

SUPT. BROOKS BE HERE DEC. 19

Dr. E. C. Brooks, state superintendent of public instruction, has accepted the invitation of the Hendersonville school board to deliver an address on the occasion of the dedication of the new high school building on the evening of December 19, at 8:00 o'clock at the Opera House.

A musical program under direction of Mrs. Honeycutt and the Hendersonville Quartet will introduce the evening's program.

The rapid progress which has been made in educational circles in Hendersonville recently has attracted the attention of the state department and recognition will doubtless be made of the following accomplishments in connection with the Hendersonville City Schools:

1. Voting of $30,000 bond issue for high school building, with seven-acre campus.
2. Modern equipment of high school building.
3. Introduction of vocational agriculture and installation of equipment as required by Smith-Hughes Act.
4. Domestic science department doubled in capacity and enrollment.
5. Domestic science department for colored schools.
6. Public school music and Americanization studies introduced.
7. Supervised study and supervised athletics.

The new location of the high school makes possible one of the best athletic fields in the state and offers grounds already prepared for the following games:

- Two basketball courts.
 - Two tennis courts.
 - General athletic field for football, baseball and outdoor gymnasium.
- In addition to this ample ground is offered for an agricultural demonstration garden.

The enrollment for the City Schools has gone far beyond the 900 mark, this being about 200 more than ever before enrolled.

These improvements and additional departments are requiring a teaching force of some 26 teachers.

MOREHEAD MANAGER IN MADISON SURE HIS MAN WILL CARRY THAT COUNTY

Asheville, Dec. 10.—John A. Hendricks, of Marshall, who is manager of the Morehead campaign in Madison county, declared in Asheville today that there is no question but that his county will give the Republican candidate for Congress a majority of at least 1,000 on December 16. Hendricks said that the Madison county farmers are displeased with the way things have been going in the state, they have no use for the league of nations, and are anxious to repudiate the administration's extravagances.

"For an off-year election," said Mr. Hendricks, the people of my county have been keener to get to the polls than I have ever seen them. In spite of the fact that there is a large poll tax delinquency, the Republicans will cast a large vote, and should maintain their average majority."

MACE-HUGGINS

On last Sunday 2:30 o'clock, December 7, G. G. Mace and Miss Lura Huggins, the popular and accomplished daughter of John Huggins, of Crab Creek township, were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. P. Corn.

Mr. Mace is engaged in the mercantile business at Bowmans Bluff, where he and his wife will make their home.

The bride and groom are both members of Beulah Baptist church and are very popular in their home community.

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?

H. Patterson received a mail order yesterday amounting to $11.50 from a lady living over two hundred miles from Hendersonville. Along with that order came a part of an advertisement clipped from The Times of last week.

Mr. Patterson had the goods and in less than an hour after the order was received they were on their way.

75 MILLION CAMPAIGN

(E. E. Bomar, Director.)

As director of the Carolina Association I wish to say a few things:

First, reports up to Wednesday of this week show that all the states in the south have exceeded their allotments, except Alabama, Louisiana, Missouri and Southern Illinois. These may yet go over.

The total amount so far reported from all sources is $82,000,000. It will certainly go above $85,000,000.

The quota for North Carolina was $6,000,000. This has been exceeded by nearly one million.

The quota for Carolina Association was $50,000. This was raised voluntarily by the executive committee to $55,000. Up to Wednesday, noon, the total amount reported is $60,007.25. But many churches are still conducting the canvass. Others have not yet reported at all. This $60,007.25 is from only seventeen churches. I know that others are still at work.

Let the good work go on. Let every church approach every member and get either a subscription or a refusal.

Keep on until the work is done; if it takes until Christmas or even later. But "do it now" if at all possible.

I always thought that Carolina would approach $70,000 if not pass it. Pass it, if possible!

Many churches have done nobly. For instance, the First Church went over $26,000; Jones Gap over $1,380, and Beulah over $2,030. The apportionment of Mud Creek was $2,500, they report $3,384. Others have done just as well. Valley Hill got in late, so did Pleasant Hill but both are nearly "over the top."

I will submit a fuller report when the churches have reported more fully.

God's blessings on the workers.

POLITICAL POT BEGINS TO BOIL

The political pot has been only simmering for several months. It has now commenced to boil. The Republican executive committee of the 10th congressional district held an enthusiastic meeting in Asheville Tuesday. In addition to members of the committee, there were present leading Republicans from the various counties of the district.

The meeting was held in the Elk's building, and was presided over by Brownlow Jackson, chairman of the committee.

The committee voted unanimously to hold a convention for the purpose of recommending a candidate to run for Congress in the next regular election, and to choose two delegates and two alternates to the Republican National convention, and also to select an elector for the 10th district.

The committee also selected Asheville as the most suitable place for the holding of such convention. And 10 o'clock in the forenoon of Feb. 7 was decided upon as the time for the holding of the convention.

Former Congressman J. J. Britt, presented the motion to hold such convention. The advisability of adopting the motion provoked spirited discussion by Republicans present in the meeting. Among those who spoke on the motion were L. L. Jenkins, Thomas J. Harkins, John B. Ensley, J. J. Britt, McKinley Pritchard, B. Jackson, C. C. Lissenbee and W. C. Robertson.

After a thorough discussion of the motion the committee voted unanimously to adopt it. A convention of the Republicans of the district will, therefore, be held on Feb. 7, at Asheville, for the purposes above stated.

There are at present a number of receptive candidates for the Republican congressional nomination, any one of whom would make a splendid representative in Congress. And no matter which one of the several candidates receives the nomination, the opposition candidate will have a forerunner worthy of his steel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pace of Saluda, Route 1, were here on business Wednesday.

DEATH OF MRS. J. A. BRYSON

Tuesday morning of this week, just a short while before the sun cast its rays of light from the eastern horizon, Mrs. Sallie Lenore Bryson, of this city, entered into rest. She had been in poor health for quite a long while. In March last she underwent an operation of a serious nature in the hope that as a result of same, she might be restored to health once again. But not so. She never recovered. In fact, she gradually grew weaker until the Grim Reaper visited her Tuesday morning, when the spirit of this good woman was carried away from an earthly place of abode and transplanted in a garden where it will live forever.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. T. W. Taylor, who passed into the Great Beyond several years ago. She was 64 years of age at the time of her death and was born and raised out on the French Broad river, in Mills River township. She was married at the age of 21 to J. A. Bryson, who survives her, and is now a member of the police force of the town of Broadway.

Mrs. Bryson had lived here since shortly after the close of the war between the states, and was well known by most all of the older people of the community, as well as many of the younger ones. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Macabees and the U. D. C.

The deceased leaves surviving, besides her husband, J. A. Bryson, two brothers, Jerome Taylor, of Cannon City, Colorado, and John Taylor, who resides in Canada; also one sister, Mrs. Flora Lincoln, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the following children: S. Y. Bryson and Mrs. Norma Sandifer, both of Hendersonville. One daughter, Mrs. Maud Bryson-Heffner died some years ago. Two brothers, Pierce and Avery, both of whom resided in Texas, also died some years ago.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in this city by Rev. J. F. Ligon, the pastor, and interment followed in Oakdale cemetery. Thos. Shepherd officiated as funeral director.

A large number of the friends and neighbors of the deceased were present at the funeral and burial to pay the last sad rites to one whom they had so well and favorably known during all the years she had resided amongst them.

The grave was covered with beautiful flowers as a token of love from many friends.

"And though a dear mother is taking her rest, There is another day when hearts will be forever bound, With chords of love that never break."

N. D. HOLLINGSWORTH

N. D. Hollingsworth, a well-known citizen of Flat Rock, died Saturday night of heart disease, with which he had been afflicted for quite a long while. Funeral services and interment occurred at Mud Creek Baptist church Sunday afternoon. A large number of the friends and neighbors attended the funeral and burial, thus attesting the esteem in which the deceased was held by those who knew him best.

Mr. Hollingsworth had conducted a lively business at Flat Rock for several years, and had met with good success up to the time his health failed him. He was a good citizen and will be missed in the community where he had resided most all his life.

The deceased was twice married. Four children were born to the first union and one child to the second.

To the widow and children who survive much sympathy is extended in this hour of their sorrow and bereavement.

"THE MIRACLE MAN"

Today beginning at 1:30 o'clock and closing at 10:30 o'clock tonight "The Miracle Man" will be shown at The Queen Theatre. This is a real romance showing the things of life as never shown before. This play is said to be one of the great pictures of the age.

SECOND LYCEUM COURSE DEC. 13

On last Friday evening at the Opera House about 500 people enjoyed the Canadian De Mille Quartet, as the opening number of the Hendersonville Lyceum Course.

Enthusiastic and repeated encores of practically all of the numbers indicated the unanimous approval of the audience. Notwithstanding the fact that the first and second tenors, M. J. Baker and Ernest Hazeltine, recently joined the quartet, the en-semble work was that of real artists.

The solo work of Alfred J. Atkinson, basso, and Hartwell De Mille was exceptionally good. The work of Miss Hilda Buckingham was greatly enjoyed and displayed not only technical skill but a decided wealth of temperament.

The next number of the Lyceum Course will be given by the Florentine Musicians, Saturday evening of this week at the Opera House.

In the absence of the Fassifern girls it will be possible for the management to accommodate at least seventy-five additional season ticket holders or general admissions.

This trio of sterling artists, especially organized by Andrew Vissochi to present the best in the field of novelty music and entertainment will doubtless prove one of the most popular numbers of the course.

The musical centers of the world know Vissochi as one of the greatest masters of the concert accordion. In his hands this instrument becomes a symphony orchestra, a military band, or a crashing chorus. His repertoire knows no limitations and his supporting artists, Olga Capucco, violinist, and Rosamond Wright, pianist, have won laurels in the realm of music on extended concert tours.

Miss Ethel Sudlow of Rutherford county has accepted a position as teacher in the graded school here.

WORK ON NEW CHURCH BEGUN

Immediately after the Sunday morning service, which was conducted by Rev. R. V. Miller, the members of the East Hendersonville Baptist church held a business meeting. It was officially stated by D. S. Pace that work on the new church had begun in earnest. Mr. Pace also gave an outline of the plans of the new church, which when completed, will be a brick veneer building 60x72 feet, with three Sunday school rooms and a gallery. The church will have a seating capacity of eleven or twelve hundred people.

C. S. Fullbright, who acted as chairman of the meeting appointed two committees to canvass the entire church membership for the purpose of securing building funds. The committees were composed of the following: Mrs. T. B. Gannon, Miss Manda Ramsey, Miss Alma Freeman, L. J. Pace, Finley Pace and T. J. Hyder. The committees are preparing to begin their work at once.

The building formerly owned by the Baptist was sold several months ago to the Wesleyan Methodist and since that time both denominations have been holding services in the same building. This plan will continue until the Baptist are able to move into their new church.

MURRAY-JORDAN

A wedding with a tinge of romance was solemnized Wednesday night in Florence, S. C., when Guy Jordan, son of C. C. Jordan, Hendersonville, Route 3, and Miss Mayo Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Murray of Horse Shoe, were united in marriage.

Mr. Jordan holds a position in Lumberton, N. C., and Miss Murray held a position in Charleston, S. C. By arrangement the contracting parties met in Florence where the marriage vows were said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will make their home at Lumberton. They are both from Henderson county where they are well and favorably known. Miss

MOONSHINE STILL RAIDED

Monday afternoon a S. O. S. call was sent in to the sheriff's office from the northeast section of the county. The man sending in the call appeared to be much excited but deputies at the sheriff's office finally understood the message. It ran something like this: "Bring ten men, well armed, a big blockade still being operated by about fifteen men on back of Big Bear Wallow."

In the absence of the sheriff, who had gone to Raleigh on official business, a couple of his deputies undertook to get ready to respond to the call for help. They approached several men here in town and told them that a big blockading outfit had been located near the Buncombe county line in the northeast part of the county and that the services of at least ten men were needed to raid it. Each of the men approached by the deputies was asked to go along and help destroy the booze-making plant and, if possible capture the operators. But they all, with one accord, told the deputies they would like very well to go along, but they were just too busy and had too many other engagements to fill at that time to even think of going.

The two deputies, after making vain efforts to get the ten men wanted, or any men at all, to go with them, responded to the S. O. S. call themselves. They proceeded to the place where the man making the call said they would find him. When they got there they found a sure enough excited man armed with a shot gun. He informed the officers as to the location of the still. Plans were then laid as to how the raid should be made. The three men proceeded to the place where the still was said to be located on Bear Wallow. When they got near the place they divided, one going below the plant, another above it and the other at another point where it was thought the operators might attempt to make their escape. Before the men got the plant surrounded, however, an alarm was given and the operators of the still left the premises in great haste, leaving behind them a gun or two and other paraphernalia. None were captured, but the officers managed to identify them, or most all of them, and warrants for their arrest will probably be issued right away.

The officers cut up the still, which was a brand new copper of large capacity, and bursted up and burned the fermenters which contained thousands of gallons of beer just ready for distillation. The plant was in full operation, having just been started. About a half gallon of spirits had run out when the officers arrived. The plant, the officers state, was the largest blockading outfit they have ever seen. Its destruction, they say, entailed a loss of about two thousand dollars to its owners, and doubtless will limit the Christmas joys of a very considerable number of people quite materially.

WM. J. HARPER

William Jones Harper, son of G. C. Harper of New Castle, Penn., died here Sunday of tuberculosis. The remains of the young man were shipped Monday to the home of his parents in Pennsylvania for interment. J. M. Stepp was officiating undertaker.

Shortly after young Harper entered the service tuberculosis developed. After he obtained a discharge from the service, his father brought him to this climate in the hope that his health might improve, but the malady with which he was afflicted, had laid too deep a hold on him and he gradually grew worse until he passed away Sunday.

FREEMAN-DOTSON NUPTIALS

On Thanksgiving Day Glenn Freeman and Miss Eva Beatrice Dotson, both of Bat Cave, were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. R. P. Corn at his residence, Hendersonville, Route 2.

The wedding was a very quiet affair, only a few special friends being present to witness the ceremony. Mr. Freeman was in the military service and only recently received an honorable discharge. Mrs. Freeman is well

FUEL ORDER RESTRICTIONS

Following is a summary of interpretations of fuel consumption regulations made by the regional coal committee in response to questions raised:

Wholesale and manufacturing druggists, manufacturing opticians, grinding to prescription and wholesale manufacturing and retail surgical instrument and dental houses are considered as having the same exemption as provided for drug stores.

2. All restrictions placed upon the use of coal apply to the use of coke.

3. To prevent any possibility of misunderstanding, the committee states that plants, stores, and offices open outside of hours, fixed by the regulations may use oil lamps, candles, gasoline, or other means of lighting or heating in the production of which coal, gas, or wood are not used.

4. Soft drinks, candy, tobacco, fruit, and periodical stands located in drug stores, hotels, restaurants, railroad stations, pool rooms, bowling alleys, or other places which are exempted from closing regulations or for which special hours are fixed may do business at any time provided no additional light, heat, or power produced by wood, coal, or gas is used for the purposes outside of hours prescribed.

5. Stores exempted, or for which special hours are provided may at any time sell any goods in their stock provided no lights are thereby required in addition to those used for the sale of food, drugs, or other things covered by exemptions.

Chemical laboratories are classed as industries engaged in continuous processes.

7. Offices of physicians, surgeons, dentists, and others practicing similar professions are not subject to any of the restrictions.

Additional modifications to the original regulations, the necessity for which has been pointed out, are hereby made effective at once as follows:

1. All departments of coal mines, with offices and commissaries incident to their operation are exempted.

2. Garages and auto filling stations may operate outside of hours fixed for mercantile establishments for storage and for the sale of gasoline, oil, and accessories and for emergency repairs, provided only safety lights are used for the purpose.

3. Churches, schools, fraternal orders, clubs, and charitable, religious and community service organizations are not subject to the regulations.

4. Chambers of commerce, civic committees, merchant organizations, and other such bodies are not subject to the regulations."

REGIONAL COAL COMMITTEE.

(Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.)

"There is now a duty which Congress should perform promptly and unanimously when it shall come together again a little less than a fortnight hence, and that is to pass a concurrent resolution declaring that the war is terminated and that the United States is in a state of peace."
