Some Party Leaders Say Situation by McAdoo's Self-Elimination Now "Somewhat in Flux."

New York.-William G. McAdoo, who has been considered by party leaders as one of the principal candidates for the democratic presidential nomination, announced he could not permit his name to go before the San Francisco convention.

Washington .- The refusal of Wm. G. McAdoo to allow his name to be presented to the democratic national convention apparently did not come as a very great surprise in inner ad- says the Giornale Ditalia. ministration circles. To other democratic leaders in Washington, however, it seemed to be wholly unexpected and to his friends it came as a keen disappointment.

Some party leaders said Mr. Mc-Adoo's self-elimination left the situation more or less "in flu."
