how and by whom the solder was shot. It is a very interesting item. I was a boy exactly a years old at the time and remember the state of the solder was a boy exactly a years old at the time and remember. were so indelibly impressed on emory that they have abided to ay of the "Silver Threads Among old." I was standing on the lit-(P. W. Powers) residence on Winslow street immediately next to a little boot and shoe shop run by Jim Common, colored, when that street and all of Hay, at the intersection of Winslow were filled with soldiers. It was great sight to me and during this time the soldier referred to by Mr. Watson was killed. It seems to me that his body was laid for awhile on doors from my grandfather's. Anypeople talking about the bloc of the Yankee soldier on the floor, and that the stain could not all little supersticious about it. I really did not realize I was getting so old until the reading of this matter oc-curing 44 years ago this April. At the time of this history my home was on Haymount in the Avon Hall houss, then owned by my father, Mr. W. C. Troy, and subsequently sold by him to Mrs. Susan Evans Hall. Few days before the coming of the army, my mother instructed me to go to Dr. Hinsdale's and ask Miss Linne Holmes "the news." I went in a hurry and saw Miss Linzie getting out of a big carriage immediately in front Doctor's gate. She was sur rounded by a crowd, but any way, 1 pushed in, (entirely characteristic), and said: "Miss Lizzie, Ma wants to know what's the news?" She replied: "General Lee has surrendered." know that is what she said, althou I had no idea of the real import of the answer, for I went home and told my mother that "General Lee was render-ed;" but she understood. Then it became talked that the Yankees were coming to Favetteville and no telling worry me very much. However, when the fact was established that the Arsenal was to be destroyed in some way, the Troys, Myrovers, Fullers, Matto take notice.

father came up and carried us, mother and four children to his home. Pretty soon after reaching his residence we all went under the red warehouse in Yankees. It was funny to me and I guess it was not long before they and myself were calling "the doodle bugs to come and get a lump of sugar."

I thought for a long time that Fayette-ville was the exclusive home of doodle Sugs until John Charles McNeill wrote about them as being in Robeson cour ty. But my mother with a babe in her arms, Etta, decided she had rather be shot than to stay under the old warehouse. It was pretty close quarters the signal was given and we crawled out. The next bomb-proof was the old red brick store next to the Lutterloh corner, where the pump stood that had the corn cob stopper, and was considered the coolest water in the county this side of Greenland's the store long under the stair steps until there was a volley and bullets The Cough Syrup that ocasionally popped through the door panels and my mother said "Oh my Lord!" or something like that. She has always been in the habit of calling on Him. Directly there were some bam, bam, bams; and the doors tumbled and the Yankees entered, detrunks and playing the mischief gen-erally. My mother said: "Gentlemen, are you going to attack us?" I can never forget that. She was very hum-ble. But her sister, who subsequently became Mrs. E. L. Hunter, said: "Sis ter, be ashamed of yourself, calling those Yankees gentlemen." About that time I took my brother Will by the hand and decamped out the back door going down Maiden Lane to Uncle Jno's. God rest him and his

Th deer here are fast disappearing as the neighborhood is being thickly settled. But there are a great many here yet and there have been several killed here this season.

In the swamps of Yellow river you can find cat squirrels and ducks to shoot until you are tired of killing them, and when you are tired of hunting you can catch all the fish you want of almost any kind. Fish bite almost the entire year here in Yellow river.

Now if any of the old Cumberlan ishermen and hunters doubt my state nent, and will come to Halt, I will take pleasure in going with them down to Log Lake on Garner's landing where they can find out for then selves.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

if you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trified with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness well. Just as simple as A. B. C.

taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated ronantion, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, duliness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it, Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive allments. Pepsia is only
