Ever notice that a man goes from Summer into Fall headforemost. The first change they make is in their hats.

Many a church member sponges his preaching, but pays full price for his cigars and tobacco.

The air above us is all right. Col. Roosevelt has been up 6,000 feet, and he says so. Many a time his temper has been up higher than that.

Germany tells Sweden that it regrets that Luxemburg should have spoken so plainly about murdering Argentine citizens. The old hypocritical Judas!

The winter tourists will come to Hendersonville if we will go out after them with a glad hand, and as pleasing a smile as we give the summer visitors. We must make their acquaintance; tell 'em about it; and invite them home to dinner, as it were.

The Biblical Recorder has an article on "Daniel in the Lion's Den." It has no reference, however, to our Josephus, the Secretary of the Navy. But there's no doubt about his having been in the den of the military lions; and he came out as did the prophet of old, with credit and profit to himself.

The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun asks this pertinent question: "If a girl should make a mistake and happen to kiss a fellow would it be proper for him to kiss her back?!" You horried thing! No sensible girl wants to be kissed on her back. She wants to look right at the kiss when it happens.

The Kaiser's government offers a reward for the first American soldier taken by its troops. It appears that an ordinary variety of "old field" Iron Crosses is not sufficient inducement. We'd like to see that German that cap-

Can't a submarine be put under the German Senators in Congress and blow some American patriotism into them?

The knitting bag is like the small boy's pocket. It carries a great variety of things other than yarns and needles.

A doctor had been treating him for some time for sleeplessness. The advice given by the M. D., was to the effect that every time he retired to just think about nothing, and he would soon overcome his trouble. Several weeks after the patient was seen, and asked by the doctor how he was getting on. "Fine! I'm cured, I believe. I just kept thinking about what I would pay you, and now I sleep like a log." The doctor's eyes opened to wakefulness.

We overheard a Henderson county farmer say, not more than three days ago, that "Our home-raised seed corn this year was better than the imported." That is encouraging news to our home folks. And it also shows what our home folks can do.

Never let up on boosting Hendersonville. You can never say too much about her. Every letter you write put in something good about your town. Every bill you send out say something in it pleasing concerning our climate or people. All the people all the time, continually and everlastingly hammering away along these lines will soon break the adamantine rocks of indifference and ignorance will get people everywhere talking about Hendersonville and the results will come like the glory of the rising sun, coming over Sugar Loaf mountain to greet the beauties of a beautiful country here situated.

NO "WHEATLESS DAYS" THEY FEED HOGS WHEAT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 22.—While the food administrator is urging the holding of "wheatless" days, farmers in Woods, Blaine and other northwestern Oklahoma counties are feeding wheat to hogs and horses rather than sell it at the price fixed by the government, according to reports of county agents to the state board of agriculture.

Farmers are dissatisfied, according to agriculture authorities, not so much with the price for wheat, fixed by the government, but by the fact that prices on commodities for their consumption were not also fixed.

WHEAT AVERAGED TWENTY-ONE BUSHELS TO ACRE.

Several Eastern Counties Report Surprisingly Large Yield Per Acre.

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—North Carolina's wheat crop just harvested and threshed was on the basis of an average yield per acre of 21 bushels, according to reports on crops in 43 of the counties of the state and the average cost of production was about 63 cents per bushel. The figures that give these results were compiled by State Demonstration Agent C. R. Hudson, of the state department of agriculture, the results on 19 farms throughout the state being based, these representing 1,378 acres of land cultivated.

A notable feature of the figures from which the compilation is made is the surprisingly large average yields reported from 13 of the eastern counties of the state that have not heretofore been considered as wheat growing territory. These figures show averages as follows: Halifax, 27 bushels per acre; Edgecombe, 19; Bertie, 22; Greene, 20; Columbus, 26; Moore, 20; Harnett, 16; Martin, 15; Gates, 13; Nash, 24; Sampson, 43; Duplin, 26.

ANCIENT GREEKS USED DREADED LIQUID FIRE.

New York, Sept. 24.—Many of the weapons used in modern warfare and generally considered by this generation to be the result of the modern scientific age, are not only not the products of contemporary genius, but actually date back in some cases three thousand years.

Among the multitude of antiquated revivals the asphyxiating bomb stands as a good example. This missile has been used by the armies and navies of ancient empires. Probably long before Caesar's time but certainly contemporary with him, it was put to good use by the Greeks, the Romans, the Carthaginians; and the navy of Cleopatra of Egypt used the weapon in several battles, it probably having been introduced by Anthony.

According to existing records, the priority of invention lies with the Chinese. Instead of deadly chemicals it contained materials that emitted a nauseous odor, accompanied by stifling smoke. Later this device was known in Europe and carried the rather inelegant but expressive name of "stinkpot."

Another Chinese war method, used by the ancients and brought up to date by modern armies and navies, is the incendiary shell. They invented a rocket, later adopted and widely used by the Saracens, which fired a kind of missile having claws or hooks that would catch hold of the side of a building or ship and set fire to it. These balls were made of petroleum and niter, which became famous in the later ages as Greek fire.

If you have to build a storage house or cellar this fall, why not make it big enough to accommodate an incubator for hatching early spring chicks?

Other important men have been asked to attend but have not been placed on the program because of the uncertainty and conditions being such that they could not be present.

The sale of pure bred rams will consist of two Hampshires, two Shropshires, two Southdowns and two Dorsets. These have been offered to the extension service by prominent breeders at one-half the regular price. This was made possible because of the nature of the work which is being carried on with sheep in the State.

CORN BREAD HOLDING ITS OWN NOW IN THE SOUTH.

Raleigh, Sept. 24.—That the Southern people are proving, as well as rendering a patriotic service, by their extensive use of corn muffins, corn bread and other corn products is attested by a recent survey of 60 staple articles of food. This survey showed that in actual nutritive value 47.4 cents worth of corn meal now equals $1.00 worth of wheat flour.

Extensive investigations also show that corn products are certainly no less wholesome or desirable for foods than wheat flour. The use of corn meal as a staple food product has been much more general in the South for years than it has been in any other section of the country, and the present campaign of the Food Administration for the substitution of corn and other grains for wheat products is probably having a more perceptible and immediate effect in this section than elsewhere in the United States. Certain it is that the people of North Carolina are responding readily and cheerfully to the suggestion.

SOMEBODY FURNISH A STAMP.

Making a political campaign speech in Statesville last fall, the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, ridiculed the Federal Farm Loan Act and declared, in effect, that if anybody was ever able to borrow a dollar by means of the law he would pay the bill. Some of the hundred of farmers who are now borrowing money at five per cent, on long time, from the Federal Farm Loan banks, some of them right here in Iredell—might drop the Hon. Leslie a line and remind him of his promise.—Statesville Landmark.

"It will be thirty days before we can get points for that plow," a dealer told us this week. Better keep well stocked ahead now.

Don't forget to save the best corn and cotton for next year's seed.

FLETCHER SCHOOL.

Wonderful Showing of First Month.

Honor Roll, Etc.
The first month of the Fletcher graded school gives promise to a very successful and gratifying year. The enrollment for the month was 130 with a daily average attendance of 113. So far as we have been able to find, this is the largest enrollment in the history of the school, and we are hoping that by the aid of our truant officer that our attendance can be kept up.

For the elimination of absences and tardiness, we have adopted the plan of giving as a reward to all children who are neither absent nor tardy during the month, the last half of the last Friday in the month. So for this plan has worked admirably.

The following boys and girls are on our honor roll for attendance this month:

Edward Singleton, Bill Whitaker, Jessie Davis, Glenn Cagle, Sheldon Wilkie, G. L. Taylor, Everett Pitillo, George Robertson, Arthur Walker, Jennie Wolfe, Julian Sorrell, Florence Souther, Tommy Seals, Lois Souther, Earl Pitillo, Myrtle Baldwin, Stella Taylor, Louise Baldwin, Temple Wilkie, Ethel Garren, Estelle Robertson, Josephine Messer, Margaret Lance, Ida Lee Poteat, Ruth Cagle, Mray Robertson, Harry Whitaker, Alma Waler, Jessie Wolfe, Sue L. Maxwell, Inez Sorrells, Cora Lee Davis, Edward Walker, Donald Walker, Ethel Cagle, Levada Cagle, Carroll Sowell, May Davis, Lawrence Walker, Ethel Cagle, Ella Cagle, Janie Lance, Margaret Roberts, Georgia Singleton, Ernest Garrin.

We suggest that some of the other schools of the county try this plan if they have been having any trouble tardiness and absences.

FOURTEEN INDIANS ARRIVE IN COLUMBIA FROM ROBESON.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 25.—Among recent arrivals at Camp Jackson, is a contingent of 14 Cherokee Indians from Robeson county, North Carolina. Two members of the Robeson board number 2, accompanied the Indians here to explain their social status to the cantonment officers. These Indians were formerly called Croatans, their name being changed to Cherokee by legislative enactment and they claim to be descendants of John White's lost colony. They have separate schools and associate on terms of equality with neither white people nor negroes. Their coming here is expected to give the officials another social problem to solve. Another contingent of 25 is due from the same district Tuesday.

Now is the time to get rid of cock-eyes of early spring hatching. If they are of a good strain you can sell them for breeding purposes by advertising.
