Rheumatism Prescription.

Considerable discussion is being caused among the medical fraternity by the increased use of whiskey for rheumatism. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula: "One ounce of Toris compound and one ounce of syrup Sarsaparilla compound. Add one-half pint of good whiskey. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

This is said to produce almost immediate results.

PRACTICAL ADVICE ABOUT DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Colic Due to Corn.
When corn chop alone is fed to a horse it often produces stomach indigestion and bloating, which in the horse is a very serious form of indigestion or colic. The reason that corn chop produces this condition is owing to the fact that it lies compactly in the stomach. The stomach juices cannot thoroughly permeate it to digest the nutrients, and as a result unnatural fermentation takes place. The gas causes distention of the stomach wall, and stomach or gastric colic is the result. This is a serious form of colic because of the peculiar arrangement of the stomach. The horse cannot vomit or belch gas unless the walls be so greatly distended that there is a modification or stretching of the part of the stomach at the point where the esophagus enters it, and consequently there is great danger of rupturing the walls of the stomach with a fatal termination.

During the past summer oats have been very high and many horse owners have resorted to corn chop as a more economical feed. If the corn chop be fed with bran or cut hay then there will usually be no ill effects, because the material will not lie compactly in the stomach, and as a result the stomach juices can get at all parts of the feed and digest it thoroughly. Many will not feed wheat bran, claiming that it is of poor feed value. The fact is that it contains more protein or muscle building substance than oats, and when mixed with corn or corn chop, in proper proportions, makes a well balanced, hearty feed. The frequency of gastric colic among horses has increased with the feeding of corn chop since the high price of oats.

An Arrangement For Storing Shelled Corn.
Storage for shelled corn is a condition that does not have to be provided for in some sections; but, as it seems to be rapidly coming to the front in others, R. H. Mitchell sends to Country Gentleman the accompanying illustration of an arrangement to meet this need, submitting it for what it may be worth.

As may be seen, it is a bin with a slanting floor, having cracks perhaps an eighth of an inch in width, divided into compartments by hollow partitions. A trough, A, makes it convenient to shovel up the corn. The partition B, the end C and the sides D and E should also be slats an eighth of an inch apart. The divisions B could be made of two-inch furring strips nailed on both sides of the same for battens.

The width of each compartment would be determined by experiment, but probably eight inches would be about right. Of course, the depth and height would be a matter of convenience.

"Kill the Grade Bull!"

In Tennessee they have a dairy association, a live organization worthy of the men who have made "Tennessee Jerseys" synonymous with quality the land over.

This association has entered on a campaign to improve the general average of the dairy cattle in that State, and the slogan of this campaign is, "Kill the Grade Bull!"

The Tennessee dairyman realizes, as every farmer in all the South should realize, that there can be no decided or permanent improvement of live stock so long as sires of mongrel ancestry are allowed to reproduce themselves.

There are in that State hundreds of cows that have produced from fourteen up to twenty or more pounds of butter per week—these are the daughters of pure bred bulls with long lines of high-producing ancestry back of them.

There are also thousands of cows that do not make butter enough for their keeping—these are almost invariably the daughters of grade or scrub bulls.

The campaign is for better and more profitable cows—but the only sure way to get good cows is to get

CATARRH IN HEAD.

The Depopulation of France proceeds at an amazing rate. Last year's vital statistics show a reduction in the birth rate even below the figures of 1906, while there is an augmentation of deaths. There were 32,578 less births in the entire country in 1907 than in the preceding year and 13,693 more deaths. There were actually an excess of 19,920 deaths over births.

In 1906 the ratio of births was 215 to 10,000 of population; last year it fell to 207. The falling off took place in 82 departments; only five—Seine-Inferieure, Saone-et-Loire, Bon-du-Rhone, Pas de Calais and Menthe-et-Moselle, showed an increase, and that only slight. The decline of births in outlying regions of intense rusticity is a most alarming feature, and it is evident east and west, north and south. For instance, La Dordogne in the southwest shows a decrease of 1,464 births; Finistere in the northwest, 1,067; Ardeche in the southeast, 971. On the whole the southern provinces show the tendency in the most marked degree and those on the Swiss and German frontier the least, but no part of the country is free from it. The excess of deaths manifests itself in 55 departments, that of the Seine—virtually Paris—being the greatest, with 3,310.

The population of France showed from 1901 to 1905, inclusive, an average increase of 15 a year for each well populated. This dropped in 1906 to seven; last year it changed to a decrease of five in 10,000. In the Provincial and Gason provinces of the south the excess of deaths is most marked, coming next after Paris. In the department of Lot, on the upper Garonne, there were 143 births to 244 deaths in a population of perhaps 215,000, which has been declining steadily since 1890, when it had nearly 260,000 people. This is race suicide with a vengeance.—New York Sun.

Send Babies to West.

There were sixty-seven of them and sixty-seven different varieties. They were babies, from 2 years up to 5, all colors, shapes, sizes and previous conditions of servitude.

Little waifs they were, the discard of New York, out in search of a home far from the center of sorrows and woes that they were born into.

On the way to St. Paul from New York a special car with these babies passed through Milwaukee. With the children there were several sisters of charity and two trained nurses.

The Home Finding Society of New York is sending them West to deal them out into good homes among the farmers near St. Paul.

When the conductor came out of the car there was a suspicion of moisture in his eyes.

"I won't go through there again," he said. "They're all happy, and all that, but it's so pitiful. They all wanted to shake hands with me and caught hold of my hand and looked up at me and smiled as I passed. I suppose they are taught to do it. There are all kinds, and they are just as sweet as most babies are. It's a shame that they will never know a real mother and father."

The sisters made the babies' beds by placing boards across from seat to seat for the special car was not a sleeping car. Several babies were piled into one "bed." The one car accommodated the sixty-seven, besides the nurses and sisters.

Long pieces of sheeting were stretched across the tops of the seats to cover the "beds" and keep out the cinders and dust.—Milwaukee Special to N. Y. World.

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW

Proved a Wise, Good Friend.

A young woman out in Ia. found a wise, good friend in her mother-in-law, jokes notwithstanding. She writes:

"It is two years since we began using Postum in our house. I was greatly troubled with my stomach, complexion was blotchy and yellow. After meals I often suffered sharp pains and would have to lie down. My mother often told me it was the coffee I drank at meals. But when I'd quit coffee I'd have a severe headache."

"While visiting my mother-in-law I remarked that she always made such good coffee, and asked her to tell me how. She laughed and told me it was easy to make good 'coffee' when you use Postum."

I began to use Postum as soon as I got home, and now we have the same good 'coffee' (Postum) every day, and I have no more trouble. Indigestion is a thing of the past, and my complexion has cleared up beautifully."

"My grandmother suffered a great deal with her stomach. Her doctor told her to leave off coffee. She then took tea, but that was just as bad. She finally was induced to try Postum, which she has used for over a year. She traveled during the winter over the greater part of Iowa, visiting something she had not been able to do for years. She says she owes her present good health to Postum."

FRIEND SAID TO USE CUTICURA

After Specialist Failed to Cure Her Intense Itching Eczema—Had Been "Kept and Disfigured"—Was Soon Cured of Broad Humour.

"I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them and after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies, and I am completely cured."
