It is with deep regret that we announce the death of Mrs. E. W. Gurley at Charleston on the 21st of March. As our readers are aware she has been very ill at the home of her daughter Mrs. S. W. Bicaise for many months and endured much suffering. We learn that her death was peaceful and painless and that her last days were without pain. She retained consciousness up until a short time of the end and talked much of old friends whom she had left at her mountain home. The attention and kindness shown by friends in Charleston was unbounded and fully appreciated by her sorrowing family. The services were conducted by Rev. Kershaw of St. Michael's church and were largely attended by friends of various churches who covered the casket and grave with costly flowers and she rests in the beautiful magnolia cemetery.

Good News for the Farmers of Old Henderson. Authorities to Buy Machinery and Start Work by May 15th. Need of an Efficient Good Roads Association to Aid the Work.

$750.00 Reward

The reward offered for Lee Fisher who killed R. F. W. Allston, amounts to $750.00. This is authoritative. The citizens of Polk offer $50; the governor $150; the sheriff $100, making a total of $750. Fisher should be easily identified as he has lost one front tooth and a little finger. Up to date no news has been heard of him, but it is believed he is still somewhere in the mountains near here.

The Ideal

Miss Nettie Le Grand, Prop

Paved Roads for Henderson county!

The finest county in the South to have roads which will permit the farmers to come to town under any and all weather conditions!

The agitation started by this payer to bear fruit, and that immediately.

The Board of County Trustees will meet here on the first Monday in April, and it is assured they will take definite steps at that time to give the county paved roads. The necessary machinery will be purchased immediately and work will begin on May 15th of this year.

Under the efficient superintendency of Supervisor P. F. Patton, there will undoubtedly be many miles constructed this year. Mr. Patton is heartily in favor of the work, and with the necessary machinery, the chaingang under B. B. Souther, and probably many private subscriptions, the improvement will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

What road will first be paved, to what extent the town and county authorities will co-operate are matters not yet decided. Possibly that road where the property owners offer the greatest inducements will be the first to be improved.

A Good Roads Association Needed

The fact that Henderson County Roads are to be paved makes necessary a live and fighting Good Roads Association. An association which will aid the authorities in every way possible, by their moral support and by financial aid from those property owners whose roads are to be paved. It is the general opinion that a mass meeting to consider this important matter should be called at once.

Coming Our Way!

With paved county roads, paved sidewalks in town, plenty of water and good electric light service, to say nothing of fine churches and excellent public schools, we surmise that this city is going to be a most admirable place in which to reside very soon.

The Religious Herald, Richmond, Va., March 19th, has the following to say about Rev. A. R. Love, formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city.

"Rev. A. R. Love is doing nicely at West End in Petersburg. As long as North Carolina sends us men like this, we shall continue to draw on her. Brother Love's congregations are large and continually increasing and his pastorate is meeting with the favor of God and man. Three hundred and fifty-five in the Sunday School last Sunday."

Dog Law Repealed.

The dog law was repealed last Wednesday and the canines of the town are correspondingly happy. It is said they intend holding a mass meeting and give the city authorities a vote of thanks for their restored liberty. But, seriously, the law has had a good effect. There were too many dogs on the streets.

Final Survey Electric Road

Final surveys of the route of the electric road from Asheville to Hendersonville are now in progress.

The surveying corps has completed the survey from Hendersonville to Biltmore and is expected to retrace the line to insure accuracy.

The surveying party consisted of 16 members and made quick work of the job. The preliminary survey had already been made and the survey now in progress is intended to make final location of the route. The line largely parallels the Southern railway, but is a considerable distance from it. The route affords excellent grades and the line will serve a well settled section.

The offices of the company are in the Oates building and are handsomely equipped.—Citizen.

The inclement weather last Friday kept down the attendance at the temperance meeting to a mere handful. There was no meeting, in fact. Next Friday, at three o'clock, at the Court House, the executive committee will try once more to have a gathering of citizens to decide on the best method of conducting the campaign in this county.

After a long spell of perfect Spring weather, the brand was changed on Friday, and a snow storm, remarkable for the large flakes, struck town about noon. Some of the flakes were almost nearly not quite the size of a dinner plate. This was followed by a cold rain and it looks now as tho' the peaches were most all killed: It is thought the apples are safe as yet. G. M. Glazener was seen wearing one of his new straw hats on Thursday and it is believed this is the cause of the unwelcome cold snap.

Jonathan Case, of Dana, was in town Saturday. For nearly 20 years Mr. Case has been merchandising and since selling his store at Dana, says he has gained 20 pounds as a result of his outdoor life since then. Mr. Case has a big, well-paying farm at Dana, properly stocked, and with a fine orchard on it. Just now he is working on a plan which will go far to improve the quality of the poultry raised in this county and which will net the sellers of eggs 50 per cent more profit than they now receive. Mr. Case is an admirer of The Hustler and says it is an excellent and entertaining newspaper.
