For the Observer AUTUMN'S SYLVAN FAIRY.

There came to earth one chilly night A litue fairy elf, While all the flowers were sleeping, And slily helped himself.

He gathered all their lovely tints Of crimson, bronze, and gold, And packed them in his fairy wand-Just all that it would hold

Then, smiling at the trick he'd played With cruel, heartless mirth-On little winglets soft and white, He floated o'er the earth.

But soon repenting of his joke He waved his fairy wand, And scattered all his lovely tints In showers o'er the land.

Whirling, twirling, down they came, Fluttering thro' the breeze, And in the morn when we awoke We found them on the trees. -F. N. T.

HAS ANY COUNTY DONE SO WELL AS CUMBERLAND?

The Raleigh News and Observer

"In the matter of increase in its Democratic majority, did any county make a better showing than Wake? In 1909 Wake's majority was 1,566. In 1910 it was 2.164, an increase of 598. That is a fine showing, isn't it?"

The increase in Wake, it appears, was 38 per cent.; but the increase in Cumberland this year over the last election 1900, is 117 per cent., the majority in 1908 being 435, and in 1910

Has any county made such a large increase in its Democratic majority as Cumberland?

AN OLD JOKE REVIVED.

Correspondence of the Observer.]

Mr. Editor

In yesterday's paper is a local, mentioning the fact of the President passing through Fayettevide, and adding: "How will Mr. Taft feel when passing through Fayetteville," reminds me of the time when a legislative committee went to Washington to urge the appointment of Mr. Jarvis for a cabinet position. After listening to the committee's recommendations, old Grover asked them: "Who in the d-l is this Jarvis, anyhow?" I suppose you can make out the applica-A READER. Red Springs, N. and well known in Fayetteville. "One of the most beautiful and elaborate church weddings ever celebrated in Sanford was that of Miss Lessie Jones, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

John R. Jones, of this place, and Rev. A. W. Shaw, of Pittsboro, which occurred in the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Long before the hour for the ceremony the church was filled to overflowing with the friends and relatives of the young couple. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. the color scheme being white and green. The pulpit was banked with evergreens and chrysanthemums.

"The bride, a charming picture of loveliness, entered by the centre aisle with her father, Mr. J. R. Jones, by whom she was given away. Her gown was an exquisite creation of white satin with pearl trimmings. The veil was caught up with a pearl and diamond brooch, the gift of the groom she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley.
