An Advantage.

Joe was visiting at grandmother's house and was being put to bed when he recalled that he had almost forgotten to say his prayers. He then said them at grandmother's kneehis usual "Now I lay me," ending by asking a special blessing for father, mother and his two little sisters.

At its close he realized he had not remembered his grandmother. "Why, I forgot you, grandma," he said and then smiled encouragingly "but don't you mind that. Pretty soon I'll be big enough to make my own prayers and then I can pray for everybody."

Long Meteor Flight.

Numerous observations of the brilliant meteor seen in the early evening of October 21, 1919, show that it had the long horizontal flight of 335 miles from over a point 20 miles northeast of York, England, to 30 miles southwest of St. Valery, France. It traveled at a speed of about 33 miles a second and its average altitude was 74 miles. Its radiant point and speed agree nearly with those compared by Prof. A. S. Herschel for the meteors from the comet of 1739.—Scientific American.
