FINED $50; AUTO NUMBER FALSE

One young man of a well-known Rutherford family was detected by State Auto License Inspector Walter L. Harton in Shelby with a "raised" auto license number on his car, the 1921 being carefully changed so as to make it look like "22." He was arrested and before Recorder Falls Monday was fined $50 and the costs and also required to buy license for 1922. His defense was that he had swapped for the car some months ago and that it had that number-plate on it at the time. A wire to State headquarters placed the 1921 number so close to the defendant that circumstances convicted him.

The "19" had been flattened and the "1" of the "21" had been changed to a neat "2," but a close inspection revealed the alteration. The fine would not have been so heavy, but Judge Falls considered it on a par with counterfeiting.—Shelby Highlander.

OPENS LAW OFFICE

Mr. C. O. Ridings has opened a law office in Forest City and will be located in rooms over the Flack Hardware store. He is a member of the law firm of McRorie & Ridings, with offices at Rutherford and Forest City. Mr. Ridings is a young man, but has met with considerable success since graduating from the law department at Wake Forest. He represented Polk county in the last session of the Legislature and made a good record in that body. Mr. Ridings is a grandson of Mr. C. P. Tanner, who is widely known in this county. He will receive a warm welcome in Forest City.

PRIMARY ELECTION SATURDAY, JUNE 3

Strict Party Lines to Govern and Voters Must Declare Party Preference—Ruling of Election Board.

Next Saturday, June 3, the primary election is to be held. Everything is now in readiness for the battle of ballots, and the voters should inform themselves in regard to the rules governing the election. The Election Board sends out the following: The voters presenting themselves at the polls June 3rd, must declare themselves either Republican or Democrat in their affiliations and vote accordingly, according to a ruling made public by the State Board of Election. No participation by the members of one party will be tolerated in selecting the candidates of the other.

Two primaries are held in the State on that day, the order of the board declares, a Democratic primary and a Republican primary. The voter is free to change his party affiliation but when he changes he must stick to it. The voter cannot vote for a particular candidate in a party of which he is not a member.

Republican participation in the primary will be nominal except in the 27th Senatorial and the Tenth Congressional districts. In only these two instances are there contests within the party. Elsewhere in the State with the exception of some county offices of which no record is made here the Republicans will stay out of the primary because it is a Democratic primary.

The ruling of the board follows: "There are two primaries held on June 3 1922. One a 'Democratic' and one a 'Republican.' The Democrats vote in one, the Republicans in the other. No Republican has any business in the Democratic primary; likewise, no Democrat has a right to participate in the Republican primary.

"Section 6031 of the Consolidated Statutes, being same section of the Election Law, is very full and minute upon the voter's rights. I request all interested in the question to read this section.

"It is mandatory that when a voter offers himself to vote in a primary he shall declare the political party with which he affiliates and in whose primary he desires to vote. If a voter, therefore Republican, declares that he affiliates with the Democratic party, and he desires to vote in the Democratic primary, he has a right to do so; but he cannot vote for a particular candidate in that primary, and hold on to his Republican affiliation. Of course, the same honest, and fair. It is the duty desired to change his party affiliations.

"A voter changing his party affiliation pledges himself to vote, in the November election, for the party nominees. A record of all changes is kept by the primary election officers. This, therefore, is a plain and simple question.

"The voter should be candid. Never was the need of more audibility of all election officers, of both political parties, to see that good faith in this matter obtains."

TAXI FLAPPERETTE MAKES HER BOW

Miss Katherine Gilgore—who is she? No matter, she startled even Atlantic City, N. J., when she appeared in her black and white knickerbocker costume and was immediately dubbed "The Taxi Flapperette," as she strolled the famous boardwalk.
