North Carolina Gazette.

Published by J. H. & G. G. Myrover, Corner Anderson and Old Streets, Fayetteville, N. C.

VOL. 4---NO. 6.]

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1876.

North Carolina Gazette.

J. H. & G. G. MYROVER, Publishers. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

10 copies (sent to one address) with an extra copy $22 50 and a premium of a fine chromo, value $25 90 00 100 copies (sent to one address) with an extra copy and a premium of a fine chromo, value $40 150 00

RATES OF ADVERTISING: One square (9 lines solid nonpareil) one insertion $ 1 00 Longer advertisements charged in proportion to the above rates. Special notices 25 per cent, more than regular advertisements.

Home Circle.

"Home is the Sacred Refuge of Our Life."

THE HORSE DEALER'S STORY

Many years ago, before the era of rail-roads, and when highwaymen abounded along the great route from Calais to Paris, sold for eash, was overtaken by night on his return near Marquise. He remembered that a little distance ahead was a quiet inn he had never stopped at, and he determined to spend the night there.

As he rode up to the house, the land- from the lips of the landlord's wife: lard, a respectable looking person, received his horse and led him away to the stable, while he invited the drover to enter the public sitting-room.

Here he found two young men, one of peared also to belong to the family. Im- mangled form of her brother, and she also mediately after supper, during which the swooned upon the body. off. The drover, having looked after the mardered his own son!

the landlord to show him to his room.

weariness, he soon fell asleep. window near the head of his bed. At the friend escaped. same time he heard suppressed voices with- The accomplice of the landlord proved chair on which he had thrown his clothes, maniae. for his weapons; but, to his dismay, he re- It is only necessary to add, in conclud-had neglected to resume them. of the dim light upon an upraised knife, the ghost of the murdered son. as the man approached the bed with staggering and uncertain steps. But great was his relief when, instead of an attempt at murder, the intruder carelessly shuffled off CEPTION .- Ex-Queen Isabella met with a rest."

ing beneath the pillow.

The old man then put his hand into his in ominous silence.

osom, and the trembling drover saw him draw forth the long blade which the other had given him. For an instant the murderous weapon was poised over his head, and then descended upon the person of the poor wretch in the bed.

As soon as the sound of his footsteps had died in the distance, the horror-stricken drover escaped through the window, and ran with all his speed to Marquise, where, arousing the people of the hotel, he told his fearful story. A crowd soon collected about him, and accompanied him to the scene of the fearful murder.

All about the house was still, but on approaching the stable a light was disthe door, and peering through the cracks, the two murderers were found in the act of digging a grave beneath the flooring. A rush was made upon them, and they were

At the sight of the drover, who was the first to confront the guilty, wretches, the landlord uttered a shrick of terror, and fell to the ground, while his accomplice, as pale as a corpse, gazed upon him with the murdered man who stood before kim. The party now proceeded to the house, bragging the murderers along with them. Lights were procured, and, still keeping the prisoners with them, the people entera noted drover, who had been to Buologne ed the room where lay the body of the with a large drave of horses, which be had man so strangely murdered instead of the horse dealer. The wife and daughter fol-

> When the covering was removed from the face of the corpse, and the full light of the candles flared upon it, a wild cry burst "My son-my murdered son! Who has

And with a hysterical scream she fell to

"No, no! it can't be so, mother!" ex-Whom, from his resemblance to the land- claimed the daughter, as she struggled to lord, he recognized as his son; the other, reach the bed. But the terrible truth somewhat older, from his manners ap- burst upon her as her eyes fell upon the drover stated where he had been, and | The cries of the broken hearted fe, wales what good luck he had met with, the son seemed to arouse the old man for a moment mounted a horse, and, stating that he was and gazing wildly at the sight before him going to Marquise to stay all night, rode he realized also the terrible truth. He had comfort of his horse, soon after requested | On investigating the facts before the magistrate on the following day, it was as-As the traveler slipped off his garments, certained that the son of the innkeeper. he felt for the leathern belt about his waist | who was a dissipated young man, bad vis to see that it was secure. This contained ited Marquise the previous evening, where, his gold, while his paper money was in a with some of his associates, he had been large wallet, carried in a pocket made engaged in drinking and gambling till a for the purpose, in the inside of his vest. late hour; and being too much intoxicated fought at Lodi, Arcola and Rivoli, where Depositing these articles beneath his pil- to re-mount his horse, and ashamed to meet Depositing these articles beneath his pit to re-mount his horse, and asuamed to meet low, he extinguished the light and threw his family, some of his fellow gamblers had Mont Thabor, Aboukir, and other engage over, we took a walk through the town, himself upon the bed, when, overcome by accompanied him home; and supposing the ments. She was then taken prisoner by room in which the drover had been put to · How long he had been in this state of be vacant, they had assisted the drunken Plymouth, but managed to escape, with forgetfulness he could not tell, when he man into the window. It was their voices was aroused to wakefulness by the sound the lodger had heard; and thus it was that out, as of several persons in whispered con- to be his own son-in-law, Henri Legrand. From that awful hour the wretched Startled by this suspicious appearance mother of that murdered boy, murdered of things, the drover reached toward the by his father's hand, remained a raving membered that on his arrival, when pre- ing this tale of horror, that the drover reparing to wash off the dust of his journey, covered his money; and justice claiming he had laid them aside within the bar, and her due, the two murderers paid the penalty of their crime upon the guillotine. Scarcely conscious of what he was do- Shortly after this last event, the people of ing, the defenceless drover slipped from Marquise, to whom the scene of the unthe foot of the bed, and hid himself in the natural murder had become an evesore, asdarkness behind a lot of women's dresses sembled and leveled the building to the suspended from the wall, and watched the ground. The spot is now covered with motions of a man who was now slowly brambles and thistles, and pointed out to and cautiously entering the room. He e- the stranger as the place to be avoided; for ven fancied he could detect the reflection the ignorant assert that it is haunted by | New York correspondence of the Buffalo Commercial his clothes, and, throwing himself upon the cool reception on her recent return to hed he had just vacated, was soon in a Spain, according to the accounts received bas so many beautiful women and what sun rose unclouded on the following morn-by the foreign mails. His Majesty Don club men call "eligible heiresses" as New ing, and after a breakfast served on the Not knowing what to make of this Alfonso, accompanied by the Princess of York; and, as I have written of the rich floor, similar in quality to the one of the strange affair, the drover determined to 'Asturias, arrived at Santander to receive widows and bachelors, some facts and par- evening before, we paid our bill, which dress himself, call up the landlord, and his mother, and when the vessel which ticulars concerning the maidens "rich and amounted to $1.75-this for both of us, have this singular intrusion explained, brought the Queen hove in sight all the fancy free" may be as readable as interest- including our wine. He had reached his clothes, and slipped on church bells were set in motion and the ing. It is not inappropriate to head the his trousers, and was moving toward the guns thundered their official welcome. list with Miss Marcia Roosevelt, although door, when steps were heard cautiously The band played the royal march, and she is an orphan, her father, ex-Judge crossing the outer room. Once more be the King started out to meet his mother, Roosevelt, having died two years ago and sought the shelter of the dresses which amid the enthusiastic acclamations of the her mother last winter in Paris. The completely screened his person, and await-ed the entrance of the persons, who-was densely crowded, and although few stock, and were for many years conspicuever they might be. Presently the vivas were to be heard, it was easy to see one among the elite. Mrs. Roosevelt was door of the room was silently opened, and that the young monarch would be a favor- a Miss Van Ness, and her father was Mintwo men made their appearance. It was ite among the people if the high officials ister to Spain. She was a beautiful and two men made their appearance. It was not so dark but that the drover condicated it as surround him would only let him. The King rode a white charger and the man he had seen at the supper and the man he had seen at the supper table.

ISABELLA MEETS WITH A COOL RE-

"Step lightly, I tell you," whispered the "Step lightly, I tell you," whispered the landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord," or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord," or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord," or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord," or you'll wake him up, and then landlord, "or you'll wake him up, and then landlord," or you'll wake him up, and the entrance of the high officials talented young lady in the totard and the would all young lady in the charger and the thim, the charm of a De Stact. But the think of himself, by putting a few of the bits aside. Every woman has a great forests, but we are happy to chronical the fashionable world. Only a brief period and a great entertainer at the old Roose, and is a queen of the bits aside. Every woman has a great forests, but we are happy to chronical the fashionable world. Only a brief period and the world, and it would be the fashionable world. Only a brief period and a great entertainer at the old Roose, and is a queen of the bits aside. Every young should be to think of himself, by putting a few of the bits aside. Every woman has a centertial transmit the world, and it would be the fashionable world. Only a brief period and a great on the fashionable world. Only a brief period and a great on the think of himself, by putting a few of the bits aside. Every woman has a centertial regard to think of himself, by putting a few of the bits aside. Every woman has a centertial to think of the world, and it would be the fashionable world. Only a brief period and a great on the think of the world, and we'll have a pretty mess on our hands."
"Nonsense!" replied the other, with an oath: "You are scared, old man!"
"Scared!" repeated the first speaker.
"Scared!" repeated the first speak "No man ever told Jean Garnier before ed in the pinnace and landed on the mag- Miss Stevens, daughter of the late Paran Garibaldi holds his own in the love of one of the party had 3 blankets and all ters of fashion. Twice before bad he tas bealth he puts his refusal of the professed that he was scared! Here, give me the knife! I'll show you who is scared! You seemed much affected, and indeed appear-great and white the money—it's under the pillow—I saw him put it there, and I'll do the I saw him put it there is the put in the a dead silence in the crowd, broken now yachting, polo, etc. She spends some of ous cavalcade of carriages, horsemen, and The old man was in advance, and, as he and then only by the shrill vivas of two her winters in Europe and her summers at carts, and thirty-seven societies with their stood between the window and the drover, or three urchins who seemed to have been Newport, where the Steven's cottage is bands and banners. Twenty-seven mayors resolved to study the Armenian language the latter could see his form bent over the bed, while his hand seemed to be searchbed, while his hand seemed to be s royal personages drove to the cathedral, ter, who is completing her musical educa- Garibaldi was on crutches. He addressed "Here, Henri, take it. Here's the wal- where mass was said by the young Bishop tion in Paris, is engaged to Mr. Moses H. the people from the municipal balcony, let, and here's the belt. How heavy of Santander. On coming out of the ca- Grinnell, formerly collector at the port. and afterward renewed acquaintance with it is!" and he passed the money to his thedral one man raised the cry of "Viva Miss Weed, daughter of Thurlow Weed, many old comrades. The soldiers and companion before the other had yet reach- Isabella Segunda!" but not a single voice will one day come into possession of many the people fraternized. Garibaldi hopes

[Paris Correspondence of the London Standard.] A WOMAN WITH A CAREER.

The Remarkable Story of Mary Duchemin.

One of the few surviving veterans of the dered himself famous as a duellist, and boasted of having killed or wounded a score of the "odious foreigners" on the field his absinthe. He lived almost entirely in mourir son Empercur." whose career was indeed a remarkable one. The daughter of an old soldier, and only daughter. a viviandiere, she was from her carliest years the pet of the regiment, and at the age of fifteen married the fencing master affright, not doubting it was the ghost of of the regiment of the Gardes Francaises, who, after taking part in the destruction of the Bastile, was killed in attempting to save the life of a soldier of the Swiss Guard, leaving his young widow with an nfant son. When the revolution broke ont. Marie felt the hereditary military instinct too strong to be resisted, and without hesitation sacrificed the locks so dear to her sex, and, disguised in male attire, was one of the first to enroll her name as a volunteer under the name of Joseph although she was wounded at the seige of Toulon. Two years afterward, when fighting in the war of La Vendee, she was engaged in the battle of Chollet. Here she received two severe wounds, but in spite of the loss of blood her courage sustained her until the close of the day, when she fired the very last shot and then fell exhausted. Then only on dressing her wounds was it discovered by the surgeons that Corporal Dachemin (for she had gained her stripes) was a woman. She became at once the hero, or rather the heroine, of the day, and was personally complimented by the General, who asked permission from the War Minister to keep her name on the muster-roll of the regiment, and Marie remained inscribed as Corporal in the Forty-second Foot. She afterward she captured a flag, at the Pyranids, the English, and sent to the hulks of three of her comrades, by killing the sentinel on duty, and got safely back to Paris. of some person endeavoring to open the the hapless youth met his death and our Five days afterwards she rejoined her regiment, and made her last campaign for she lest her right leg by a cannon bal at Mcrengo. She was then admitted as a pensioner into the Invalides, and it was a proud day for herself and son when they went together in 1857 to the Palace of the Legion of Honor to receive each the St. Helena medal. Gen. Serrarier, Governor of the Invalides, applied for the Cross of the Legion of Honor for her, but before thefauthorities had decided on such a departure from precedent as to confer this dis-

RICH GIRLS.

The Heiresses of New York.

and accomplished young lady, and acts as while reserves judgment.

her father's secretary. They live plainly, but handsomely and comfortably, in a large, double house on Twelfth street, just west of Fifth avenue.

Miss Andrews, daughter of the late Loring Andrews, the millionaire, is destined The murderer paused in his work for an instant, as if to satisfy himself that life person of M. le Commandant Duchemin, her father's estate being $5,000,000. She age, and very beautiful. daily to play his game of cards and take lady is possibly twenty-two years of age, looking in his regimentals. His immense covered within; and, moving noiselessly to the past and gave vent to his feelings in Branch, where the Hoeys have their sum- wife, who seems almost awkward some maledictions against Wellington, Blucher, mer residence. She drives a pair of cream Grouchy and the rest, "qui avaient fait colored borses to a basket carriage" and is ally taller for a woman than he is for a known to all the habitues of the Branch. man. They are evidently people who, His principal delight, however, was in John Hoev began life at the lowest round not so wonderfully tall, would be considrecounting the history of his mother, Marie, of the ladder, and is now worth "all the cred-commonplace. They are intelligent, way up" from $750,000. Josephine is the bowever, and the lady especially feels the

A NIGHT AT A JAPANESE INN.

We entered the village which was once city containing over a million of inhabtants, and put up at a native hotel kept n native style. Again obeying the cus- them, om of undressing the feet, we passed nany guests sitting upon mats and makng their chop-sticks fly in a way that would make a Yankee envious even in a railroad eating-house. Up stairs we went, and were shown into a room whose walls consisted merely of paper, partitioning one room from another, but which were scrap-Duchemin, which was also that of her grandfather. Of iron constitution and the native wine, we were quickly served by a with "tidbit" pastry and with some sackee, also a bowl containing live coals, to- man, but a dwarf compared with his son. gether with pipes; after which, giving us time for a smoke, the courses began with He is a native of Letcher county, Kenfish, not cooked enough for our taste, then tucky. His wife is a Nova Septian, twentea. No bread was served us nor butter, but as the tea was remarkably fine and in that country on exhibition. the eggs, though small, were duly seasoned with rock salt, we made a good meal, rendered awkward by lack of experience in using the chop-sticks, which were pencil shaped and used by holding or pressing the food between the ends, the guests meanwhile peeping through the partitions and giggling at our frantic efforts to eat gracefully. While eating supper the governor of the place sent a constable to obtain our names and residence, that we might be under police protection, we being the first white men that ever sucht a night in the place. Supper being and as there were many pilgrims in the place who had never seen a Caucasian before, we were "observed by all observers," especially our friend, an Englishman, who s six feet two inches in his stocking feet, making him a giant among them. Going back to the hotel, our friend asked, us il we wished a bath and shampeo; answering in the affirmative, he gave an order, and hearing a long, low and somewhat sad whistle, which we had heard both by day and by night in Yokohama-and which, had failed to inquire the reason of he shampooing. The bath being ready, we went down stairs and were shown into a tinction on a woman, she died in 1862. room, whose wet floor proved it to be in In relating this extraordinary career the old commandant used to say: "She was

After finishing our bath we donned our only a woman, but" (with a forcible but gown and returned to our room, where the untranslatable French explctive) "what a blind man" took us in charge. Commencing with our feet he knuckled as all over, prying in between every joint and muscle of our back and limbs, except the region of the chest, and which, after he was through, made us feel as limber as an aerobat. These shampooers, it is said, are made blind in their childhood, that they may ply their vocation without in-Probably no city in the United States juring the susceptibilities of any one. The

[From the Rochester Express, Aug. 9th.] A TRIO OF GIANTS.

There is on exhibition in a store on State street in this city perhaps the most remarkable couple in the world-a man and woman who are giants in stature. They are Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Bates, whose home is was extinct, and then moved quickly from the room.

As soon as the sound of his footsteps of Napoleon, and frequently wounded, he As soon as the sound of his footsteps of Napoleon, and frequently wounded, he has been rented to Mr. Havemeyer, the havemeyer the ha fought his way up from the ranks, and on Anstrian Consul General at New York. the wife weighs 413 pounds. The comthe occupation of Paris by the Allies ren- Miss Andrews is not yet nineteen years of mon-sized visitor, when placed between them, feels very much as Gulliver must gave the late Henry Wilson his first up-Miss Josephine Hoey is the daughter of have felt when he fell among the giants. score of the "odious foreigners" on the field of honor. For the last twenty years he frequented the same cafe at the same hour lady at Wallack's Theater. The young looking complexion, straight and military-Mr., or Captain Bates as be is called, is a stylish, and the best "whip" at Long stature is not so noticeable as that of his how on account of length, she being actuawkwardness of her position as the object of curiosity. In an interesting conversation with our reporter she showed

The ceilings are 12½ feet high, and no doorway is less than 8½ feet high. Of course they find the hotel accommodation ansaitable to them wherever they go, as er was only 5 feet 4 inches in height, Bates is now twenty-nine years of age.

Probably the tallest and heaviest man ever seen in this county was at the Clinton street depot yesterday, waiting for the 3:10 p. m. line for New York. His height is 7 feet 10 inches, and he weighs he weighed 637 pounds.

The day being excessively warm he was not in a talking mood. Crowds of of humor. We did not learn his name.

LOST IN THE ADIRONDACKS.

to rest. During their stay a terrific thun- riety were inexhaustible. Dr. Bently was of the faction fights of the party. It ter. The clouds extended within a few poor Poll." Burke was entertaining, en- the present circumstances. feet of the summit of the mountain (6,000 thusinstic and interesting in conversation. above the level of the sea), and the re- Curran was a convivial oddity. Leigh echoing of the thunder from mountain to Hunt was "like a pleasant stream" in conpleasant. The adventurers soon wended constantly demars. their way for the camp, but took the wrong INALIENABLE RIGHTS .- Every woman zon, when suddenly several peculiar marks aim in life is pleasure, and so they wan- and under the proposed Democratic schedhas a right to be of any age she pleases, were discovered on some trees made last der, for this bright delusion is ever before ule the wages of a negro man would be for if she were to state her real age no one year by Joseph C. Hair, who was one of the dazzled eye of its followers. At the limited to four dollars per month, while would believe her. Every one has a right to wear a moustache if he can. Every wo-wan who makes pudding has a right to believe she can make better puddings than any other woman in the world. Every many who caves has a decided tight. They followed this trail for matches were wet, leaving them in a serious condition had they with the grace of a Juno, and converses influence over the unsophisticated Ameriman who carves has a decided right been obliged to remain in the woods all with the charm of a De Stael. She is can citizen of African descent.

> The son of the washerwoman with known restaurant in Rome.

A Cambridge, Mass., girl kept the company waiting for the wedding till she made replied, and the solitary attempt died away hundred thousands. She is a very clever much from the new government, and mean- the groom sign a written agreement to seeks to humiliate his wife before her four thousand inhabitants, and is about take her to the Centennial.

[From the Beston Herald, Aug. 24.] AN OLD MAN AND A YOUNG WIFE.

Vice-President Wilson's Once Opulent Friend Dying in a Poorhouse.

At the Medway Poor Farm, on Monday, died a man who merits more than a pass ing notice-the Hon. Warren Lovering, familiarly know as the "Old Squire," a man of power in political circles 20 years ago, a State Senator, and a member of Gov. Brigg's Council, and the man who ward push in political life. Two years farm for a home. At his father's death the Squire came into the pessession of a large estate, consisting principally of several large farms in Medway. Indeed it was hard to tell where his boundary line ended, so extensive was his domain, embracing nearly all of the That we agree. lower portion of the village of Medway. At about the age of fifty he married a old-time patron went to the town poor young wife, the daughter of a political associate, and an ex-Lieutenant-Governor. Incompatibility of temperament soon began to have its effect. The young wife ing, and her longing to return to her home in Ohio. Their home, by the way, was one built and furnished especially for them.

We have no doubt that Samuel J. Tilthe Squire grew morose in disposition and penurious in practice. The breach couting to the exact letterm. mortgaged and never redeemed, and soon nal proceedings have cost the State; but it his whole estate was sunk in debt. the doorways are so low and the beds so short. One of the strangest facts about that his clients left him one by one, and plundered; that they have worked a moral their history is that they were the chil-dren of common people. Mrs. Bates' fath-er was only 5 feet 4 inches in height. while her mother was only a common-sized nor interest, and the best of his farms During the war Mr. Tilden was an unbuild of a grenadier, measuring nearly thirty-six inches across the shoulders, she ing the result of our order we were served by a woman. Her brothers and sisters were of mainder went to ruin and decay. Finally no remarkable height. Capt. Bates' fathsettle up his affairs. His wife was ap- upon the subject was that the war must be pealed to by the authorities, and she agreed fought through to the end of putting down to look after him for the remainder of his secession and bringing the entire country days, if the remnant of his property, a once more under the undivided control of dwelling in the village, was put into her the Union Government. eggs, chicken, sweet potatoes, rice and ty-seven years of age. They were marlast he died at the age of eighty.

> Butler was sullen or biting. Hogarth ergy, and prosperity will be given to and Smith were very absent-minded in dustry and commerce.-N. Y. Sun. boys were following him up and down the company. Milton was very unsocial, and clatform, which undoubtedly put him out even irritable, when pressed into converquent in public addresses, was meager and the Democratic nomination for Governor, appeared heavy, coarse and stupid; he could years ago in a strong Republican district, About ten days ago, chief engineer In- seen; but then he was the model of poetry. the Utica Herald, a popular candidate. In Chaucer's silence was more agreeable than Congress, he has distinguished himself. gram, Andrew D. Collins, J. H. Gleason, George Buck, James Contie and Edward his conversation. Dryden's conversation. He was one of the managers of the Bel-Morrison, left Troy to encamp for 5 weeks | was slow, and dull, his humor saturnine | knap impeachment, and deservedly gained in the wilds of the Adirondacks. Last and reserved. Corneille, in conversation, much credit for his share in the conduct of evening 2 of the gentlemen Messrs. Col- was so insipid that he never failed of the affair. He was also the author of the lins and Gleason, returned home looking wearying; he did not even speak correctly resolution against outrages in the South hale and hearty and gently sun-burned, the language of which he was such a mas- so unanimously adopted by the House They gave a thrilling account of a narrow ter. Ben Johnson used to sit silent in and afterward perverted by General escape from being lost, which befell 4 of company, and suck his wine and their hu- Grant into a pretext for his order sending though it had excited our curiosity, we the party, Collins, Gleason, Ingram and mors. Southey was stiff, sedate and wrap- troops there to bayonet the election Buck. They left camp about ten o'clock ped up in aceticism. Addison was good Judge Lord was also for several years the went into the street and brought in a last Sanday morning, and after walking company with his intimate friends, but in last Sanday morning, and after walking company with his intimate friends, but in law partner of Senator Conkling, although the never agreed with that gentleman in three miles, struck a spring of water, by a reserved silence. Fox in conversa- politics. He has always been an orthodox around which they sat for an hour or so, tion never flagged; his animation and va- Democrat, but is not identified with any > > mountain inade the scene anything but versation. Carlyle doubts, objects and direction. After walking over stumps of FASHIONABLE LOVE AT SARATOGA .- the virtuous carpet-baggers in that State trees and wading creeks for miles, they dis- There is little love nowadays, says a Sara- have had recourse to a new invention for covered their mistake, and for hours they toga corrrespondent. It is found to be a working upon their fears. A colored man knew not where they were. Wet, discour- poor paying investment, and the youth of in Hale county informed a correspondent aged and weary, they walked for miles, our cities take little stock in it. There of The Sun that he would have voted the but their efforts to regain their bearings are any number of fashionable women here Democratic ticket at the last election, only were vain. Chief Ingram thought he who have sold their youth and charms for he had been told that if the Democrats knew the woods, but this time he gave some old man's gold. This class always were elected, although they could not put up beat. The wanderers at last struck a frequent this gay American spa, and you mountain lake, but they were no better off. will find them at Brighton and Ems, and would pass a law regulating the prices to The sun was fast receding beyond the bori- all over the European continent. Their be paid the colored people for their labor, pets and cajoles the old gentleman, and of Grant, Cameron, and Chandler in the luxuriates in his fortune and in his princely military management of the Southern elechome. From plain dresses and a plain tions, and has issued an order to Federal whom Byron lived in Venice, before he life she swept into velvets and genes and Marshals that looks as though the country position; and with this loveless heart and was in a state of war. wife of a poor man who could give her cablegram announces that old Bom Tweed nothing but love and mediocrity?

guests or company.

[WHOLE NO. 160.

Simon-Pure Politics.

The dearest right of a free citizen

Is the right to an honest, economic governs

ADVICE TO VOTEES.

The following communication which has just reached as is interesting both from its contents and its signatures, and we answer its inquiries in their order:

To the Editor of The Sun-Sir :- The undersigned being all voters and adherents of one or the other of the two great parties, wish to have you give answer to the following questions: Did Samuel J. Tilden pay an income tax on the whole of his income according to the exact letter after Wilson became Vice-President, his

Did his canal proceedings cost the State more than was actually derived from the exposure? Was he an uncompromising Union man during

We have left to you the above questions in or der that we may know the truth, also to stop dis-Yours, respectfully, JOHN LEECH JOHN HANNA,

SAML L. BOHN, FRED'E YATES, P. H. STEEL, GEO. EDGAR, GEO. CONDICT, PAUL MORRIS. WM. H. START, SAM'L CONKLIN, JOHN C. CROSSLEY, CHAS. MEADE, SMITH JOHNER

became crippled. Farm after farm was We do not know precisely what his cais certain they have saved the tax pavers A separation was finally agreed upon, a vast sum of money; that they have put and the old Squire shut himself up to live an end forever to a system of fraud by which llness set in, and an attempt was made to ruption of the Union; and his fixed idea ried in London, England, while traveling him to her own home in Holliston. But they do not constitute the most pressing the peace did not last long, and it was de- reason for supporting Mr. Tilden for Pres-From the Trenton, N. J. State Gazette, Aug. 9. cided to send him to the poor farm. Here ident. The condition of the government he remained about a year, and on Monday now is such as to require reform, and that reform can never be accomplished by keeping the Republican party in power. How MEN OF GENIUS CONVERSE .- Elect Mr. Tilden President, and the axe Tasso's conversation was neither gay nor will be laid at the root of our political 500 pounds. Before the warm weather brilliant. Dante was either taciturn or and business evils, a new era will begin satirical. Gray seldom talked or smiled. in the government, and new activity, en-

The Hon. Scott Lord, of Utien, who is sation. Kirwin, though copious and elo- now much thought of as likely to receive dull in colloquial discourse. La Fontaine was brilliantly elected to Congress two not speak and describe what he had just over the Hon. Ellis H. Roberts, editor of der storm came, and by account it must loquacious; so also was Grotius. Gold- would perhaps be difficult to find a more have been beyond description of any wri-

> The colored voters of Alabama having advanced sufficiently in political knowledge to understand that the talk about it being the purpose of the Democrats to reduce them to slavery again is all nonsense,

Father Taft steps up to the assistance has been arrested at Vige, Spain. Vigo That man is at heart a coward who Pontevedra containing little more than seventy-six miles S. S. E. of Corunna.