MOST FAMOUS PARIS SQUARE

Place de la Concorde Enriched by Works of Art of Country's Greatest Sculptors.

The dreams of many men of genius have gone into the making of the Place de la Concorde, in Paris, France. The architect, constructed the obelisks and balustrades. The equestrian statue of Louis XV, which stood in the square until the Revolution, the work of Bouchardon. The statue of his contemporaries, surrounding the square with figures emblematic of Strength, Wisdom, Justice and Peace. The square received its present form in 1854 from designs by Percier. The great statues of the square were made by four famous sculptors, each of whom did his share.

At the entrance to the Champs Elysees, which forms the western boundary of the place, are the famous statues of "Marly," by Guillaume Coustou, and at the eastern side at the entrance to the Garden of the Tuileries, are the "Remonnees" of Caffoz-Mercury and Fame belle horses.

In the center rises the obelisk of Cleopatra, towering 76 feet, and weighing 240 tons. It is a single block of reddish granite, more than 3,000 years old, and it once stood before the temple of Amenhotep, near Thebes. It was brought to Paris in 1793.

STAINED GLASS AND CHURCH WINDOWS

Stained Glass in Ancient and Modern Times and Animal's Representation Has Been Frowned Upon.

The stained-glass representation of "Pedlar and his Dog," to which attention has been directed by the display of a boundary stone of "Pedlar's Acre," on the site of the new city hall, was removed, owing to the incongruity of introducing the figure of a dog in a church window, according to the Westminster Gazette.

The recently Chancellor Prescott Fensholt refused a faculty a stained-glass window in a Westmoreland church because the design included a dog and perhaps the only existing example of dogs used for ecclesiastical decorations are to be found in Lord Fitzroy's private chapel at Ashburnham.

In this church one stained-glass window depicts Tobias and Sara in bed with a dog sleeping on the quilt, while another window Job is shown being comforted by three men, one of whom is a dog by a chain.

Fourth Roll Call

November 11-25, 1920

Send Mrs. Botts' from Shelby, Sunday with Mrs. Botts, sister, J. A. Black.

DR. SHAW ON THE BOYS' SIDE

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the suffrage leader who died last year, had warm friends in the Tar Heel state, where her golden gifts of oratory were appreciated with expert valuation. In the hitherto unpublished photograph above she is shown surrounded by a men and boys' baseball team of Kansas City, Missouri.

It was taken just before her death upon the occasion of her visit to the Boys Hotel.

She had a vigorous talk with these young men just starting on their business lives. Some were newboys, some were office boys, some factory hands, all were young, all had been left totally on their own resources.

The boys liked Dr. Shaw so much that they asked her to be their baseball mascot. If you knew her, you know that she said yes.

Whereupon one slim youth opined: "Why fellows now we got the Doctor on our side we sure can lick any team in town."

POLITICAL EQUALITY AND SOCIAL EQUALITY

"You did not wait for woman suffrage," the late Dr. Anna H. Shaw, once argued to the men of the South, "but disfranchised both your black and white women, thus making them politically equal." This she said in answer to the men of Louisiana when she was asked to answer from a New Orleans platform the following objection to giving women the vote: "If you give the ballot to women, won't you make the black and white woman equal politically and therefore lay the foundation for a future claim of social equality?"

"If political equality is the basis of social equality, and if by granting political equality you lay the foundation for a claim of social equality, you have already laid that claim," was her answer. "But you have done more than that. You have put the ballot into the hands of your black men, thus making them the political superiors of your white women. Never before in the history of the world have men made former slaves the political masters of their former mistresses."

WHO WILL GET THE CREDIT?

The Case for the Parties.

Of the 35 states that have ratified the Federal Suffrage Amendment, as shown by the map below, 29 have Republican Legislatures. Republican leaders, angling for the woman vote in November, have made much of the larger proportion of ratifications assured by the Republican party. "Which would be a logical argument," says Miss Gertrude Weil, president of the North Carolina Equal Suffrage League, "if the relative proportion between Republicans and Democrats were the essential thing. But it isn't. The essential thing is the thirty-sixth vote. What good does it do for Republicans to give 29 states, what good for them to give 35, without the thirty-sixth?"

"It is the thirty-sixth state that counts. It is the chance to be the thirty-sixth state that makes North Carolina the pivot of responsibility in the Democratic prospect in the 1920 elections. If North Carolina ratifies, if the Democratic party has to come to the rescue at the thirty-sixth hour and save the day for the amendment after the Republican party has brought it to the very gates of success, only to ditch it there, why, the whole advantage swings to the Democratic side. It will be the Democrats, not the Republicans, who will have the vital claim on the women's vote."

Miss Pearl Lane returned from a visit to Gastonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hall, from Marion, N. C. are spending the week here with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hamrick spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Black.

WOMEN VOTERS OF THE U. S. A.

Ratification or No Ratification.

Ratification or none, the women of the thirty states are going to vote for the next President of the United States. North Carolina is one of eighteen states whose women are barred from the November Presidential elections. Here are some tabulated figures of timely merit.

In the fifteen states listed as "full suffrage" women vote on exactly the same terms as men. In nine states women have Presidential suffrage only. In the four where they have Presidential, plus municipal, they will vote for President, and for all municipal offices, but not for state offices, in general, though there are a few state offices in particular that they will vote for. In other words, they will vote for offices that are not created by the state constitution.

Birthday In Honor Mrs. M. H. Flack.

Mrs. M. H. Flack, of Ellenboro, but formerly of Forest City, was given a surprise birthday dinner on Sunday, September 26th, by her children and other relatives and friends. Mrs. Flack is 73 years of age. She was born and raised at Forest City, and is the widow of the late M. H. Flack.

Some of her children planned to give her a surprise birthday dinner, and the plan was carried out entirely successfully. All of Mrs. Flack's children were present, even though some of them had to come more than two hundred miles to be there. All of her living step-children were present except one, and there were twenty of her grand-children present, and two of her sisters.

There were also some of the local neighbors present. There was a splendid dinner served. All present spent the time pleasantly. Indeed it was a happy occasion for all who came.

A. H. McDaniel has resigned as Register for Cool Springs township and Claud Keeter has been appointed in his stead. The books will be open for registering voters on September 30th, and will stay open under the usual conditions governing this event, until the election. As Mr. Keeter is a merchant of Forest City, he will have to divide time between his own business and that of the public, so will keep the books open at the store of Keeter & Watkins, at which placethe election will be held also. Mr. Keeter says all the ladies who wish to register can do so without telling their age, as the requirement is that they be "over twenty-one years old."

Under this ruling we opine many a lady will qualify, who otherwise would not do so.
