THE "JIM CROW" DECISION.

case separate accommodations may be provided in public conveyances, if the accommodation be equally good. The colored passenger Chiles travelled from the city of Washington on a through ticket between states to Lexington, Ky. The law of Kentucky required that he be placed in a "Jim Crow" car after passing within the state's confines, and this, also, was in accordance with the railroad company's rules On April 16, 1907, the decision of the circuit court in this case, now confirmed.

the decision of the supreme court in 1875 in the case of Hall versus Decuir, wherein a "Jim Crow" act of Louisana was declared unconstitutional on the ground that it presumed to regulate the conduct of carriers engaged in inter-state commerce. The present decision reveals the influence of the change in public opinion since the reconstruction era; it justifies both he law and compliance with it by the carrier, and permits the rest of the Southern states to amend their "Jim Crow" laws after the example of Ken-

The Southern legislature, thwarted during the first years following the civil war in their efforts to separate negroes from whites in public convey ances, have gradually passed laws to effect in every state save Mis ouri, and the courts have sustained incorporating the principle in its constitution by the threat of President But Oklahoma now has ts "Jim Crow" statute. On the other hand, the courts of the South are careful to require that the accomm dations afforded the negro citizens shall be equal, though not identical, and the harsher penalties have taken from the original enactments. It is idmitted, even, that "Jim Crow" is act an opprobrious epithet since its song and negro dance of that name which Thomas D. Rice, the first negro

THE FATHER OF THE AUTOMO BILE.

Baltimore Evening Sun.] Who invented the pneumatic tire, that ingenious device for easing the bones and empting the purses of automobilists? The question has bobbed up in Edinburgh, where grateful populace proposes to erect a monument to the inventor. Most of the big British tire factories are in Edinburgh or its vicieity and the folk there have derived large from the industry. But it is plain that they cannot prove their gratitude to their benefactor until they letermine his name. At the moment they vacillate between two claimants or candidates, the one being a dea otchman, named R. W. Th and the other being an Irishman much alive. Thomson devised an air-filled tire nearly 70 years ago, long before the bicycle and the automobile were in-rented. It was a very crude contrivance—a mere hoop of rubber, with a bole through the centre-and no one save Thomson himself seems to have taken it seriously, for it never came into use. So late as 1883, 40 years bicycles were still fitted with solid rubber tires. Riding those unsightly so-called cushion tire brought no re-

her. It was merely a thick rubber cyli der stuffed with hard fibre. matic tire to perfection, revolution ized cycling and laid the foundations of automobiling. There is good reason to believe that Dunlop had never heard of Thomson's tire when he began work. He was a veterinary surgeon, practicing in Belfast, and one of his children had an old-fashjoned fore the poison can take effect.

Persons suffering from dyspepsia symptoms, with any soreness about the mouth and especially if they have any gruntion on the hands or face and the station of the section of the solid rubber tires. The business of riding cans bicycle over the atroclous frish roads reduced the child to a skelton, and Duniop set about devising some means of saving to the world. It was Dunlop who really made the modern automobile possible. Had he not given it a soft tread it would have remained a mere lumbering freighter. Therefore, a good many of the people of Edinburgh think that their proposed monument should bear his name—but, meanwhile, another party, equally confident and enthusiastic, argues for Thomson.

WHY TIBET'S CAPITAL IS CUT OFF FROM WORLD.

The reason why Lhassa, capital of Tibet, and probably the strangest city in the world, has been so completely cut off from the rest of the world is cut off from the rest of the world is really simple exongh. The Chinese, who conquered the whole country between the years 1300 and 1720, have inculcated among the Tibetans their own dislike of "the foreign devil." The Chinese had a selfish object in view They wanted to keep all the Tibetan trade to themselves. Some years ago there was war between Tibet and Nepal. Tibet beat Nepal, and one of the conditions of yeace was that the trade conditions of peace was that the trade-coutes from India should be closed. How well the closing of these routes has benefitted the Chinese may be pathered from the fact that Chinese tea of very worst quality—mere sticks most of it—sells in Linesa for 3s. a pound.

ny's rules. On April 16, 1907, the decision of the circuit court in this case, now confirmed, declared that a railroad company may, independently of a state law, adopt and enforce rules requiring colored persons, although they are inter-state passengers, to occupy separate coaches.

This opinion practically reverses the decision of the supreme court in 1875 in the case of Hall versus Decuir, ed upon as a worse criminal than the thief himself. Ordeals by fire and by bolling water are still used as proc of guilt, exastly as was the custom in Europe in the Middle ages. And if the Lamas never inflict death
