

College Girls Asked to Conserve.
Mrs. J. R. Chamberlain, chairman of the Wake county women's committee of the Council of National Defense, in speaking to the young women of Meredith college the other day urged them in the interest of conserving the sugar supply to accept less buy less and eat less fancy candy. She also urged them to cut down on the quantity of sweet things in general.

The talk at Meredith was the first of several that will be made by Mrs. Chamberlain at the colleges.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. Waxed peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter... suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed... the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at... time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at... Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere. We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. THE AMERICAN TROOPS ABANDON BROAD HATS.

They Are Now Wearing Hats Like the Fatigue Headgear the French Army Has Adopted.

American Training Camp in France, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The wide brimmed campaign hats have been abandoned by the United States army for troops actually in the field. In their place hats like the fatigue headgear of the French army have been adopted. Numbers of them have been purchased and hurried to the troops now in the trenches.

The new hat is a sort of fore and aft arrangement made by sewing two heavy pieces of khaki cloth together with the seams front and back and adding to the sides other pieces of material which fold up on the side of the hat, or may be drawn down to cover the ears. The hat is most comfortable. It also can be rolled up to pocket size or worn under shrapnel helmets.

The old campaign hat to fold was cumbersome for troops in the field and officers recommended a change. It was so unwieldy that some of the troops discarded it entirely when they were changing to the shrapnel helmet.

The campaign hat is still worn at billets and in barracks, but many officers are recommending its complete abandonment on the ground that it was designed for service in tropical countries and is unsuited for operations under present conditions.

First in Food Pledge Work.
Washington, Nov. 4.—According to an announcement made by the food administration tonight, North Carolina now stands third in the list of states of the union having the greatest number of families who have signed pledges to conserve food. The reports received at the food administration, including yesterday's returns, showed North Carolina to have the second largest increase for the day, placing the state into third place with total pledges reported of 244,910.

Henry A. Page, food administrator for North Carolina, telegraphed today that the food pledge campaign in that state would not only result in the saving of thousands of bushels of wheat, hundreds of tons of beef and pork products and a tremendous quantity of fats and sugar, but would also have the effect of arousing the people generally to a keener realization of the existence of war and of their duty and opportunities to rservice in helping to win the war.

SOWED A BAG OF SUGAR.

A Davidson county farmer prepared a clover patch carefully a few days ago but decided that it was entirely too dry to sow the seed. He went to town and purchased his seed and fifty cents worth of sugar and carried both packages home and placed them on the kitchen table. About two o'clock that night he awoke and noted that a rain was approaching. Thinking it a fine time to sow his clover seed and let the rain bury them into the ground he arose, grabbed the first package he got hold on and proceeded to scatter the seed as he thought, over the prepared ground. When the job was completed he went back to bed and triumphantly gank into sleep again. But when he had nothing but clover morning which to sweeten his coffee. It was then that he discovered that he had sown sugar instead of seed. And now his neighbors say he is expecting to raise sugar cane next spring.

A HOME ORCHARD ON EVERY NORTH CAROLINA FARM

Plans of the Agricultural Extension Service to place a demonstration Orchard in every township of every county where an agricultural agent is employed will aid greatly in the Thrift Month campaign for a home orchard on the farm, states F. H. Jeter, Secretary to the Thrift Committee recently appointed by Governor Bickett. Mr. C. R. Hudson, State Agent in charge of the Farm Demonstration Work has obtained plans from Horticulturist Hutt in which a good home orchard for the three main divisions of the State have been outlined. Every county agent has been given a copy of the plan drawn for his section with instructions to have one demonstration home orchard in every township in the county. A selection of the very best fruit trees for the section designated has been made and it is the purpose of the Extension Service to have, in each township, such an orchard as any farmer could afford to put out.

In this work the county agent will demonstrate the proper handling of an orchard. The plans are drawn for one acre and one-half acre orchard plots. Only a few of the best varieties of fruit for a given section are used—but these consist of early, medium and late varieties, in order that the home may have some fruit the year round.

After one of these demonstration orchards has been put in each township the county agent will be required to see the proper planting, fertilizing, subsequent cultivation, spraying, pruning and worming. It is not intended that this shall be a commercial venture, as its sole purpose is to further the purpose set forth in the Thrift proclamation to supply fruit for home use as an investment.

It requires very little outlay in cash to put in a small home orchard while the fruit is beneficial to the health of both body and purse. Those who desire to put in one should consult with the county agent or write to the Agricultural Extension Service at Raleigh for home orchard plans.

An Old Man's Stomach.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced aged of 85 or 90, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain pepsin, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

A young man of Boston who had failed to pay his laundry bill endeavored to turn his Chinaman aside from inquiry by an attack upon the Celestial's manner of speech.

"Why do you say 'Fliday, John?'" "Say 'Fliday because I mean 'Fliday,'" replied John stoutly. "No say 'Fliday and mean maybe next week after next week after nex', like Melican man."

A South Dakota State senator recently gave a new illustration of that fine saying of an ancient philosopher: "Man was born for mutual assistance."

A customer entered the small town barber shop.

"How soon can you cut my hair?" he asked of the proprietor, who was seated in an easy chair, perusing the pages of a dime novel.

"Bill," said the barber, addressing his errand boy, "run over and tell the editor that I'd like to have my scissors if he's got done editin' the paper. Gentleman waitin' for a haircut."

At a trial in Baltimore a youthful physician was summoned as a witness, and naturally in the cross-examination a lawyer seized the occasion to be sarcastic.

"Are you," demanded the lawyer, "entirely familiar with the symptoms of concussion of the brain?"

"The young physician replied, "Yes, sir, I am."

Then the smart lawyer put a hypothetical case before the doctor in this way:

"If my learned friend, Mr. Reid, and myself should bank our heads together, would we get concussion of the brain?"

The young physician calmly replied, "Mr. Reid might."

Sandy McTavish was a highly skilled workman in a new aircraft factory. Therefore it happened one day that Sandy was asked if he would care to accompany the works aviator on one of his trial flights in a new machine. Sandy, after some hesitation, agreed to do so.

During the flight the aviator asked Sandy how he was enjoying it.

"To tell the truth," answered the Scot, "I wad rather be on the grun'."

"Tut, tut!" replied the flying man. "I'm just thinking of looping the loop."

"For goodness' sake dinna dae that," yelled the now very nervous McTavish. "I've some siller in my vest pocket, an' Ah might lose it."

Whenever I hear a good new story, says Irvin S. Cobb, or a good old story dressed up in new clothes and well presented by its present sponsor, I say to myself that that's the best story I ever heard. But on second thought I always return to my favorite which is short. Halolwed with memories buffed with rage, and laden with pathos. And that story is the story of a hungry darkey in the Texas town, who heard the noon whistle in the canning-factory blow, and saw the worker-troop forth, tin pails in their hands, and fetched a deep, sincere Afro-American sigh out of the innermostness of his being, and then remarked, half to himself and half for the benefit of any charitable by-standers: "Dar she go! Dinner-time for some folks. . . . but jes 12 o'clock for me."

"Do you ever worry, old man?"

"Never."

"How do you work it?"

"In the daytime I'm too busy, and at night I'm too sleepy."

Food Conservation Prize.

Raleigh—A $50 Liberty Bond has been offered by Mr. J. B. Ivey, of Charlotte, as a prize to the person who submits to him by December 1st the best article on Food Conservation. The article is limited to one fool's cap page of typewritten matter, the length and date being the only restrictions.

The State Food Administration has brought Mr. Ivey's offer to the attention of all County Food Administrators and has urged upon them its possibilities as a means of stimulating interest in Food Conservation.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
