BIG SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE OF NEWS OPENS TODAY WITH ENTHUSIASM

Nominations Coming in Rapidly and Campaign Promises to be Very Interesting; Those Who Expect to Enter Should Send in Nomination Coupons at Once; Those Starting First Have Best Opportunities.

The mammoth subscription drive announced in Monday's issue of The News is officially opened, and quite a few nominations have already been received. Receipt books are being issued to those who have sent in their nomination coupons and many have declared they would get started at once, so prospective candidates who have failed to get in touch with the campaign manager should do so at once so that no time will be lost in getting started.

The many valuable prizes to be given away, the exceedingly short time over which the campaign is to run, the ease with which subscriptions to The News can be taken, and the extremely liberal rules of the campaign, all tend to stir the ambition of any energetic person. Just think—a 1922 model automobile for just a few short weeks' work. Spare time was never before offered such inducements and any ambitious person of this entire section may share in the distribution of the many valuable prizes.

Now is the Time to Enter. There are several popular men and women of this section who if they would but try could easily turn their spare time into money, if they would enter this huge campaign. The period now on is the most important of the entire campaign, as more votes are allowed this week than will ever be allowed again. In addition to the regular schedule of votes, and the extra votes allowed on subscriptions turned in before June 24th, the manager is offering 50,000 extra votes for each five subscriptions turned in up to and including next Saturday, June 10th. This offer will never again be repeated during the entire campaign, and those who get started now will be the ones who stand the best chance of driving away in their own cars in just a few short weeks.

Some of the prospective candidates do not thoroughly understand the rules governing the campaign. These are invited to call by The News office and talk the matter over with the campaign manager, as he is only too glad to explain all details to anyone interested. There is absolutely no obligation attached to sending in the nomination coupon, as anyone can withdraw from the race at any time desired.

Some of those who have thought of entering seem to think that it costs something to enter and try for the prizes. This is a mistake as the campaign is free to anyone with ambition, who would like to win an automobile. One does not even have to be a subscriber to this paper—that's how liberal this campaign is.

Those who have failed to send in their nominations should do so at once as each day lost at this stage of the game makes the chances of winning a capital prize just that much less. Don't wait for some of your friends to send in your name, bring it in yourself, and thus be sure that you won't lose any time. Turn to the full page announcement in this issue and glance over the $2500.00 in prizes, then clip the coupon, and the campaign manager will issue receipt books promptly so that no time will be lost in getting started.

One young lady came into the campaign manager's office last evening and wanted to know if she could enter and then later on give her votes to some other candidate. "Positively not," said the campaign manager. "Once votes are issued to a candidate they must remain issued to that candidate alone, and if the candidate withdraws from the race the votes are dead and can be transferred to no one."

The young lady immediately answered that was just what she wanted to know and that her husband asked her to call and see whether or not the campaign was to be conducted fairly and that now that she saw it was she was determined to give someone a hot race for one of the cars. She wanted the very first books off the press, one for herself and one for her husband.

A very popular school girl of Hendersonville was in one office and wanted to know if one could enter (Continued on Page 6)

James P. Creswell of West Palm Beach Will Be Manager of Kanuga

Kanuga to Be Opened June 20 By Proprietor of Big Florida Hotel, The Poinsetta.

Kanuga Lake Inn and the cottages will open Tuesday, June 20, with James P. Creswell of West Palm Beach, Fla., as manager.

Mr. Creswell is one of the owners of the estate, and he has secured, it is stated, a five-year lease on the property. He is planning for the biggest season Kanuga has ever had, having conducted during the past few weeks an extensive advertising campaign in many of the dailies of this and other southern states.

Mr. Creswell comes to Hendersonville with the reputation of being one of the youngest and most successful hotel men in the country, being now but thirty years of age. He is manager and proprietor of the Poinsetta Hotel, one of the largest and most fashionable hostilities of the southern resort city from which he hails. His rise to success in a few short years reads almost like a fairy tale, but a closer study of his experience reveals the fact that for fifteen years since his start as a storerom boy at Mt. Vernon Springs, N. C., he has worked in practically every department of the hotel world. His experience was in Raleigh and Salisbury, N. C., Florence, S. C., and West Palm Beach.

Claud Cameron, golf professional, who was at Kanuga last year, will be there again this summer in charge of the golf activities. The Kanuga golf course is considered one of the best in the southern states. The course is said to contain 2,300 yards.

GREENVILLIANS COMING FRIDAY TO VIEW CITY

One hundred and twenty-five fall-grown Greenvillians will take a good look at Hendersonville Friday afternoon. They are coming on a special train of four Pullmans, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

Miss Annette Brooks, of the Board of Trade, has constituted herself automobile commander, and a sufficient number of motor owners have told her they would be at the Southern station at 3:30 Friday afternoon, or whatever hour may later develop.

The Board of Trade's board of governors have formed themselves into a reception committee, with J. O. Bell at the head. Acting with him in welcoming the Greenvillians will be Ertle G. Stillwell, C. E. Brooks, King Morris, A. W. Honeycutt, C. F. Bland and F. A. Ewbank.

FURTHER ACTION TO HARD SURFACE ROAD TO BUNCOMBE IS CANCELLED

Further action toward improving and hard surfacing the state highway from Hendersonville to the Buncombe county line was cancelled by decision of the county commissioners Tuesday.

The decision was reached after the board had solicited and received the professional advice of their attorneys, J. E. Shipman and Frank Carter, as to the "powers, duties and legal position of the board in respect of the pending proposals to improve any part or link of the state highway."

The advice of the attorneys, which was made in writing, was based on a provision of the public law and upon a clear statement of the policy of the State Highway Commission in a letter to W. A. Smith, attorney, of this city.

According to a provision contained in the Public Laws of 1921, the attorneys stated, the county commissioners have no right to relocate, reconstruct or improve any part or link of the state highway system. They recognize, however, it was stated, that the action of the board heretofore in their proposal to build a hard surface road from the Greenville county line to the Buncombe county line had been based on the belief that they were acting within their rights and powers, in perfect accord with the

ENEMY THREATENS COUNTY ORCHARDS

Although the frosts did not get the fruit of Henderson county this year the bugs and other enemies of the apple figure on getting it, according to the farmers of the Edineville section.

When Prof. F. B. Harton of Flat Rock described various insect tribes at the meeting of the club Friday night his talk was not over because many of the farmers reported the activities of strange bugs, and other enemies of good fruit. Of course Prof. Harton couldn't name the bugs or the particular species of lice, all of which were strangers to the fruit-growers, but he assured them that proper spraying was the cure. Prof. Harton gave the farmers some sound advice on the subject of fruit and the species of insects that destroy it and the remedy for all such troubles.

Noah Hollowell, who accompanied Prof. Harton, was called on for remarks and he congratulated the club on its strength, its influence and its success with the community fair, for which the members are preparing on a larger scale than ever. He told them that the farmer as a rule needed co-operation more today than ever and through it many of the farmers' problems would be solved. He urged them to content not themselves with a fair, which is good in itself, but to extend its efforts to other lines of endeavor in behalf of the best interests of the farmers.

Routine matters occupied the attention of the club. Many members paid their membership dues, showing that the club has a membership of 273 members with a goal of 300 before the end of the year.
