

BUD GLAZENER DIED HERE LAST SATURDAY

ONE OF COUNTY'S MOST SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN

Ill About Three Weeks; Had Planned
To Sell Out Big Store; Was Owner of Several Stores.

Giles Monroe Glazener, better known as "Bud" Glazener, one of the most prominent and successful business men of Hendersonville, died at the Patton Memorial hospital last Saturday at noon.

About three weeks previous to his death Mr. Glazener underwent an operation for a carbuncle. His condition grew serious and other operations followed and for several days little hope of recovery was entertained.

Interment was made Sunday at Calvert, Transylvania county, where his father was buried a few months ago. The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by Dr. E. E. Bomar and members of the local Masonic order took charge of the body and carried it to its final resting place, where members of the Brevard Masonic order assisted with the final rites.

Mr. Glazener was 51 years old. He was reared near Rosman; traveled and sold sewing machines at Greenville; and came to Hendersonville and entered the mercantile business about 20 years ago. He was honest, energetic and enterprising and succeeded. He began on a small scale but his business grew from year to year. He kept enlarging. He joined his brothers in business at Rosman. Later opened a store at Brevard and one at Clearwater, Fla. Within the past five years he bought the entire stock of several merchants and for the past few years conducted two stores in Hendersonville, to which place he limited all his business late. Only a few weeks before being taken ill he announced that he was going to sell the department store.

Mr. Glazener was a member of the local Masonic lodge. He became a Shriner at the ceremonial here on July 4. He was a man of good business judgment and strict integrity. He was well known in this county and people called him "Bud." He was a big newspaper advertiser and his slogan was, "Glazener cuts the price and sells the goods." When he wanted to be briefer he advertised that "Bud cuts the price."

One of the characteristics noted by people in general was Mr. Glazener's unusual love for children, and he was naturally attractive to many of them.

"Bud" was not a wicked man, but was of a peaceful and jovial nature and was regarded as a good man and as the world puts it was a successful man, but when he got up against more serious things and time appeared to be growing short he thought upon real serious things and told his friends that he had been a failure because he recognized the fact that most of his life had been wasted. He promised that if he recovered he would be a changed man, join the church and do something in gratitude for the many blessings he had enjoyed. It is a matter of comfort to his friends that he confessed his failure in its relation to Christian duty and declared that he was at peace with his Maker.

Mr. Glazener was never married. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. M. J. Glazener of Rosman, and nine brothers and sisters. He was the first of the family to answer the call of death. His brothers are: Alfred C. Glazener, who has been the right hand man of Mr. Glazener for many years in Hendersonville; W. H. Glazener of West Union, S. C.; B. Frank Glazener of Spokane, Wash.; C. B. Glazener of Rosman. The sisters are: Mrs. W. M. Brown, Walhalla, S. C.; Mrs. Wm. Langhousen, Grace, Idaho; Mrs. Kannie Cobb, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. A. O. Kitchen, Rosman; Mrs. W. E. Shipman, Rosman.

TEAMS PLAY SATURDAY

At three-thirty Saturday afternoon the Hendersonville high school football squad will meet the team from the Carolina Military-Naval academy. Both elevens have been looking forward for several weeks to this game and every player is eager for the contest. A clan and hotly contested game is expected. It will be refereed by Coach Jackson of the Asheville School for Boys.

The line-up of the high school team will likely be as follows:

Back field: Gaither, Rhodes, Roy Williams, Fred Byers, James Hines; Line: Alonzo Gilreath, John Drake, McCleod Manning, Glen Patterson, Everett Brock, Paul Rymer, Chas. Moore.

Manager Zach Bacon has scheduled games with the following teams for November: Weaverville College, Mars Hill College, and perhaps Greenville S. C. High School. A second game will be played with the G. M. N. A., on Thanksgiving Day on the new high school grounds.

C. N. Wrenshall has rented the house of Miss M. S. Willis on Second Avenue and Washington street and he and family are occupying it after spending the summer at the Summer Home.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR RED CROSS ROLL CALL

MAJOR M. SCHENCK ACCEPTS THE CAMPAIGN CHAIRMANSHIP

County Expected to Respond With $5,000; Names of Officers and
Chairmen; Campaign
Nov. 2-11.

Henderson county Red Cross officials and workers are planning for the third annual Red Cross roll call to begin on November 2 and last through the 11th.

Michael Schenck has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign. Henderson county is expected to respond to the amount of about $5,000. The campaign in this county will cover only one day, the latter part of the campaign period.

A report of the millions spent through the Red Cross is given elsewhere in The News.

Mrs. R. P. Freeze as vice chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, in the absence of Mr. Schenck announces the following workers:

Director of speakers, Dr. E. E. Bomar.

Roll call cashier, H. A. Stepp.

Director of men's division, E. W. Ewbank.

Director of women's division, Mrs. W. R. Kirk.

Director of industrial division, C. P. Rogers.

Director of war veterans division, Lieut. Wiltshire Griffith.

Chairmen of District Chapters

East Flat Rock, Mrs. P. H. Walker

Flat Rock, Miss Edith McKellar.

Horse Shoe, Mrs. L. E. Davenport.

Mills River, Mrs. J. H. Burgin.

Fletcher, Mrs. Walter Fletcher.

Bad Cave, Miss Carrie Freeman.

Edneyville, Miss Sue Justus.

Upward, Miss Wilhelmina Ehmann.

Green River, Mrs. J. O. Bell.

Fruitland, Mrs. L. C. Carter.

Bowman's Bluff, Mrs. Mallett.

Etowah, Miss Pink Cash.

LAUREL PARK TO HAVE BIG IMPROVEMENTS

All Roads In Park to Be Widened to 20 Feet To Accommodate Pass- ing Cars; Many Homes Proposed.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR BEACH

With the banner season of 1919 behind it Laurel Park is looking forward to a greater one in 1920 and is making preparations to this end.

Probably the most expensive improvement to be made between seasons is the widening of all the beautiful and winding roadways in the park estate to a width of 20 feet so as to permit cars to pass each other. Most of the roads have been one-way drives.

Within the last few days eleven lots were sold and it is highly probable that six houses will be erected this winter.

T. B. Kernaghan of Batesburg, S. C., has contracted with A. L. Gurley for the erection of a house.

W. M. Sherard, president of the Gren Lowry Manufacturing Company at Charlotte and Whitmore, S. C., was recently in the city and purchased a group of seven lots on which he expects to build.

O. W. Hartness of Orangeburg, S. C., recently bought a lot and expects to build this year.

Every house in Laurel Park was occupied last summer and quite a number of lots were sold.

The price of the lots will soon be advanced. All lots in the park sell at the same price, the buyer being given his or her choice.

Walter B. Smith, who has been conducting the sales of park property, states that plans are under contemplation for the enlargement of the beach and bathing houses in order to accommodate the large crowds who enjoy a bath in mountain spring water. He recognizes the bathing beach as the great attraction that is making the park from year to year a popular place and says improvements will be made to take care of the requirements of those who visit the park and enjoy the bathing.

Mr. Riley has been added to the staff of The News. He will begin his new duties next Monday. Mr. Riley was in the city this week en route to his home in Brevard, coming from Wilmington, N. C., where he has been telegraph editor of the Wilmington Star for several months. Before going to Wilmington Mr. Riley held similar positions on the Spartanburg Journal and the Spartanburg Herald.

The News management learned of Mr. Riley's admirable qualities when the two were associated in labors on the Brevard News about three years ago.

Mr. Riley's efforts will no doubt receive a hearty welcome in Hendersonville as he assists in portraying its progress and the optimistic spirit of a growing community, which has been so marked as to elicit favorable comment from him.

FASSIFERN FACULTY

The News is requested to announce that the Fassifern Faculty will be at home on every Monday afternoon in November from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Sidney Scott, an employee of the Asheville Citizen, formerly with the French Broad Hustler, was a visitor here Tuesday.

A. S. Callmore was up for the week-end with his family. He is engaged in work near Newberry. S. C. His family has moved to the city from Horse Shoe in order to take advantage of better school facilities.

Congressional Candidate

J. SCROOP STYLES

Mr. Styles announces himself for congress. While it is generally understood that Congressman Weaver will be in the race, no formal announcement has been seen by The News.

Mr. Styles is an Asheville lawyer. He says he is going to answer the call of the west for a representative. He is a native of Jackson and Swain, having been born and reared in those two counties. Mr. Styles says he's going to congress, he just feels it in his system. He has already visited all the counties and says he has a fine working organization.

The News is the first newspaper to carry this announcement with the likeness of the candidate.

He is well acquainted with 10th district politics. He managed one campaign for Congressman James M. Gudger.

CLARENCE LATHAM

A. B. RILEY JOINS THE NEWS OFFICE STAFF

Comes From Wilmington Star; Associated With Manager of The News While on Brevard News.

Mr. Riley has been added to the staff of The News. He will begin his new duties next Monday. Mr. Riley was in the city this week en route to his home in Brevard, coming from Wilmington, N. C., where he has been telegraph editor of the Wilmington Star for several months. Before going to Wilmington Mr. Riley held similar positions on the Spartanburg Journal and the Spartanburg Herald.

The News management learned of Mr. Riley's admirable qualities when the two were associated in labors on the Brevard News about three years ago.

Mr. Riley's efforts will no doubt receive a hearty welcome in Hendersonville as he assists in portraying its progress and the optimistic spirit of a growing community, which has been so marked as to elicit favorable comment from him.

FASSIFERN FACULTY

The News is requested to announce that the Fassifern Faculty will be at home on every Monday afternoon in November from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Sidney Scott, an employee of the Asheville Citizen, formerly with the French Broad Hustler, was a visitor here Tuesday.

A. S. Callmore was up for the week-end with his family. He is engaged in work near Newberry. S. C. His family has moved to the city from Horse Shoe in order to take advantage of better school facilities.

CLARENCE LATHAM IS NEW BANK EXAMINER

STATE JOB GIVES $3,000 SALARY AND ALL EXPENSES

Appointment Made by Corporation
Commission; He Will Continue
Business and Residence
Here.

Clarence Latham has been appointed bank examiner of North Carolina and will assume his new duties on November 1. It is understood that the job pays $3,000 annually and expenses.

Mr. Latham will devote the greater part of his time to the work. He will continue his residence in Hendersonville as well as his business, but the Hendersonville Laundry, Ice and Fuel Company of which he is owner, will be conducted by his son, Edgar C. Latham, who has been giving the business his time since Mr. Latham purchased the plant.

Mr. Latham is too well pleased with Hendersonville to think of abandoning it as his place of residence and business and his work will permit frequent visits to his home.

The following from the Raleigh News and Observer will be of interest.

"Mr. Clarence Latham, of Hendersonville, has been appointed Chief Bank Examiner of North Carolina and Mr. C. S. Attmore, of New Bern, has been appointed his assistant.

"Strangely both appointments are made to fill vacancies left by Bank Examiner John Nichols who recently resigned to accept a position as vice-president of the American Trust Company of Charlotte. When Mr. Nichols was promoted to State Bank Examiner from the position of assistant, his office was not filled. Consequently comes the necessity of making two appointments now.

"The announcement of the latest appointments was made by the Corporation Commission yesterday. Mr. Latham, formerly of Plymouth, has had seventeen years banking experience and is regarded as a conservative, accurate and efficient banker. He has been identified with the banking interests of the State and is a successful business man.

"Mr. Attmore is a native of Pamlico county, and has been identified with the First National Bank, of New Bern. He is considered one of the best banking men in that section of the State."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

LOCAL BAPTISTS PLAN FOR 75 MILLION DRIVE

CAROLINA ASSOCIATION TO RAISE $55,000 FUND

Fully 20 Churches Represented in Tuesday's Conference in City;
Outlook Very Bright.

The conference of the 75 million dollar campaign workers in the Carolina association at the First Baptist church Tuesday was declared by the association director, Dr. E. E. Bomar, to be a decided success. About twenty churches responded to his call and sent representatives for the business conference. Following the morning session in which several speakers touched upon various phases of the campaign in an educational and inspirational way, the ladies of the First Baptist church served lunch to all present.

The matter of organization was entered into thoroughly and as a result of reports of conditions in the various churches and the general spirit in which the apportionments have been accepted the outlook is reported by Dr. Bomar as being exceedingly bright.

The apportionment for the Carolina Association, which embraces all of Henderson county and a few churches in the surrounding counties, has been fixed at $55,000. The real campaign will be waged during the first week of December.

Dr. Bomar will furnish The News with the various church apportionments next week.

WARD-CUNNINGHAM

MISS WOODALL TO MOVE

Miss M. E. Woodall will be at home to her customers after November 1, in the Bailey building opposite Bland's Hardware Store.

SERVICES AT SHAWS CREEK

Rev. J. L. Brookshire will preach on next Saturday night at Shaws Creek Baptist church and on Sunday morning following at 11 o'clock.

FALLS AND BREAKS ARM

Mrs. Ella Vaughn, who lives in East Hendersonville, fell down a flight of steps last week and broke both arms.

Equally Hard.

In many cases it is as difficult to stay at the top of the ladder as it is to get there.

HENDERSON COUNTY WINS AT STATE FAIR

GENERAL COUNTY EXHIBIT WON $50 CASH PRIZE

Exhibit in Care of Victor J. Garvin in Addition to Prize Won Noteworthy Attention From Thousands.

The State Fair at Raleigh is now over and Henderson County, took her place among the 100 counties of the state. She did not get the first premium, but did get a $50 cash prize for one of the best and most attractive exhibits.

It was at the 11th hour that the Board of Trade decided to act on Mr. Garvin's suggestion to send an exhibit from this county to the State Fair and because of this fact, it was not possible to get up as good an exhibit as might have been collected had there been more time, but the county did send a good large exhibit of apples and from all account and from what the Raleigh papers had to say about it, Henderson county had an exhibit to be proud of. In addition to the apples and other agricultural products there were in the booth a large number of good pictures of Chimney Rock and other points of interest in the county. Hundreds of people each day stopped to look at these and inquire about the climate and possibilities of the county.

Mr. Garvin, who had charge of the exhibit insisted on taking with him an abundant supply of Henderson county literature and before the week was out had to wire back for more. In addition to handing out several thousand pieces of this literature, he put a liberal supply in each of the large hotels.

Miss Irene Young, who was born and raised in Henderson county, very ably assisted Mr. Garvin in explaining to the crowds the beauties and grandeur of this county in "The Land of the Sky." She had a book in which she asked all who were in any way interested in learning about this county, to register their names and addresses. This book was filled with about 500 names which will make a very good mailing list.

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this purpose. "Next year," says Mr. Garvin, "we should get behind the movement strong and after holding a large county fair in our own county send over an exhibit to the State Fair which will make the counties of the State sit up and take notice. Let us get behind it now."

Another unique feature of the exhibit was a book in which all who were interested in buying apples in any considerable quantity registered their names, addresses, kind of apples desired and the quantity they could handle at one time or per week. This resulted in there being registered over 75 names. The quantity of apples desired ranged all the way from one box to a carload a week. Think what this will mean to local orchard men. It will enable them to enter the markets of the east and compete with Virginia and New York, as well as other sections of this State. The names on this register will be made public at an early date so that local orchardists may write the interested parties.

Henderson county's exhibit at the State Fair this year, which was viewed by about 40,000 people a day, simply shows what can be done if some effort is made. Mr. Garvin insisted on taking the exhibit and the Hendersonville Board of Trade was alive to the possibilities and appropriated the sum of $125 for this