VOL. XVII, No. 17

STRICTLY Personal

T. O. McNeely is home.
W. A. Smith is attending Polk court.
J. D. Boyd went to Spartanburg last week.
Dr. J. L. Egerton went to Asheville on Saturday.
J. S. Liverett, of Asheville, was in town last week.
Mrs. Gentry, and her daughter, Mrs. Jackson, are guests of Mrs. Robards.
John L. Orr has returned from a business trip to Greenville.
Fifty cents for this paper from now until Jan. 1, 1908.
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hobbs have returned from the North.
W. C. Rector is attending court in Polk this week.
C. E. Wilson went to New York, last week. Will buy new goods there.
J. T. Davenport, of Horse Shoe, was in town Monday on business.
R. A. Moody has returned from a business trip to Richmond and Washington.
Judge Ward, who is holding court at Polk this week, was a guest of the Gates Saturday and Sunday.
Geo. Justus is home from Rutherford for a few days. He returns this week.
J. Leon Rose, proprietor of the Rose Pharmacy has gone to Kentucky for a brief visit.
D. R. Chewing, who has been confined to his bed for a week or more, is now able to be out again.
Miss Verda Waldrop, who has been teaching school at Falkland, is expected home shortly.
Miss Lucile Burroughs, of Converse College, spent Easter with Mrs. J. L. Egerton.
W. P. McCall, of Mills River, says there is the greatest interest in his section in the coming prohibition election.
O. R. Keith of Wilmington, is now in charge of the Hendersonville Buggy Co. This company reports a highly satisfactory business.
H. L. Keith, of the Atlanta Dental college, is spending a few days with his brother, W. A. Keith, enroute to his home at Wilmington.
Mrs. M. A. Summay, age 79 years, is suffering from a dislocated shoulder. The king bolt came out the buggy, while she was driving home last Wednesday, and she was thrown to the ground.
Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Cantrell have gone to Spartanburg for a visit of some duration. Mr. Cantrell has not yet fully recovered from a serious attack of illness, but his many friends trust he may soon be as stout as formerly.
J. A. Woodward, of the Hendersonville Realty Co., was in town last week. Mr. Woodward says that Hyman Heights, the property of the company, will be fully developed this spring, and that many improvements will be made on that fine property.
Mr. and Mrs. Alex Capps were in town last week and showed their subscription mark up a couple of years. Mrs. Capps, speaking of their recent trip to Oklahoma, said the water there was hardly drinkable, and that Henderson county was good enough for her.
Mrs. Louise Springer, Miss Louise Webb and Miss Winifred Dalzell were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Willcox during part of Holy Week. Mrs. Springer is the highly efficient and capable teacher at St. Paul's school, Edinburg, where she is doing a good work. Miss Dalzell and Miss Webb are stationed at St. John's school, Upward.
Earl Grey, Governor General of Canada and Lady Grey, who are guests of the British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce in Washington at present will arrive on Saturday or Sunday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt at Biltmore House. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained the Earl and Lady Grey at luncheon at the White House on Wednesday. Lady Sybil Grey daughter of the Governor General, is visiting Miss Nora Langhorne at Nureado, the Virginia country estate of the Langhorne family.—Citizen.

Frank and Horace Morris, two clever boys, now of Bakersfield, N. C., spent a few days here last week. Frank is the one who created so much excitement in town a few weeks ago by telegraphing the Blue Ridge Inn to reserve the best bedroom and bath they had in the house. Everyone thought he had been married and on the Sunday he was expected a crowd of his friends spent most of the day at the depot, waiting for the bride and groom. But there wasn't any—'was just one of Frank's jokes.

What Is the Price
AT WHICH YOU'LL SELL
Your Boy

COL. PICKENS ASKS A
FEW TIMELY AND
POINTED QUES-TIONS.

1. If prohibition does not prohibit and make less drinking, why are all the saloon men opposed to it?
2. If prohibition laws should not be enacted because they do not extinguish and absolutely prevent the traffic, why not repeal all other criminal statutes, as none of them absolutely prevent the crime forbidden?
3. If criminal statutes absolutely abolished crime, what need is there of criminal courts?
4. If it be true that "if you let liquor alone it will not hurt you," then the agonies of parents at the incarceration and death of their drunken boy, is not to be counted: the sufferings of the wife and children caused by a drunken father must be ignored, and we must deny and forget the untimely death of that sober, good citizen, Sam Cunningham, who at his own home was slain by a bullet as it shrieked from a saloon broil.
5. Shall the saloon be located by your home or by your neighbors, and which one?
6. If we need the license money to make streets, etc., what is the price at which you offer your boy? Are not the boys of your county worth more than all the license money in North Carolina?
7. If the liquor league has provided a large fund and put it into the hands of some bloated, unscrupulous politicians with which to influence the election, is it not an insult to every honest North Carolinian, an intimation that you can be bought for $2.00?

S. V. VICKENS

"Bob" Gurley is in town visiting his father, E. W. Gurley.
Mrs. S. F. Wheeler is in the city a guest of Mrs. Chas. Pless.
Chief-clerk Montgomery of the Hotel Wheeler is in town.
Miss Harrison of Asheville is the guest of Miss Annie Smith.
Miss Dora Grinnett of Lafayette, Ala., is expected to arrive this week.
Mrs. G. C. Tait of Augusta, Ga., is visiting her mother Mrs. W. A. Garland.
Claude Brown's auction sale will be the biggest held here this season. Over 75 head to be auctioned off.
Preaching services at the Baptist church in this city next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Dr. Miller of Alabama is expected to fill the pulpit. All are invited.
Mr. and Mrs. Clouse desire to express in this public way, their appreciation of the many favors and kindnesses received by them during the long illness and death of their son, from their many friends and neighbors, who have more than proved themselves "friends indeed."
D. F. Guice, aged 30 years, died at his home in this city last Saturday night after an illness of five weeks. He was buried on Monday, Rev. Moore conducting the services. Mr. Guice is survived by his widow, who has the heartiest sympathy of many friends in her great bereavement.
W. A. Young, the popular and efficient cashier at the Southern depot, and Miss Irma Sindorf, of Charleston, were married in that city on Wednesday, April 22. Mr. Young, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. C. S. Fullbright, left for Charleston on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Young, after a visit to Washington and other points, will return to their future home in Hendersonville.

Water Meters

All water consumers who have not installed their water meters by June first will be cut off from the city water.
Make your application to the Chief of Police or to J. C. Morrow, and they will give the matter prompt attention.
Remember, unless meters are installed by the first of June you get no city water.

Forty Years Ago

Forty years ago last Tuesday Judge Pace was elected clerk and he has held that job down ever since.
The election, or elections, for they lasted three days, was held at the old court house, then comparatively new. It was in 1868, and the elections were held under military rule, under General Camby. General Grant was elected president the same day.
Judge Pace succeeded Samuel Waldrop, and was elected as Clerk of the Superior Court, Probate Judge (an office since abolished) succeeding J. C. Gullick, father of our Judge Gullick and clerk to the Master in Equity, which office was then filled by H. T. Farmer.
The election lasted three days and all in the county came to town to vote. The first constitution of the State after the war, was adopted at this same time, and although liquor was to be had in abundance the day was extremely quiet and orderly.
Forty years ago Hendersonville was some smaller than it is today. There were no water meters, no cement sidewalks, no paved streets. All that beautiful part of the town to the west and the northeast was covered with wooded land, with here and there a fertile farm. Mrs. Patton's house and the residence of Col. Livingston were the only buildings in that part of the town now thickly settled.
Dr. Allen was in business at the same old stand. Memory Justus was in business then and Colonel Pickens was practicing law.
Wesley Justus was registrar of deeds. Capt. W. G. B. Morris, Columbus McCrary, Dr. Whitted, James Justus, father of Sam Justus, and G. B. Johnson were the five county commissioners. They are now all dead and gone.
Forty years ago Mayor Schenck and his crusade against blind tigers would have been out of place, although he is the right man in the right place now, for then hardly a store in town but sold liquor.
The change in public sentiment in that respect has been remarkable. The grandfather of Judge Pace was a distiller. His son played the fiddle, and for allowing this the old gentleman was threatened with "chuching"—to be put out of the church. He lived to see the day when liquor selling was frowned upon by public sentiment and sat in a church in his later years and heard a fiddle played in the sacred edifice. A complete reversal of sentiment in one man's lifetime.

Auditorium Sold

J. D. Davis bid in the auditorium property at the foreclosure proceedings last week for Judge Bly. Paid $1,079 for land and wrecked building. Chairs brought $125 additional. Dr. Strouse held mortgage, and he is out about $1,200 on this section of his Chattanooga experience here.

Easter
Services

Easter Sunday was an ideal day. The rains of the two days previous came but to freshen and revive and make even more beautiful the verdure clad mountains surrounding Hendersonville.
The sun shone with a genial warmth, the azure blue sky had but a few lace-like clouds, and Dame Nature, clad in the most delicate green, smiling and laden with flowers, was in attune with the sacred day.
Of course the ladies took advantage of the superb weather and Main street was a veritable fashion parade between 12 and one o'clock. Many pretty gowns and hats were seen, and one poor, puzzled man was heard to exclaim, "Well, what bothers me is this: Which is the prettiest, the hats and the dresses or their charming wearers?"
But then he was only a mere man, of course.
At the different churches Easter was appropriately and impressively observed.
St. James church never looked more beautiful. Dogwood, Narcissus, spiraeas and snowballs were used in profusion in the scheme of decoration in the body of the church, while dogwood blossoms and magnificent Annunciation lilies transformed the chancel into a bower of beauty.
Rev. R. M. Wilcox's sermon was impressive and eloquent and the church was crowded with devout worshippers.
The special Easter music, with Mrs. F. W. Eubank at the organ, was fine, the solo, "He is not here, He is risen," by Miss Robards and Prof. Ruhl, being really excellent. The other members of the choir were Mrs. Louise Springer, Miss Haas, Miss Emily Eubank, Miss Steedman.
At the five o'clock services for the children, Rev. Wilcox spoke of the necessity of discipline in our daily lives, punctuality being one of the results of this discipline.
At the Methodist church Rev. Jno. W. Moore delivered an impressive sermon, taking his text from Acts 26:8: "Why is it thought incredible with you if God should raise the dead?"
Special Easter music by the choir, a solo by Mr. Pless in the evening and by Mrs. Pless in the morning, the decorated altar made the Easter services very beautiful.
There were no services held at the Baptist church.
At the Roman Catholic church Father Marion, of Asheville, conducted the usual Easter services. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Johnston there was no special music.

The Ideal

Miss Nettie Le Grand, Prop

To Miss
A Puzzle

I know thou'lt be another's—
His beautiful, his own—
That thou will leave all others,
And cling to him alone.
I know thou hast forbidden
That I should think of thee,
Thou' in my heart be hidden,
A love consuming me.
But fate schemes on above
To strike young hearts with awe,
For I am dead—in love
And you'll be dead—in law.

The Cullasaja.
(By Charlotte Young)

I wish you knew a way I know
Along the Cullasaja.
There, everything to quietness
And happy thoughts persuade you.
The river sings its own wild song
Around the rocky turnings,
There honey-suckles light the banks
With red and yellow burnings.
Along the cliffs the ferns uncuri,
And trails the pink arbutus,
And here the wood thrush lifts a song
As sweet as any flute is.

Do you Believe in the Golden Rule?

When the catalogue comes from your mail order house, draw an easy chair to the table where the light will shine full upon the page and put on your glasses so that no bargain will escape your eye. What a wonderful book it is to be sure, wonderful for what it does not contain as well as what it does. We miss some things we would be glad to see. Where is their offer to pay cash or exchange goods for your wheat, oats, corn, beans, butter, eggs and hay? How much do they pay for cattle, sheep and hogs f.o.b. at your depot? How much tax will they pay to support your schools and educate your children, for improving roads and bridges, the support of the poor of the county, for the expense of running the business of township, county and state? On what page is their offer to contribute money to the church? What line of credit will extend to you when your crops are poor and your money gone, when through illness or misfortune you are not able to send "cash with order" for your groceries, clothing, farm tools and crockery? Where is their offer to contribute to your entertainment next year? In short will they do anything to provide a market for what you have to sell and thereby keep up the value of your estate? Will they do anything for your church, school or government support or do they take your dollars out of the community, with no returns except the goods you buy?

Did You Ever Look At
It This Way?

Pluck Wins.
"Pluck wins. It always wins, though days be slow,
And nights be dark 'twixt days that come and go;
Still pluck wins; its average is sure.
He gains the prize who will the most endure;
Who faces issues, he who never shirks;
Who waits and watches, and who always works."

TIGERS

PESKY BEASTS GONE
INTO HIDING

MAYOR SCHENCK'S CRU-
SADE BEARING FRUIT.
SEVERAL MEN BOUND
OVER TO COURT, AND
THE TIGERS ARE NOW
AFRAID TO EVEN WAG
THEIR TAILS.

The citizens of Hendersonville do not want any blind tigers in their city.
Public sentiment is against them. And don't ever monkey with public sentiment—better go down to Bennett's mill and toy with the buzz saw there.
The mayor and his highly efficient police officers are making every effort to suppress the blind tigers.
The tigers are so scared they don't even dare to wag a tail for fear Zeb Arledge will see them.
There have been numerous arrests, trials and convictions in Mayor Schenck's court lately for illegal liquor selling.
Town Attorney W. E. Eubank has appeared in some half-dozen cases within the past few weeks, as a result of the activity of the town's officials.
Some well known men are now under bond for October term of court.
The names of other well known men have been mentioned during the trials.
Others have turned state's evidence to save their own skins.
Now, the next time these men, or any others, are before the mayor for this offense, this little old paper is going to publish all the facts and evidence in the case.
The mayor and his officers are doing a good work.
They are backed by everyone, irrespective of party, who believes in the enforcement of law, and they have that great power, public sentiment, behind them.
Hendersonville is a dry town because its citizens want it to be a dry town and the community is fortunate indeed to have as officials men who see their duty plainly, perform it without fear or favor, and who are gradually ridding Hendersonville of this curse of liquor selling.
It was one of Mayor Schenck's anti-election pledges that he would stop illegal liquor selling here, and he's doing it.

Shop Talk

The great power paper cutter just received, is a massive piece of machinery, and getting it into the building was a very difficult job. It's keen knife would cut through an 18-inch plank almost.

The Universal press, probably the finest piece of machinery made for fine printing, is a solid piece of mechanism, and requires a concrete foundation underneath it.

Mr. J. R. Johnson, an expert machinist (also high priced, and he's worth it) came from Baltimore to erect the shop's new machinery. He has been here now several days.

The new type for the paper is a large, perfectly clear and distinct type, and will be easily read. The "New Hustler" will be handsome in appearance.

The new equipment is not all here yet—only about a fourth part of it. The job department will also be entirely new, with many labor-saving devices.

The newspaper composing room will be upstairs in the present building, and there will be probably five compositors in that department alone. The job room and press room will be on the ground floor.

THIS BUSY
TOWN!

Get your meter!
Pay your poll tax!
Get your meter by June 1st or you'll be cut off from city water.
J. D. Boyd has a new awning over his store.
Walker Smith has a new delivery wagon and it's a beauty.
Grand Jury room in court house flooded with water, Monday.
It is fashionable now to walk in the middle of Main street.
Only fifty cents for this paper for the balance of the year.
The town was unusually full of people last Saturday. The merchants all report a satisfactory business.
To genial Thomas Shepherd we are indebted for valuable assistance in moving our heavy machinery.
When it comes to obliging people outside of business hours. Postmaster Brownlow Jackson is there with the goods.
The Southern Railway will shortly have three operators at Ralfour, the station recently closed. There are now about 30 cars on the track there.
M. M. Shepherd has received a car of the "Simmons Quality" Iron Beds and springs today.
The new office building is almost completed, the store fronts now being put in. The building has not yet been named.
S. M. King, deputy registrar of deeds, has resigned, and W. J. Davis has taken his place. Frank Staton says he does not want the nomination for registrar again.
County Tax Collector C. E. Brooks is now preparing his list of personal property for delinquent taxes, which will be advertised as soon as completed. By paying at once costs will be saved.
Dr. J. Steven Brown lost a valuable calf last week. Animal ate "Wickie" and died shortly afterwards. "Wickie" looks like a dwarf laurel, and is very beautiful. Also very fatal.
A. V. Waters, of Pickens Co., S. C., sold a horse he did not own, it is said. Shaved his whiskers off, came to this town, was arrested by Bill Hill, and returned to Pickens Co., on Tuesday.
One day last week Col. Pickens pointed out a cloud of "flying ants" in front of Capt. Toms office, and said their appearance was a sign that there would be no more cold weather.
The children of St. James Sunday School enjoyed an Easter egg hunt on the rectory grounds, Monday, and the eggs found and eaten were many in number.
Paid your poll tax yet? Must be paid by May 1st or you CANNOT vote. Tax Collector Brooks says he's going to get your poll anyhow, so you might just as well pay it in time to vote.
The cement walks are being put down rapidly. The city hall block is now complete and the block between the postoffice and Justus Pharmacy will be the next to receive the attention of the large force of workmen. The improvement in appearance of the street where the walk is completed, is really remarkable.
The three new iron bridges will be a permanent improvement. One will cross Broad river at Bat Cave; one at P. J. Hart's place across Green River, and one across the French Broad, near Red bank. At Mills River, a new road will be laid off, by way of the new bridge, to the railroad at Brickton.

The road overseers of Hendersonville Township are expected to make full reports of their respective roads on the first Monday in May 1908. For blanks call at J. D. Dermdid's office.

In a hotly contested ball game, Saturday the Shaws Creek team wiped up the earth with the Hendersonvillians with a score of 7 to 5. Corn and Carson for Shaws Creek, and Garren, Rheinhardt and Edwards for Hendersonville, were the batteries.

Col. Wm. Hewitt, of the Hotel Gates, is now an authorized agent for Cupid, though you wouldn't think so to look at him. He offers to refund the railroad fare to all newly married couples within a radius of 150 miles of this town, who come to the big hotel for their honeymoon. The news is gradually spreading and soon the streets will be blocked by couples who think the moon is made of green cheese. There are already two bridal parties at the hotel.

Hunter's Pharmacy shipped six bottles of their "Digestive Elixir" to Augusta Georgia the other day. It must be good.
