WOODMEN OF DISTRICT TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES

Forty-seven Camps Expected to Have Delegates in Hendersonville Next Sunday for Event.

The Western Carolina Log Rolling Association in convention in Old Fort recently decided to hold memorial services in Hendersonville on June 1 in honor of Woodmen of the World who gave their lives in the World War, also those who have returned from service.

The services will be open to the public at 3 o'clock at the city hall, where a service flag will be unveiled. Lieut. Hubert M. Smith is the only one to lose his life from White Pine Camp No. 213. There are 47 camps in the district and each is asked to send delegates, soldiers coming in uniform. Addresses from prominent speakers are promised.

Elsewhere in THE NEWS the Woodmen and officers are making an urgent appeal to the large membership of about 500 in Henderson county to attend this service and make a good showing to the visitors.

Woodmen will be interested to learn that at the convention to be held in July at Chicago the question of establishing a Root memorial park in Hendersonville will be revived.

Balfour Commencement

The Balfour school commencement exercises will be held next Monday night at 8:30. The Hendersonville band will furnish music.

Trip to Autoists

Frank Page, of the state highway commission, informs Sheriff Case that he will be in Hendersonville soon to check up autos that do not carry numbers on the front and rear of cars.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BEGIN WITH EAST BAPTISTS JUNE 15

D. J. Fant, the noted railway engineer evangelist, whose services are in great demand by reason of his strong and earnest messages, has been engaged to assist Rev. C. S. Blackburn of the East Hendersonville Baptist church with evangelistic services which begin on June 15 and last through ten days at least. Services will be held at night as far as present plans contemplate.

Evangelist Fant once preached to a large congregation during a revival at the First Baptist church. His messages are strong, interesting and helpful.

THROW DOWN YOUR HOE; TURN LOOSE YOUR PLOW; VACATE YOUR OFFICE CHAIR; LEAVE YOUR COUNTER; TAKE A WELL-FILLED BASKET AND LET'S HONOR OUR RETURNING HEROES FRIDAY, MAY 30—MEMORIAL DAY

Preparations are in the making for welcoming the men back from the service of their country on Friday of this week—a national holiday (Memorial or Decoration)—and a county holiday for Henderson county.

The people are asked to take the day off and bring along a well-filled basket. Stores will be closed from 10 to 4 o'clock.

All soldiers, sailors and marines, those who went from Henderson county as well as those now living or visiting here, are requested to be in uniform and meet at the armory near the court house at 10 o'clock. Capt. T. V. Lyda especially requests all the home guards to be there at 10. The original Sixth company will form into a section, the home guard into another section, all soldiers in another and all sailors and marines in another. The colored soldiers will meet on the court house square and will be in charge of a colored officer. Soldiers having seen overseas service are requested to wear overseas uniform. A line of march will be formed and the men will march to the Carolina Terrace back to the city hall. Transportation will here be provided for the men of service and Confederate veterans without cost and they will be transported to Laurel Park, where there will be speaking and a picnic dinner for all with free refreshments to the service men. Arrangements will be made for the colored soldiers and their friends and they will be provided with refreshments.

Music will be made by the Hendersonville brass band and Dunn's orchestra of Asheville.

Arrangements will probably be made for something of the nature of a memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice from Henderson county.

After returning to the city the Hendersonville band will make music on the court house lawn from 4 to 7 o'clock and the Asheville orchestra will render selections at the same period at the band stand near the city hall.

An effort will be made to have court adjourn for this occasion.

Thus Henderson county will celebrate the return of her boys who gave a splendid account of themselves and who were fortunate in bearing such a small casualty list.

Whitlock-Spencer Entertainment

Misses Arlene Whitlock and Helen Spencer entertained with a social at the home of the former last Thursday evening. The rooms were prettily decorated in red and green. A number of different games were played after which refreshments consisting of cake and cream were served to the following guests: Misses Hazel Grant, Nanna Shepherd, Myrtice Brooks, Edna Byers, Grace McCall, Nellie Taylor and Sarepta Bowen; Messrs. Alonzo Gilreath, Ira and Nolan Faulkner, Ralph Russ, Roy Williams, Alva Finklea, Fred Byers and Russell Whitlock.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR THE WOMAN'S FEDERATION

Many Homes Thrown Open for Their Entertainment; Constructive Program of Addresses and Work.

Preparations are steadily going on by the Woman's Club of Hendersonville for the seventeenth annual Federation of Women's Clubs to be held here on June 2-5, inclusive.

Mrs. R. P. Freeze, chairman of the hospitality committee, reports that accommodations have been offered for a number of delegates approaching 171, but that other homes could be used to advantage and obviate the necessity of having to pay for the entertainment of the guests. The response to her appeal for homes has been quite generous.

THE NEWS is printing a book of the four-day program of the federation, which shows that considerable thought has been given to it and that helpful and constructive topics will be discussed.

The meetings will be held in the First Baptist church building. The address of welcome will be delivered by Mrs. L. M. Colt on behalf of the local club and that from the Board of Trade will be by E. W. Ewbank.

Some of the other interesting features of the convention will be a reception at Park Hill as compliment of the Daughters of the American Revolution; luncheon at the residence of Mrs. R. P. Freeze; automobile drive to Stony Mountain as guests of Stony Mountain Company; luncheon at Kentucky Home; afternoon tea at Fassifern as compliment of Miss Shipp. The program calls for quite a number of noted speakers of this and other states ranking high in civic and health work.

The committees of the local club having in hand the details incident to this meeting are:

Program, Mrs. R. P. Freeze; luncheon, Mrs. A. E. McMillan; social, Mrs. R. M. Oates; reception, Mrs. Michael Schenck; decoration, Mrs. J. L. Egerton; automobile, Mrs. F. A. Ewbank; pages, Mrs. J. F.
