"ME AND GOD BOTH ON THE OTHER SIDE, BILL FAILED"

The Above is the Reply Representative Ray Sent Dr. Winston in Reference to Western Training School.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS MADE TO CLEAR THE CALENDAR

Of all Bills by Saturday Night but the Task too Great—While There Was a Great Deal of Hard Work Accomplished the Honorable Gentlemen Found Time to Make Many Good Speeches—Representative Turlington Slipped a Few Over to the Gentleman From Henderson—Shipman's Recommendation for a Ten-Hour Work Day Law—Speakers Dowd Presented With a Silver Service—Board of Education and Justices of the Peace for Henderson—Annual Appropriations—Brief History of Ewart's Work in the Legislature—General Assembly Adjourned Yesterday.

T. R. B. Raleigh, March 6.—"We look to you and God for Western Training School," read the telegram received by Representative J. Frank Ray from Dr. George T. Winston, one time president of the A. & M. College and now a resident of Asheville. "Me and God both on the other side, bill failed," was the reply sent by Macon county's representative, and that briefly, tells the tale of the waste of Western Training School.

A surprising amount of opposition developed to the proposed school. Both of the small schools now doing so excellent a work in the Western part of the State seemed to think their very existence was threatened by the establishment of this greater educational institution, and their friends got busy and kept busy all the time. The appropriation committee refused to make any provision whatever for the school, Buncombe's and Henderson's privilege of voting a seventy-five and one hundred thousand dollar bond issue to aid the school will not be exercised—at least not immediately and right now.

Work Overtime While strenuous efforts were made last week to clear the calendar of all bills by Saturday night, it was early apparent that at least two days' time would have to be given the state free by its legislators. A quorum of the faithful signed an agreement to remain until Tuesday at least, and a resolution adopted Saturday night provides that no adjournment shall be taken until every bill is disposed of. This would take until the end of the week. Resolving and doing are different, however.

These gives Speaker Dowd an opportunity to carry out his determination to clear the calendar before adjournment.

There have been 2110 bills introduced. Of these 1133 have become the law of the State up to this date. It is impossible to give even a partial list of the more important measures until after the assembly has adjourned, when the clerks of the house and senate will put in many more strenuous days completing the record of legislation.

Some Good Talks. Friday and Saturday of last week were notable for the many really fine speeches heard on the floor of the house. The $60,000 appropriation for the new Feeble Minded Institute, while it was opposed by some of the leaders, seemed to inspire its advocates with a fire and effective zeal and the crowded galleries heard some really fine speeches. The State primary law, defeated in the House on Saturday, turned the dignified assembly upside down again for a couple of hours and the remarks made by the honorable gentlemen were pointed and calculated to hurt. The opposition of the Western members killed the bill.

There is still a good chance for the Torrens' land registration system—opposed by the lawyers and therefore a good thing for everyone else. The Senate has passed the bill.

Ewart Gets His. Turlington's anti-trust law went through the house with a whoop. It is an admirable measure, calculated to withstand the most energetic attacks of the trusts' ablest attorneys. Ewart of Henderson, of course, opposed its passage, and would have had the house adopt his bill, reported unfavorably by the committee, but Mr. Turlington's measure designed to curb the trusts, without any hair-brained and impossible provisions, was adopted almost unanimously, after a spirited debate.

Turlington never gets excited. He is one of the finest talkers in the assembly. He is even, well modulated voice flows smoothly and steadily and his keen-barbed shafts are sent under his opponents' hide without any ranting or roaring. During the discussion of the anti-trust law he slipped a few over to the gentleman from Henderson that should last him a while. Ewart has been the Raleigh correspondent of the Henderson county republican organ, and a close and impartial reading of his literary efforts leaves the impression that there is no legislature in session here, only Ewart

LOCAL AND OTHERWISE

Mrs. Lila Ripley Barnwell, who regret to learn, has been quite ill. The condition of Miss Julia Ewart, who has been sick for several days, we are sorry to learn is not much improved.

The handsome new residence of Mr. C. R. Whitaker is nearing completion, and Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker expect to move in some time next week.

Maxwell & Brown have received the agency for the Golden Sun coffee which brand is advertised in this issue by the home factory.

A. F. P. King and family have moved from the Marion next door below the First National Bank to their Oakley Florida Home, which has lately been remodeled.

Glazener is starting a cut rate sale this week. His page ad in this issue will be read by many of his patrons with interest. Glazener cuts the price and sells the goods.

Mr. C. T. Connor, the enterprising real estate dealer and house builder, informs us that he has recently completed five new dwelling houses on Charleston Heights and that three of them have already been sold.

Rev. K. W. Cawthron and son left Tuesday for a few days stay in Atlanta, where Rev. Cawthron will attend a Bible conference held in that city. He will return to the city in time to conduct services at his church Sunday.

A charter has been issued the Rigby-Morrow company by the past legislature authorizing a capital of $50,000. The company will continue in the same business on a larger scale. The incorporators are J. C. Morrow, J. A. Fletcher, P. L. Dermid.

Joe Guice, a well known citizen of Henderson county died last Friday at the age of 71. Mr. Guice has been in feeble health for some time. He leaves a family to mourn his death. Interment was made Saturday morning at the Mud Creek church cemetery.

One of the best entertainments of the season was given in the court house last Wednesday evening by the Roney Boys. The little fellows delighted the audience with their music and the entire entertainment was enjoyed by all those present.

Mr. J. V. Helsel, formerly with the J. R. Rich Co., of Asheville, has moved to Hendersonville and will, by the first of next week, open his place of business in the building adjoining Rusher's meat market. He will manufacture goods in sheet metal. Look for his ad in next week's Hustler.

A lot of household goods were sold at auction in front of the court house last Saturday between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. The goods belonged to a Mr. Francis Masters who was trying to get them from Canton, N. C., to Spartanburg, S. C. They were attached for debts.

Mr. Jos. V. Cherry, of Richmond, Va., a son-in-law of Mr. C. T. Connor, of this place, arrived in our city last week and is so well pleased with our town that he has decided to remain here for some time, and it is very likely that he will invest some of the "long green" in Hendersonville dirt.

J. A. Switzer an experienced life insurance man has located in Hendersonville as agent for the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company of Birmingham, N. Y. Mr. Switzer is from South Carolina, and is now stopping at the Kentucky Home, where he is making headquarters. He will move his family here after April 1st.

Would it not be a good idea for all of the secret societies of the town to keep a small ad in the paper telling where and when they meet, together with a list of the officers of the same. Many places do this for the benefit of the stranger that may be within the gates of the city. Strangers often come to the newspaper office to obtain such information.

It has been said that there are three kinds of men in the world: "The wills, the won's and cant's." The first effect everything, the next oppose everything and the last fall in everything. "I will" builds factories and railroads; "I won" don't believe in experiments—nonsense; while "I cant" grows weeds for crops and commonly ends his days in the poor house.

Kanuga Lake Club will have a modern furniture factory. Last week there was received at the Southern railway freight depot one car load of machinery for the plant, which has been in operation on a small scale some time. Mr. Stephens, the president, started the factory last year with a small outfit. Since that time the demand has been on a continuous increase and they now have orders ahead for some time. S. Y. Bryson has the contract for hauling the material from the station to Kanuga where the plant is located.

Under the auspices of a committee appointed by the Baptist State Convention held in this city last December, there gathered in Raleigh last week from various parts of the state, laymen representing the Baptist churches of North Carolina, for a conference and discussion of an advanced missionary campaign. Mr. D. L. Pace of this place attended.

The Asheville Citizen says that Mr. Lunn's Grant, son of ex-Congressman Grant, of the tenth district, has been appointed a deputy marshal by United States Marshal Logan and will be stationed at Statesville. For 11 years Mr. Grant has been superintendent of the registry department in the Asheville postoffice and resigns this to take the place of deputy marshal at the same salary—$1,200 a year.

Mrs. Mary Farmer Ripley passed peacefully into rest last Sunday morning at half after eight o'clock. She had been quite ill for several weeks. It was hoped by those who loved her that she might be spared to see the spring beautiful once again, but it was not to be and the dear Father took her gently to Him. On Monday evening as the sun was sinking in the west through soft clouds, the remains of the true woman were consigned to the grave.

A certain young fellow in this city holds the record as the champion banana eater. A wager was given the young lad that if he ate the entire bunch he could have them, but if he failed he must pay for what he ate. This suited the young man with a particular fondness for bananas and inside of an hour every banana on the bunch had been devoured, very much to the surprise and chagrin of the clerk. There was about 150 bananas on the bunch.

The citizens will have an opportunity in a few days of seeing a fair sample of "sand and clay" road on one of the principal streets of the city. W. A. Smith is having one block of 5th avenue, where his street car line is located, plowed up and mixed in the right proportion and later rolled with his steam roller, making it a genuine sand and clay strip of road. This work will be watched with interest. It has been advocated by many that all the back streets and some of the principal streets should be sand clay. Walter Smith is overseeing the work done on the first block off the corner of Main and 5th avenue.

Mr. R. L. Rusher, of the firm of R. L. Rusher & Son, the enterprising and progressive market men, who purchased some 60 acres of land from Mr. John L. Orr, in the southern limits of the town some months ago, is making many improvements upon the property. He has already erected a large barn upon the place and now has under construction a modern and up-to-date 21-room dwelling. Of course Mr. Rusher does not expect to occupy all of the 21 rooms with his family, but is making it this size with a view of accommodating some of the summer tourists that may come his way this summer.

As we have said heretofore we are very anxious to secure a good live correspondent at every post office in the county. We are anxious, and are doing all we can to make the Hustler one of the best weekly newspapers in Western North Carolina, and if we can secure the co-operation of our county subscribers by sending us the happenings of their community each week we feel that we shall not only make the Hustler one of the best weekly papers in this part of the state, but second to none in the whole state. When there is a death in your vicinity, the serious sickness of any one, or an accident, or a marriage, the Hustler is glad to record it. That is a paper's business and is a part of the news that people take the paper to get. Send us the news.

At the farewell party given J. Robert Davis who is going to Marion, N. C., to live the following poetry was composed by one of the young folks present:

We've got a mutual friend, you says he's going to go away, Oh girl, oh girls, why are you all so sad? Why don't you stop and think a bit, that while you're sad today Next week the girls in Marion is glad. Of course we had our schemes, and they all went wrong it seems, And that's the reason why the ladies worry, Why you go away so quick? Dot's a little Irish trick Tell me Robert, please just tell me, what's your hurry?

For something always happens when it shouldn't, Now I speak for everybody in this town, Mr. Robert please believe us We are sorry too you leave us If it wouldn't be for dot you might be married soon.

Mr. Mason Invited. It was decided at the last meeting of the Commercial club to invite Chas. W. Mason to make a trip in the various townships of Henderson county in the interest of organizing more corn clubs. Mr. Mason has charge of the industrial department of the Southern railway in this section of the country and is making tours in various counties in the interest of creating more corn clubs in the mountain section of North Carolina.

Last year the state Agricultural department sent an agent over Henderson county and succeeded in organizing many clubs. This year it is thought that every township will have a club and an exhibition of each township will be shown at the county fair next fall on Main street.

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION AND COMMERCIAL CLUB MEET.

A special meeting of the city council has been asked for by the Commercial club at which time a committee of ten leading citizens will appear before them in reference towards raising an advertising fund to carry on a campaign this year for Hendersonville.

The smoker held last Thursday evening in the directors' rooms of the First National Bank by a joint gathering of members of the Retail Merchants Association and Commercial Club was an enthusiastic meeting. Many important subjects were discussed by the members.

K. G. Morris, chairman of the fair committee, reported that his committee had been busy arousing interest in the coming fair and that they were now ready to confer with other committees in starting a campaign for Henderson's fair.

Dr. C. Few was asked to make a report on chicken shows. After an instructive talk on the values of a chicken show in connection with the county fair the members voted unanimously to have Dr. Few in charge of the poultry department.

Information was given at the meeting that there was in progress organization of various township corn clubs in Henderson county. A motion was made to ask the county Superintendent of Public Instruction to confer with the citizens of the county in carrying out the corn clubs.

A resolution was entered by W. A. Smith and was passed by the meeting consisting of the following:

"We the undersigned members of the Retail Merchants Association and Commercial Club of Hendersonville have observed how the superintendents of Public Instruction are organizing corn clubs in other counties, thus aiding the education in a most substantial way. We therefore earnestly re-

CONGRESSMAN GUDGER WRITES LETTER.

Says He Will do all in His Power to Rush the Postoffice Appropriation Through.

Mr. Sam T. Hodges wrote Hon. J. M. Gudger some time ago of the report being circulated by the republicans that he (Mr. Gudger) would not be able to get an appropriation for Hendersonville's postoffice, and that none would be made until two years from now, which could be had by electing a republican to congress. The following letter was received which will be read with interest by the many friends on this county.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23, 1911. Mr. Sam T. Hodges, Hendersonville, N. C.

My Dear Friend: Your letter to hand in reference to the Hendersonville P. O. building. I write to say that I will do all in my power to secure the appropriation at as early a date as possible, as I recognize the necessity for better mail facilities in your town. I have a great personal interest in both the town and county.

It seems that the people are now realizing the truth of the statement made by me heretofore to the effect that the bill authorized, the erection of a postoffice building, but failed to appropriate the money there for.

The talk now of the necessity of electing a Republican two years from now in order to get the appropriation will have to be changed later, as I expect to get it before that date. Why they did not get the appropriation at this present session now closing is surprisingly strange, and demands much explanation.

I hope that my Democratic friends will remind the Republicans that I established eleven R. F. D. routes in Henderson county, paying to the county $10,000 annually, giving hundreds of families daily mail. Mr. Grant did not establish a single route. The Republicans should also realize that the House will be largely democratic for many years, from this date.

Am always glad to hear from my friends. When I can serve you in any way, command me.

With best wishes, Your friend, J. M. GUDGER.

Glazener's Sale. Bud Glazener has returned from Brevard where he held one of the most successful sales ever held in Transylvania county. Glazener says they cleaned his store out and by Saturday when his sale closed he will have put in an entire new stock of goods. The sale at Hendersonville store begins Friday. Citizens of Henderson and adjoining counties will take advantage of this and come to Glazener's where one of the greatest cut rate sales ever held in Hendersonville is being conducted.

At The First Baptist Church. Services next Sunday morning at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock. Subject of the pastors sermon, "The Rock Upon Which Christ Build His Church." The evening services at 7:45, pastor's subject, "A Christian Provoked." Special music by the orchestra and choir.

quest our superintendent, Mr. Shille to take necessary steps as rapidly as possible to put our county in forefront in this progressive movement. This resolution was signed by the following members present:

J. T. Wilkins, Jr., B. L. Brooks, W. A. Smith, C. E. Brooks, J. C. Morrow, Michael Schenck, F. Z. Morris, Dr. C. Few, Dr. J. R. Williams, P. F. Patton, J. A. Brock, J. T. Jordan, T. L. Durham, K. G. Morris, C. S. Fulbright, R. M. Oats, M. M. Shepherd, Gordon Garlington.

Dr. J. R. Williams presented to the meeting some facts and figures in reference towards inviting the state Medical society to Hendersonville in 1912. Dr. Williams was enthusiastic in his efforts to place before the members the importance in having this prominent organization in conference in Hendersonville. It was unanimously decided to extend cordial invitation to the society, through the county medical society and to appropriate a suitable sum of money to carry out the necessary steps in trying to secure this state society. Hendersonville booklets and other literature will be mailed the members of the state Medical Society in North Carolina.

The same committee of ten citizens appointed to go before the city council and ask the aldermen to appropriate an advertising fund were instructed by the members to urge the importance of having the present city hall remodeled. It was strongly brought out by W. A. Smith and others that Hendersonville could not be without an opera house and city hall. He said that it would be folly to try and sell the town property for anything like it was worth and heartily endorsed the necessary improvements in getting it in modern shape for Hendersonville's new opera house and with appointed offices suitable for the town officials.

MR. BARROWS RESIGNS.

T. R. Barrows, associate editor and business manager of the Hustler has resigned his position with the company, but he retains his financial interests. Mr. Barrows has been closely associated with the Hustler company for the past four years. When Mr. Shipman, the Editor and president became an official of the state Mr. Barrows took active management of the entire plant which he has successfully managed for the past years.

Mr. Barrows resignation will come as a surprise to many of his friends who will regret very much to see him go. During his connection with this paper the town has made many changes towards advancement and many of Mr. Barrows' prophecies of the town's growth have been realized. Mr. Barrows is one of the ablest writers in the state. As a booster, the Hustler has been favorably commented on both far and near. It was Mr. Barrows who pushed the pen and thought the Hustler it is safe to say that many people have been convinced enough to visit the city.

At a meeting of the directors last week Mr. Barrows' resignation was accepted and Gordon Garlington was elected business manager. Mr. Garlington has had active charge of the plant since January 1st and has been with the company several months, previously.

Mr. Barrows is expected this week from Raleigh. He has not announced what he will take up, but it is more than likely he will follow journalistic work which he is particularly adapted to. He has several flattering offers from various papers.

Hutchinson-Mallett.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 27, 1911. The friends in Hendersonville will be interested to learn of the marriage of Mr. Edwin J. Hutchinson, a native of New York, and Miss Gertrude Boucher Mallett of New Orleans. The ceremony was performed at Trinity Episcopal Chapel, New Orleans, on Feb. 25th by the rector, Rev. A. Gordon Bakewell, an aged ex-Confederate veteran and chaplain of the Louisiana Division of the Association of Army of Tennessee, of which the bride's father is a prominent member.

Miss Maude Mallett, sister of the bride, was brides maid and Mr. James Varile, of Chicago, was best man, while little Miss Margaret Mallett, a niece of the bride was ring bearer. After spending the Mardi Gras festival season in New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson left for Ferguson, S. C., where Mr. Hutchinson has for a number of years held an important position with The Santee River Cypress Lumber Company. Mr. Hutchinson is a member of the Hendersonville Presbyterian Church and usually spends his summer vacations there or at Mills River, where he first met his bride who is a sister of Mrs. J. H. King of that place.

The many friends here will be sorry to hear of the death on last Saturday of Miss Lillian Bright, of Kentucky.

Mr. U. G. Staton has returned from Hot Springs, Ark.
