MISS DOROTHY WHITNEY.

Is Engaged to Wed Willard D.
Straight.

Miss Dorothy Whitney to Wed.
Harry Payne Whitney made formal announcement in New York city of the engagement of his sister, Miss Dorothy Whitney, to Willard D.
Straight, of Oswego, N. Y., formerly United States consul general to Mukden, Manchuria, and at present connected with the railroad interests of the Morgan, Kuhn-Loeb and National City bank alliance.

The wedding will take place in the fall and is expected to be an elaborate affair, besting a young woman who is worth more than $6,000,000 in her own right. It will follow a romantic and picturesque courtship.

Kills Wife by Mistake.

Thinking his wife was a burglar, George Golden, a merchant of Wickbora, adjoining Kittanning, Pa., shot and killed her during the night. The half-crazed husband is under the care of a physician.

Golden had bought a revolver because of the many thefts committed in the vicinity of his home recently.
When he was aroused from heavy sleep by his wife pulling down a window in their room he reached under his pillow and, finding the weapon, fired. He discovered his error when he stumbled over her body.

Evangelical Work Pays.

William A. Sunday, quondam professional base ball player, now professional revivalist, closed the evangelistic session of 1910-11 in Erie, Pa., the other day $70,570.10 to the good as a result of his year's work.

This return for about ten months' work, more than the president of the United States has drawn for the same time, is evidence that from a monetary standpoint evangelistic work is more profitable than playing professional base ball. Sunday recently refused an offer to go back to the majors once more at $500 a month.

Population Center Moving West.
The center of population of the United States is four and one-quarter miles south of Unionville, Monroe county, Indiana, according to a census bureau announcement.

Since 1900, when it was six miles southeast of Columbus, Ind., it has moved thirty-one miles westward and seven-tenths of a mile northward. The westward movement was more than twice that of the 1890-1900 decade.
This acceleration of the westward movement is attributed by census officials principally to the growth of the Pacific and southwestern states.

Hog Chews Off Boy's Foot.

A most distressing accident happened at Upper Cross Roads, near Havre de Grace, Md., which will permanently make a cripple of life Leroy, the nineteen-months-old son of Thomas Cheneworth, who wandered away from the house to the pig pen and climbed up the side with his bare feet, when a vicious hog caught the child's right foot and chewed it off at the ankle. Dr. Bradley was summoned and had the child taken to a Baltimore hospital, where the leg was amputated below the knee.

Married Over the 'Phone.

Marriage by telephone, with the officiating clergyman in one place, the bridegroom in another and the bride in still another, was made possible in Coln, Iowa.

Rev. H. B. Minton, sitting in his study, united in marriage George Prentice at his home in Northboro, and Miss Mary DeWitt, in Blanchard, Coln is five miles north of Blanchard and Northboro, three miles west of Blanchard, is about the same distance from the pastor's home.

Live Stock Infected by Hydrophobia.

A horse on the farm of John Taylor, near Rising Sun, Md., became a victim of rabies and ferociously assaulted another horse and a mule, bitting them in the neck before being shot. Three hogs, two dogs and a cat and a number of chickens have been the victims of hydrophobia and were shot within a period of two weeks, all the result of a pet dog of the family being affected with the disease for several weeks before it became known.

Meat Wave Melting Alaska Glaciers.

A heavy wave struck Alaska, the temperature in Valdez rising to 80 degrees. The warm weather is melting the glaciers and the streams fed by them are unusually high. Gangs of men are working to save the bridges leading to the mines.

WHY DO THEY

The trite saying, "a question is never settled until it is settled right," is more worthy of notice than is usually given it. The liquor men claim they are going to settle the liquor question by regulation, but hundreds of years of failure to regulate shows any mind whose gray matter has not been poisoned by alcohol that this is not the right settlement. If prohibition is such a failure why does every class of liquor men light it so vigorously?—Alabama Citizen.

ARREST HUSBAND IN MOTOR MURDER

Henry Beattie and Cousin Are in Custody.

ANOTHER WOMAN INVOLVED

Cousin Admits Buying Gun Used in Killing Mrs. Beattie—Attempts Su- icide in Jail.

Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was arrested in Richmond, Va., after his cousin, Paul Beattie, had admitted having bought the gun with which Mrs. Beattie was killed. Paul Beattie was also arrested.

Paul Beattie attempted to commit suicide following his arrest and he was taken to a hospital under guard, suffering from convulsions.

Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., told a coroner's jury his story of the murder of his wife by an unknown man accosted on the road while the couple were driving their automobile several nights ago on the Midlothian turnpike.

Beattie's counsel stated that the young man knew he was suspected by the authorities of having had a hand in the crime, and declared they would not object to any line of questioning the state might desire to pursue, and maintained that their client would prove his innocence. Beattie, on the other hand, is being rigidly adhered to his first story of the affair.

Beattie was the first witness heard, the line of questioning indicating a belief by the state authorities that his wife was killed in the road, where the large bloodstain was found, instead of in the automobile.

Inquiry for the clothing worn by Mrs. Beattie brought out the fact that it had been burned by her family, who, it was explained, wished to destroy a grewsome reminder of the tragedy.

The inquest was delayed while the police authorities conferred about this and was further delayed while the elder Beattie and his son's counsel were driven to the scene of the murder, so that the lawyer could satisfy himself as to the position of the blood-stained earth with relation to the track of automobile travel.

Beattie was closely questioned, his counsel throwing up all barriers by declaring that the young man was well aware he was suspected and was ready to maintain his innocence.

Beattie was on the stand for more than two hours, and in spite of all tests, such as the reconstruction of the scene at the moment of the crime, stuck to his original account of the tragedy.

Another important witness was expected to be Beulah Binford, a woman with whom Beattie is said to have recently associated. Much of the testimony at the inquest was expected to turn upon the relations between Beattie and his young wife.

Aldrich Denies Lorimer Story.

Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, told the senate committee of the part he and President Taft took in the election of a senator from Illinois in 1909.

Instead of telling Edward Hines, of Chicago, the storm center in the present Lorimer investigation, that he and the president were anxious to have Lorimer elected, Mr. Aldrich declared that he had never discussed the matter with Lorimer's candidacy was "not objectionable."

When attorneys for Lorimer, on cross-examination, tried to show that the former senator might have said "acceptable," Mr. Aldrich emphatically declared that he said "not objection- able," and that he meant that word and nothing more. He added that he knew Hines would use the information given him at Springfield. Mr. Aldrich also testified he had told Hines that he considered Lorimer the only man who could be elected. He declared that he did not ask Senator Penrose to bring Hines to consult with him in regard to the Illinois election, and added that he did not believe Senator Penrose brought Hines to his room.

According to Aldrich, all the con- versations he had with Hines in re- gard to the senatorial situation were regarding the attitude of the for- ward candidates, first Hopkins, then Buttel, and finally Lorimer. The sen- ator denied that he told Hines he wanted a senator elected because of the prospective close vote on the taft. Publicity for Campaign Cash. The senate amended and passed the bill providing for publicity of contribu- tions to and expenditures in political campaigns. The vote was 50 to 77. The negative votes were all cast by Democrats from the south. The bill in its amended form pro- vides for publicity, not only before and after elections, but in the case of pri- mary as well as general elections. It applies both to candidates for the United States senate and nominees for the house of representatives. The bill has been passed by the house and will now go to conference. The present publicity law provides only for a state- ment of expenditures after elections and does not apply to candidates for the senate. An amendment offered by Senator Reed, of Missouri, aroused much in- terest. It seeks to put a limitation on the amount of money that every candi- date for senator or representative may expend and in other ways broadens the scope of the bill. The Reed amendment would require that the total amount of money expended by any candidate to influence an election shall not exceed ten cents for each voter, and that he shall not be permitted to expend a sum in excess of what is lawfully allowed by the legislature of the state in which he is a candidate; that a candidate for United States senator shall not contribute any money in aid of the election of a member of the legislature of his own state; and that in no event shall a candidate for the United States senate expend more than $10,000 or a candidate for the house of representatives more than $5000 to influence his election.

Lewis Strang Killed.

Lewis Strang, of Racine, Wis., the automobile racer and aviator, was killed at Blue River, Wis.

Strang was driving a car in the state reliability tour, the machine jumping an embankment. Strang was in charge of the machine carrying the technical committee.

While going along at good speed the machine encountered a passing team. In endeavoring to get out of the way the car jumped a bank and the famous driver lost his life.

Three others in the car jumped and escaped practically uninjured. That Strang deliberately was inviting death on the run was the opinion of his associates on the tour when the party left La Crosse. Since leaving Milwaukee, Monday, Strang is said to have been so reckless that some who had started with him in his car refused to ride with him.

Government Again Sues Coal Roads.

The government will renew the fight to take from the great coal carrying railroads their virtual control of mines, and thus vitalize the commodities clause of the interstate commerce law.

A test case against the Lehigh Valley Railroad company was filed in the United States court in Philadelphia.

That the Lehigh Valley Coal company, Coxe Brothers, Inc., the New York and Middlefield Railroad and Coal company, and the Locust Mountain Coal and iron company are not bona fide coal companies, but merely adjuncts to the Lehigh Valley railroad, and are "devices for evading the commodities clause," is the government's principal complaint. It is also alleged that the Lehigh Valley railroad, with the object of removing competition, has caused the Lehigh Valley Coal company to contract at a loss for the output of its anthracite operations, and has transported the coal over its own lines and through the coal company fixed the price in New York and other markets.

West For Woodrow Wilson.

That the west is almost solidly for Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic presidential nominee in 1912, is the emphatic opinion of John H. Hineon, former superintendent of public instruction of Arkansas, who has just returned to Little Rock from an extensive tour of the western states.

Not only in Wilson considered the logical candidate by the Democrats of the west, says Mr. Hineon, but William Jennings Bryan is still a factor to be considered, not as a presidential candidate, but as a force that must be reckoned with in the selection of a candidate.

"I have been over much of the west," said Mr. Hineon, "and find very little sentiment for any man as a presidential possibility on the Democratic ticket except Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey. And it does not require a search to find this sentiment, for it is in a sense sticking out everywhere and one can hardly avoid finding it."

Philip Dusch, a resident of Brady township, near Dubois, Pa., died with- in thirty minutes after being stung by a honey bee. Mr. Dusch went out to place a cap on a hive and was heard to call. His wife rushed to his side in time to see him fall. Before dying Dusch said he had been stung only once on the point of the jaw. He was sixty-two years old.

Woman Aviator Killed.

Denise Moore, who is described as an American sportswoman, resident in Algiers, was killed at Henry Fillman's aviation school at Mermoulon, France.
She fell a distance of 120 feet. Miss Moore was trying for a pilot's license.

Two Drown Changing Seats.

Changing seats in a rowboat cost the lives of Carl Gilt and Matthew Hillstein in the Chicago river. Life savers rescued the third man, Alvin Mathis, who was found clinging to the overturned craft.

SOLVES A GOOD MYSTERY.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote J. B. Rader, of Louisville, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years.
It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try

TWO DIE IN SUICIDE PACT

Man and Wife Dress in Wedding Clothes Drink Poison.

WERE FOUND DEAD IN BED

Society Leaders End Their Lives and Leave Instructions to Be Buried Be- side Their Children Without Funeral Services.

Clasped each other's arms and dressed in their wedding clothes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. C. Crans, prominent residents of Middletown, N. Y., were found dead in bed at their home.
They had been dead since last Wednesday and their bodies were in a terrible condition. On a chair beside the bed were two glasses, which had apparently contained carbolic acid. On the same chair hung Mr. Crans' coat.
The indications were that the poison had been prepared in another room, carried into the bedroom and drunk, after which the couple got into bed and, wrapping their arms around each other, awaited death.

Mr. and Mrs. Crans had been prominent socially for many years. Mr.
Crans having been formerly editor of the Middletown Daily Press. He was also prominent in Republican politics for many years.

When the bodies were first discovered it was thought that it was a case of murder and suicide, but later, when two letters enclosed in one envelope, were discovered, it was found that the couple had died as a result of a suc-cided pact, had been in their beds since March 16, 1911, at least, for one of the letters bore that date.
The letters were addressed to "Executor Dr. E. M. Schultz."

The second letter, evidently written just before death by Mrs. Crans, directed that no funeral services be held and that the undertaker be required not to disturb their bodies. It was also requested that the husband be buried beside a little daughter who died nineteen years ago and that the wife be buried beside a son who died at the same time.

The letter concluded: "Now, I am in my right mind, but we have nothing to live on and we are proud."
The children referred to died from diphtheria on the same day, and for nineteen years the couple had made daily visits to their graves.

They were formerly well to do, and no one supposed that they were in such reduced circumstances as the letters indicated. Lately Mrs. Crans had taken to hair dressing, but it was supposed more for an occupation than to gain a livelihood.

The double suicide caused the greatest sensation the city has known in many years, and the many friends of the couple are amazed to learn that they had harbored suicide thoughts for many months, for they had maintained a cheerful exterior as they were seen daily on the streets.

That their bodies had lain five days before being discovered was due to the fact that their friends believed they had gone away for the summer.
