CAPTAIN HOLMES WELL KNOWN IN BREVARD.

Capt. Jas. Hay Holmes, an account of whose death appeared in the Hustler last week, was well known in Brevard. The Brevard News, in telling of his death, says:

Friends here received a message last Saturday morning that Capt. James Hay Holmes had been killed by machine gun fire while leading an attack on the Aisne-Marne front.

Capt. Holmes, who was one of the founders of Camp French Broad, had spent several vacations here and numbered his friends by his acquaintances. He was a graduate of the Citadel and of West Point. He saw active service on the Mexican border and went to France in the first contingent of American forces.

Miss Septima Holmes, his sister, was recently the guest of Miss Eliza Wallis.

PROPOSE TEN PER CENT TAX ON MANY LUXURIES.

WASHINGTON—A ten per cent. tax on retail sales of a wide variety of usually classified luxuries, from jewelry to meerschaum pipes, and from smoking jackets to silken hosiery, was recommended to the full house ways and means committee Monday as the result of Saturday's deliberations of the sub-committee on luxuries. The semi-luxuries, goods which are in the class where it is difficult to distinguish between the real necessity and the real luxury, such as clothing, will be left to a more searching inquiry.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

Hendersonville People Should Act in Time.

If you suffer from backache; If you have headaches, dizzy spells; If the kidney secretions are irregular.

Don't delay — likely your kidneys are sick.

Hendersonville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's a Hendersonville man's experience:

S. J. Collins, Second Ave., says: "I was troubled a great deal with rheumatic pains and kidney trouble. My back would ache severely and my kidneys were all out of order. When I would bend over I could hardly straighten again and I was troubled with dizzy spells and headaches. I tried different remedies but never found anything that gave me relief like Doan's Kidney Pills did. They took away the pains and aches and made me feel better. I always use Doan's whenever I feel this trouble returning."

LIEUT. MALLET WRITES OF ACTIVITIES IN FRANCE.

The following from the Asheville Citizen relative to Lieut. Mallet, nephew of Dr. E. P. Mallet, of Hendersonville, will be of interest to Hustler readers:

The following interesting sketch and letter taken from a recent issue of the Washington Star, in regard to the exploits of Lieutenant Pierre Mallet, will be read with interest by his friends in Western North Carolina. Lieutenant Mallet's father, C. E. Mallet, spends his summers at Etowah, near Hendersonville, and is well known in Asheville and Hendersonville. The article published by the Washington Star was as follows:

Writing from France, Lieut. Pierre Mallet of the 103d Regiment American expeditionary forces, gives a vivid account of an engagement at Xivray, in Lorraine, in which Americans were cited for distinguished service in a French communique.

Lieut. Mallet's father, C. E. Mallet and his sister, Miss Dorothy Mallet, live at 2008 Columbia road.

"My boys were the bravest you ever saw," he writes in a postscript "and they, too, are going to be decorated—what is left of them." The letter follows:

"I know you are worried about me, but I can't help it. I've been through the tortures of hell, in the last week. I've been in a boche attack, and I've seen so much blood and dead men that I'm all upset, but came out of it all without a scratch, just by the grace of God. I think He must have heard your prayers and answered them. The boche bombarded our trenches for four hours, and then used liquid fire. I'm out for the first time for a while. I haven't washed for four days nor have I slept any, so I am all nerves just at present.

"I think I must have held the family name up; I don't know just what I did, but my captain has recommended me for a croix de guerre, and I am to be decorated by the French officials in the next few days. It's all a mystery to me. I am rather mixed up on it yet but hope to find out more later. I know that we gave the boches the worst licking they ever got, and most of them never got back to their own lines.

"I'll write soon. A heart full of love to all, and pray for me."

Lieut. Mallet is a native of North Carolina and is serving with a Maine regiment.

The proceeds will go toward the support of one French orphan for a year.

MANY BENEFITS FROM DIXIE HIGHWAY

The people of Hendersonville should be interested in the fact that Asheville has won a place on the Dixie Highway, for all the advantages which will be secured by Asheville will also be secured by Hendersonville. The following clipping, taken from the Asheville Energy, a monthly organ of the Asheville Board of Trade, tells of some of these advantages:

"The winning of a place for Asheville on the Dixie Highway, and the incorporation of the road from Knoxville to Waynesboro, Georgia, as a part of the great Dixie Highway system is a distinct accomplishment, bringing extraordinary advantages to Asheville that will grow year after year. Already a large number of inquiries as to the route and condition of the road from the west into Asheville is apparent in the mail at the Board of Trade office. During the latter part of May twenty army trucks, big Nash Quad Four Wheel Drive cars, passed through Asheville from the west to Camp Wadsworth, at Spartanburg. A large number of other army trucks and cars have passed over this part of the Dixie Highway to the south and east. An increasing number of tourist cars are coming into Asheville from the west. With the opening of the eastern branch of the Dixie Highway north of Knoxville to Lexington, Ky., a decided increase will be felt as quickly as the opening of that line becomes known. Col. A. T. Sanford, director for East Tennessee, stated at the Chattanooga meeting of the Dixie Highway directors that he fully expected the Eastern branch to be ready for use this fall. A change of route was made, taking away the highway from two counties north of Knoxville, moving the line farther to the west passing through Clinton Coal Creek, La Follette and Jellico, where there is a passable road now. N. Buckner, of Asheville, and T. W. Cothran, of Greenville, S. C., were elected directors to represent the Carolina Division of the Dixie Highway, by which the new addition will be known. When the concrete is finished on the line between Asheville and the Henderson county line and the three miles of asphalt beyond Weaverville shall be completed, there will be about 26 miles of paved road on the Dixie Highway in Buncombe county. The mile and a half of clay road from Ivy bridge toward Blackstock is now being sanded by thirty-eight wagons, and the work will be completed at an early date. Rapid progress is being made on the laying of the cement road toward the Henderson county line, and the county force is now ready to enter the cutoff at Buzbee, which will leave the main road open to Hendersonville for the entire summer. The cutoff is about a mile and a half or two miles long and will keep the concrete force and grading force busy during the busy months of July and August, when the last remaining short link of the main road is to be concreted. It is said this is the only concrete road in the South outside of the incorporation limits of cities."
