P. A. B. WIDENER. Philadelphian Pays Over $500,000 For a Painting.

Widener Pays $500,000 For "The Mill" The report from London that Peter A. B. Widener had purchased "The Mill" was confirmed at Mr. Widener's office in Philadelphia. The price paid, it was said, was slightly in excess of $500,000.

Prior to the sale of the celebrated Rembrandt by Lord Lansdowne, an option was given until March 31 to the trustees of the British National Gallery. A private subscription to keep the painting in London had netted only $89,240 when the option expired.

Lincoln's Letter Saves Her Job. Forty-seven years ago Abraham Lincoln paused in the care of the Civil War for one of those kind and homely acts which have lived after him.

Secretary Cullom brought the letter to Secretary MacVeagh, who promised that Miss Dugger may have her old position if she is ever able to work again. She is now seventy years old.

Martin to Lead Senate Democrats. United States Senator Martin, of Virginia, was elected chairman of the Democratic caucus of the senate.

Mr. Martin got twenty-one votes, as against sixteen cast for Benjamin F. Shively, of Indiana, three senators being absent—Shively, of Indiana; Tillman, of South Carolina, and Terrell, of Georgia.

Senator Martin is a conservative and was opposed by the friends and followers of William J. Bryan and certain so-called "progressive Democrats" led by Senator Stone, of Missouri, and Senator Owen, of Oklahoma. It has been said that the peerless leader himself has been active against the Virginian.

The election of Martin is a victory for the Baileys wing of the Democracy in the senate. All of the Democratic senators except Chilton, of West Virginia, and John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, voted against Martin.

SECOND CALL TO UNSEAT LORIMER

LaFollette Moves For a New Investigation.

FOLLOWS BRIBE EXPOSURE

Introduces Resolution Naming the Committee to Investigate Again the Election of the Illinois Senator.

Senator LaFollette introduced a resolution in the U. S. senate for a new investigation of Senator Lorimer's title to his seat. The resolution, which was ordered printed and to lie on the table, follows the revelations at Springfield as to a $100,000 "slush fund." It cites the fact that material new testimony has been brought out, and names as a special committee of investigation Senators Wilkie, Townsend, McLean, Kern and Pomeroy.

The resolution recites the action of the senate last session in failing to declare the seat of Senator Lorimer vacant and adds: "It appears from the published reports of the proceedings of the said Illinois state senate committee, that witnesses who were not called and sworn by the committee of this senate appointed to investigate said charges, have appeared before the said committee of the Illinois state senate and upon being interrogated have given important material testimony tending to prove that $100,000 was corruptly expended to secure the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate."

The resolution provides for meetings of the committee and gives to it full authority to subpoena persons, send for papers and administer oaths. It is expected that an effort will be made to have the resolution referred to the committee on privileges and elections, of which Senator Dillingham, of Vermont, will be the new chairman. The Vermont senator voted last session against the resolution to unseat Mr. Lorimer.

Never before in the history of the senate has an individual member sought to name a committee of investigation. When special committees have been named for any purpose the personnel has been selected by the vice president or the senate itself. In the latter instance the committees invariably have been sub-committees and standing committees.

Let us have a good delegation at the Union meeting at Ashten next Sabbath and Saturday before. Our cause in this section needs our encouragement and cooperation.

Judge Gray Against Income Tax.

Judge George Gray, of Delaware, believes that the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for an income tax is a menace to the rights of the states. In a letter written by him to August G. Fox, in New York, he discusses the subject at length and comes to the conclusion that a tax of this kind levied by the federal government must be double taxation, unless the states give up the power to levy income taxes.

On this part of the subject he has this to say: "The proposed amendment is not a mere grant of power to the federal government. It is a practical surrender of the power heretofore reserved to the states. What the states give in this instance they practically deprive themselves of, for, as I have pointed out, it is not a mere sharing by the states of this power with the general government, as the necessity of avoiding an oppressive double taxation would make it necessary to the states to yield to the paramount authority of the national government. I think, therefore, Governor Wilson, for whose opinion I have the highest respect, was mistaken in his short message to the legislature of New Jersey in saying: "They (the states) will thereby be sharing with the federal government one of the few powers of taxation which under the latest decision of the supreme court of the United States in that matter they may now regard themselves as entitled to exercise to a certain extent exclusively."

Police Spoil Triple Elopement.

Three men and three women, who had eloped from their homes in the vicinity of Alexandria, Va., were taken into custody by the York, Pa., police. The genuine husbands have been notified and are expected to prefer charges against the men who stole away their wives. The women are very attractive, and all of them left good homes, one deserting her husband and five little children.

The prisoners are Mrs. William Powers, Mrs. Samuel Harrington, Mrs. J. H. Crawley, Eugene Crawley, Patrick Woodward and Forest Oshley. The triple elopement is admitted by the prisoners, the women declaring they had become tired of their monotonous lives in Virginia and intended to travel for awhile about the country and eventually go upon the stage.

Bryan Rejects Offer of $2,000,000.

William Jennings Bryan told the committee sent to Washington by the citizens of Memphis, Tenn., to invite him to make his home in that city that he could not accept.

Judge James M. Greer, of Memphis, chairman of the committee, presented the Memphis idea. He was followed by Senators Lea and Taylor and Representative Gordon, of Tennessee; Representatives Sisson, of Mississippi, and H. C. Stephenson, of Alabama.

Religion is the binding of the heart, the soul to God.—Rev. W. P. Lyon.

and Robinson, of Arkansas, and Duke C. Bowers, of Memphis. They begged Mr. Bryan to come where "the people loved him, where he would always find friends." Mr. Bowers said he felt sure that Memphis could easily raise $2,000,000 if that would be any inducement to have Mr. Bryan in his city.

Mr. Bryan replied that it was not a money consideration and that if he looked at it in that light he would not be worthy of such an invitation. He said that he knew he had friends in the south that would stand by him, and that was why they did not need him there; they needed him more in the north. Suggesting that he should not be on one side of the country, he said his home at Lincoln is almost in the center of the country and only two days' ride to any section where he might be needed to help fight for the cause of Democracy.

Receiver For a Church.

The court appointed a receiver for St. George's Catholic church, of Shenandoah, Pa., a parish which has 8000 members and is the largest congregation in that section.

The receivership is the result of an equity suit brought by the late Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, to compel the officers of St. George's to submit to his authority.

The congregation took the position that they would recognize the archbishop and the priest appointed by him in all spiritual affairs, but they claimed that the law of Pennsylvania gives every congregation the right to manage its own financial affairs.

Millionaire Publisher a Suicide.

After listening to the tragic story unfolded by the opera "Quo Vadis," in which two of the characters in the last act end their difficulties by self-destruction, Craze Lippincott, sixty-five years of age, millionaire president of the J. B. Lippincott company, publishers, of Philadelphia, left the Metropolitan Opera House and returned to his home at 215 South Nineteenth street. In the morning he was found dead by his valet in bed, with a bullet wound in his right temple.

Woman Bandit Robs Store.

Hiding a revolver beneath a long black veil which she wore, a woman entered and robbed a grocery store in Washington.

Pointing the weapon at the young woman clerk and at another woman who was in the store at the time, the robber ordered them out, opened the cash register and made her escape before the police from a station house two blocks away could arrive.
