The Pontiff is mentally depressed because he was not permitted to greet a party of American pilgrims with Bishop Joseph Schrembs, Toledo, Ohio, and seemed to lose some of the strength he has gained in the past four days. He rested quietly during the night.

President Appeals Against the Alien Land Law.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 22.—President Wilson, after a conference with the California Representatives today, sent a message to Gov. He asks the State not to do anything to impair the friendly relations with Japan and the treaty obligations of the government. He suggests a bill along the lines followed by other States.

Interesting Tariff Report.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 22.—That the American manufacturers, spurred on by a competitive tariff to greater activity to control the home market, will increase an efficiency that will make new trade conquests abroad, is the prediction of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, who framed the Underwood tariff bill. The report, signed by fourteen Democratic members of the committee, was presented to the House today. The estimate for the first fiscal year is that the receipts will be less than the disbursements by $68,790,000, and to meet this the income tax as framed, it is estimated, will produce a revenue of $70,125,000. The committee estimates the customs revenues under the Underwood bill at $37,896,000 less than those of the Payne law. The average duty under the Payne law was 40 to 100 per cent., against an estimated average by the Underwood bill of 29 to 60-100 per cent. The report calls attention to the increased cost of living since the Dingley tariff and development of the trusts. "The protective system of the last decade is blamed for these conditions, and constitutes one of the strongest arguments in favor of rectifying conditions complained of, by applying the impetus of moderate competition."

Investigating Charges Against Banker Glover.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 22.—The House Committee today began a hearing of the charges against Charles C. Glover, who attacked Representative Sims about a speech Sims made in the House of Representatives. Johnson, of Kentucky, testified that Glover told him last February that he would challenge Sims to a duel if there was no law against duelling. He recalled one blow struck by Glover, as an eye witness, and newspaper men, who interviewed Glover, also testified.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 22.—Representative Gallagher, of Illinois, today introduced a resolution in the House for a special committee of seven to investigate the alleged baseball trust. By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 23.—President Wilson today telegraphed to Gov. Johnson and the legislature of California to inquire whether it would be agreeable to have Secretary of State Bryan visit Sacramento to co-operate with the California authorities in framing an alien land bill which will not offend the Japanese or violate any treaties. The message reads in part: "I venture to inquire whether it is agreeable to you and your Legislature to have the Secretary of State visit Sacramento for the purpose of counseling with you and the members of the Legislature and co-operating with you in framing a law which will meet with the views of the State and yet leave untouched the international obligations of the United States."

Underwood Opens Debate on Tariff Bill.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 23.—Leader Underwood today opened the debate on the tariff in the House with a comprehensive statement of the details of the new measure and an analysis of its effect upon the industries of the country. He declared that the time had come to remove protection from the profits and put American business on a competitive basis. "The Senate Finance Committee had 'conferences' with the senators opposing free sugar and wool. Underwood declared that the fifty per cent increase in the cost of living since 1897, which was largely due to the tariff, will not show immediate reduction, but not until the merchants have been forced to reduce prices."

Peace Treaties.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 23.—A plan of arbitration treaties for universal peace was presented to the committee of foreign relations by Secretary of State Bryan today. The committee favors the plan of Bryan's aid.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 23.—Japan will not declare war on the United States, even though California should pass the alien land law, aimed exclusively at the Japanese. The better element of Japan is working with might and main to quiet the revolutionary talk of the lower classes." This is a statement of Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador.

The dead man is supposed to be a mill operative who was stopped by strikers on his way to work, but the strike leaders say he was a striker, and was killed by a policeman. Later.—The victim was later identified as a strike picket, who was killed during a battle with the police at Draper Mills.

Progressive Leader Attacks Democratic Tariff Bill.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 24.—Indorsing the income tax in principle and promising support to a reduction of the tariff where the rates are indefensible, but in the main criticizing the Underwood tariff bill as badly prepared and dangerous to American industry, Representative Victor Murdock today filed a minority report in the House in behalf of the Progressives. Murdock says that the Democratic bill, while "promising to cheapen food and clothing for the working man, may take away from him the very means from which he can earn his livelihood." He points out that the bill "will be injurious to many industries, and may be death to some."

Awful Mine Disaster in Pennsylvania.

By telegraph to Observer. Finleyville, Pa., April 24.—It is estimated that 125 are dead and missing as the result of an explosion in the Cincinnati mine of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company. Coroner Heffman, of Washington County, is investigating the report that the company's efforts are to minimize this disaster resulting in the loss of at least 100 lives. It is declared that the officials declined proffered federal aid until late in the afternoon, and that the government experts did not reach the scene until 6:35. Many persons asserted today that some of the men might have been saved if the experts had been on hand earlier. Rescuers coming from the mine this morning have abandoned the hope of finding any alive. The theory is that gas from an abandoned mine adjoining the Cincinnati caused the explosion. The company's statement shows that 35 bodies have been recovered and that 85 are still in the mine.

negotiations. This was objected to by Senators who said it would tie the hands of nations in dispute against a third country.

Defense of the Tariff Bill.

By telegraph to Observer. Washington, April 24.—Representative Hammond, of Minnesota, in defending the Ways and Means tariff bill in the House, said that the time for a change of policy and taxation had come. The action of the committee to put a duty on wheat and the free listing of flour was justified, he said, because American millers export $50,000,000 worth of flour a year, and don't need protection, whereas wheat was a good revenue producer. Peters, of Massachusetts, made a general defense of the bill.

Palmer, of Pennsylvania, Democrat, declared that the Democratic party pledged no revision to injure legitimate industries; but, he said, there must be a readjustment of business. Palmer was questioned by Republicans at the close of his speech. They wanted to know if placing serro manganese on the dutiable list did not aid the steel trust, as the trust controls the supply. "You have to place the tax somewhere," Palmer replied.

Moore, of Pennsylvania, has found a new method to deliver a tariff speech. He conducted a tariff "catechism" by having the House clerk to read questions, which he prepared in advance, and then answered himself. Mr. Moore said the Payne bill was passed because the Democrats "continually misrepresented the tariff questions." He insisted that the bill revised the tariff downward, and equalized duties. The people defeated the Republicans, Moore said, because they "listened to ambitious political agitators and theoretical college professors."
