ONE INEXORABLE LAW

This fact stands out beyond dispute: Cause and effect are absolute. . .

We violate life's perfect laws, which constitutes the active cause -it may be passive, or neglect, which brings the swift and dire effect,-effect commensurate with the cause, so strict are life's unvarying laws!

Man's wilful sins may be forgiven, that mar his errant road to heaven,-though scarlet-red, or black, we know forgiveness makes us white as snow-But-violate life's least command, forgiveness lends no helping hand-and grim effect will follow cause, in this most stern of human laws.

If you should ask me why it's so, I'd have to say that I don't
