UNITY OF PURPOSE NECESSARY TO GREAT MOVEMENTS

The following address was delivered last Tuesday evening by Mr. M. L. Shipman before the annual meeting of the North Carolina Good Roads Association which convened in Winston-Salem on Monday 13th:

Mr. President and members of the North Carolina Good Roads Association:

Unity of purpose, necessary to the success of every great and beneficial movement affecting the welfare of a people, is certainly essential in road construction. Next to actually having the good roads the most important phase of the good roads problem is a well defined public sentiment for unity of purpose in their construction. Such a public sentiment in this state would mean the dawn of a good roads millennium in North Carolina, and it is coming right along.

Many there are who already see in the Wilmington-Charlotte, the Charlotte-Asheville highways, and the proposed Central Highway stretching clear across the State from Beaufort and Morehead City to the Tennessee line, a cheering sign of this unity of purpose, and who point to the New York-Atlanta highway as a still more encouraging indication of the rapid growth and spread of an idea which means a very great deal for the public roads of this State and country.

The potential value of unity of purpose in road construction is best exemplified, possibly, in the four instances referred to. In the Asheville-Charlotte, the Wilmington-Charlotte and the Central Highway projects, the people of many different counties, in widely separated sections, are working in unity for the construction of highways which shall be of vast benefit to them all. In the

New York-Atlanta highway we see the same idea carried further towards its logical conclusion, which is a National Highway, stretching from sea to sea, with numberless and far-thrown arms, in the building of which a great people will typify the true meaning of unity of purpose for all time to come.

The consummation of these four great highways projected will mark an epoch in the history of the State and show a result greatly to be desired by advocates of better roads for the entire State. I have been advocating such a policy in road construction for some years, as the following extract from an address delivered by me before the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association, held in the city of Asheville, October 5-7, 1909, will indicate:

"Suppose the State were the first to commit itself to a great mountain-to-the-sea turnpike, beginning, say, at Asheville and terminating at Wilmington? Suppose that to encourage the construction of feeders to this great arterial highway it were to issue its bonds in adequate amount, and deposit them with the State Treasurer to be delivered in proportion to bonds issued by the several counties for roads within their borders, planned and surveyed in accordance with the comprehensive suggestion and advice of an expert and far-seeing highway commission? Would not such a plan stir the local pride in each county? Would there not be a rush on the part of the people to obtain their proportional benefit of that for which they would be proportionately taxed? Would the coun-

BETWEEN $7,000 AND $8,000 WORTH OF WHISKEY SEIZED

Under the authority of a town ordinance passed by the commissioners last Friday night, police officers Garren and Maxwell on last Monday afternoon made a raid upon the old Wilson store which has been unoccupied for the past few months, and found in the rear end of the building a large quantity of whiskey, wine and beer. There was 200 barrels of beer, three barrels of whiskey, a lot of champagne and other case goods, the whole amount conservatively estimated to be worth about $7,000 or $8,000.

No opposition was offered the officers when they demanded admittance, although at one time there seemed a likelihood of strenuous opposition. The place was in charge of O. N. Carson, who, however, is but the agent of others, said to be well known Asheville liquor men. Carson was arrested and is under heavy bond for his appearance before Mayor Staton on next Friday, at which time it is expected the identity of the real owners of the liquor will be revealed.

While this is no doubt the largest single haul of liquor ever made in Hendersonville, it does not signify, by any means or any manner of means, if reports are true, that this is all the whiskey that is stored in this town. What the outcome will be at the trial next Friday, and what disposition will be made of the seized goods, no one seems to be able to give the least idea. It is said the owners of the liquor expect to be allowed to ship it out of town without objection from the authorities, which some think would be the easiest way to dispose of the matter. Others, however, are of quite a different opinion and freely express themselves as being in favor of the whiskey being disposed of the same way Asheville did some days ago, by dumping it into the river, and if the owners of the whiskey want to fight it out in the court, let them proceed.

We understand that a plumber in this town told it on the streets that he had been employed for some time in doing a lot of work in the basement of the store room where the goods were found, and the place had all the appearance of being arranged for a first-class bar room.

RETAIL MERCHANTS TO BE WITH US NEXT WEEK

The North Carolina Retail Merchants will meet in this city on next Tuesday, June 20th, and continue up to and through Thursday 22. The Hendersonville branch of the Association has arranged a most excellent program of entertainment, the business men generally subscribing most liberally to the fund for that purpose. All the hotels have made reductions in their rates to the delegates and it is understood that an exceptionally large attendance is expected. The Hotel Gates will be headquarters. The entertainment provided for the state association includes a trip to Laurel park, "the most beautiful natural park in America," on the Laurel park street railway, and a trip to the summit of famous Echo mountain, there via the Swiss inclined railway. A buffet lunch will be served in the Casino at the park.

A trip to Kanuga lake and a boat ride in that pretty artificial lake is on the program for Thursday. Here the merchants will find the largest amusement pavilion to be found at any resort in North Carolina. The building fronts nearly two hundred feet on the lake at a commanding point on the club grounds and has under its main floor shelter and landing place for forty boats. This amusement pavilion, together with an excellent five-piece orchestra just engaged for the season by Mr. George Stephens, the owner of Kanuga lake, will add much to the social pleasure of this famous resort. The North Carolina Bankers' association will be in convention on the same dates the merchants are meeting in Hendersonville.

On Tuesday, June 20, at 8:30 p. m., after the assembling and registration of delegates the convention will be called to order by President Edgar E. Broughton of Raleigh. Prayer will be offered by Dr. R. A. Child, president of the Peoples National Bank. Addresses of welcome will be made by Hon. R. H. Staton, mayor, on behalf of the city; by Col. S. V. Pickens on behalf of the local association; by W. A. Smith, Esq., in behalf of the Commercial club. Dr. Charles Lee Smith of Raleigh will respond to the addresses of welcome.

J. N. McCausland, of Charlotte, will address the convention on "How to increase membership of local associations," after which will come the appointing of committees on credentials and routine business.

On Wednesday, at 10 a. m., will be heard the reports of the state officers, the report of committee on credentials and the appointing of various committees. At 3 p. m. W. F. Eller, state organizer, will address the meeting, there will be heard reports of secretaries of local associations and a general discussion. At 8:30 p. m. Hon. R. M. Simms of Raleigh will talk on "Legislation for the Association."

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock Hon. J. R. Young, state insurance commissioner, will make an important address on "The Merchants' Interest in Stopping the Fire Waste." After hearing various committee reports there will be a general discussion on "The Evils of Overbuying and How to Handle Salesmen." At 3 p. m. Archibald Nichols of Asheville will tell "How to Hold Membership of Local Associations." Then will come the reports of standing committees and routine business. At 8:30 p. m., the concluding session of the convention will occur, the election of officers, the selection of the next place of meeting, followed by a general discussion.

The Palace Theatre

The Palace theater which was opened up for the season last week has received a very flattering patronage and the management feels sure that they are pleasing the pleasure goes in Hendersonville. The show is of the very highest type and is said to be as good as any electric theater in larger cities.

The eight piece orchestra has added much to the attraction of the place. Several nights last week people were turned away until the crowds witnessing the performances could make way for the outsiders.

The ventilation has been greatly improved making it now one of the most comfortable theaters in the city.

COMING REAL SOON; THE HENDERSONVILLE DAILY HERALD

"We certainly could not have a complete season here without the presence of The Daily Herald" said one of the most prominent citizens in the town. This statement was made by a business man who has largely aided the local daily paper in a financial way. When asked about the advantage of the paper as an advertising medium he said, "Yes, I have been one of your advertisers for many years and shall most assuredly continue to be one. The results I received from printers ink last summer would amount up to a great many dollars besides the good my money spent with the Daily Herald did in advancing the town.

Hendersonville has reached the stage when the daily paper is an essential factor in keeping up with the times. This season has already opened with a larger number of people in our midst than ever before at this time of the year.

Without the aid of the business houses carrying advertisements in the columns of the local papers the papers cannot thrive. The subscribers of papers in some towns even go so far as to patronize only the advertisers. It has always been the policy of the Hustler company to advocate the trading with its advertisers.

About the Game Law.

Editor Hustler:

Under the provisions of the Game Law passed by the last Legislature owners of setter and pointer dogs are required to keep them from running at large during the months of the year when the quail are breeding.

This to prevent the wholesale killing of the young birds and the destruction of the eggs of the quail. I construe this time to include the months of April, May and June.

I do not construe the law to prohibit parties from letting the dogs referred to run at large on their own premises, but of course owners in that case take the risk of their dogs getting upon the premises of other parties.

This letter in answer to inquiries made to me,

Respectfully,
H. G. EWART.

Election of Senators by Popular Vote

Washington, June 12.—The Senate tonight, by 64 to 24, passed the resolution amending the constitution to provide for election of Senators by direct popular vote.

The Brislow amendment giving to the Federal government supervision of such elections, was adopted, 44 to 44 the Vice President casting the deciding ballot. The House has already passed the resolution.

Senator Reed of Missouri protested against the Vice President casting his deciding vote. An amendment by Senator Bacon qualifying the Bristow amendment to prohibit Federal supervision of election unless the State Legislature refuse or fail to act was defeated, 46 to 43. The resolution as amended was then finally adopted, 64 to 24.
