SAMPSON FAIR .- We are glad to learn that the Sampson Fair was very successful. The exhibition was fine in all respects, and the live stock, any other exhibition throughout the State. Sampson county can boast of some of the best farmers in North Carolina, and their agricultural products

LOCK'S CREEK CANAL CO .- A meeting of the President and Directors of the Lock's Creek Canal Co, was held, on Tuesday. The contractor, Col. T. W. Devane, is pushing on the work, and the enterprise is progressing rapidly.

THE BENGER FAMILY .- This well-known troupe gave two performances here last week, playing, on both occasions, to large and delighted aut i nees.

The Bell ringing was creditable, though we have seen and heard it executed with more skill and precision by other performers.

Miss Anna Berger's cornet solo was inimitable and she was rewarded by the hearty and long continued applause of her hearers. But she carried the house with her in a faror of excited admiration, on the last evening, when she came upon the stage in her role of character songs.

Miss Ettie Berger's performance in the crystal bells and staff bell-ringing was beautiful and artistic, which, combined with her lovely face and beautiful figure, insured her an enthusiastic reception whenever she made her appearance.

olos showed themselves masters of their art and their instruments; and altogether, the Berger Family offer a delightful musical entertainment.

with the Tremaines, is the central figure in the picture; without him, it is "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out. As a caricaturist, he is facile, quick and skilful; as a mimic his powers are ready remarkable; and he performs every character which he assumes with an ease, a readiness, and, withal, lack of mannerism, which is very captivating. In his wonderful faculty of facial transformation, he is very little inferior to Barton Comparing Russel and Pierson, we would say that the former is the better actor; the latter decidedly the greater hum orist. Russell lacks Pierson's orginality; Pierson is wanting in Russell's unusual power of sinking his own individuality in a strange character.

announce, in another column, the death of a well-known and esteemed citizen of Fayetteville, Mr. Jas. M. Williams, who expired at his residence. on Saturday night, after a sudden illness of only an hour or two. Mr. Williams' health has, however, been delicate for some short time. He was netively engaged in business in this town for many years previous to the war, and was partner in the Turpentine at 41½ cents. Rosin firm, from of Starr & Williams, which firm built the splendid iron front store on Hay St., now owned and occupied by the large wholesale and retail house of E. J. Lilly & Co. Mr. Williams leaves a large family in bereavement, to whom we tender our cordial sympathy.

PREMIUM SHIRTS.-Messrs, McRae & Dain recticld have received the set of fine shirts, offered y them as a special premium at the fair, and warded to Mr. E. H. Evans.

The measure was taken by Messrs, McRae & Daingerfield, the order sent on, and they now to present to Mr. Evans.

PUBLIC NOTICE.-It is said that on all the farms lying around the different stations on the W. R. R., there is conspicuously posted the notice-'PLEASE DON'T SHOOT THE COWS"-a gentle warning to amateur sportsmen and bird-hunters from Favetteville-and other places.

WILMINGTON FAIR.—Our town and county were well represented at the Fair of the Cape Fear Agicultural Society. Messrs. McKethan, Overby. Watson, Underwood, and Misses Alice and Fannie Emmitt, Alderman, Harrington, and Mrs. Evans of the county, are mentioned as prominent exhibthe articles spoken of; but we were at the State

Fair, and of all the selected Northern and homemade work, we saw nothing comparable to the mercies, excringes, &c., of A. A. McKethan & ones, which they exhibited at our fair, and which | Corton, hey are turning out all the time. We examined, too, work exhibited here by Mr.

Welsh-carts, wagons, &c .. - which, for finish, excellence and durability, cannot be surpassed at any factory North or South. Such men and such they merit and will receive ever-increasing en couragement and patronage.

BETTER TIMES .- Our town looked bright and stirring yesterday and the day before. The streets were full of carts, wagons, cotton and people, and as high as 144 cents, ranging, according to quality, from 134 up to the first named figures. Come on, friends, with your cotton and other produce .-Times are hard, but we have the money to buy, and any quantity of goods, which can be bought heaper than any where else in the State. Try it, SECOND HONOR.-Mr. R. S. Williams, of Fayetteville, won the second prize of a handsome sad dle at the tournament in Wilmington last week, with the privilege of naming the 1st Maid of Honor. He selected Miss Eilers, of Wilmington.
