HALLOWEEN PARTY

West Main street was a very "spooky" part of town Tuesday night. Big ghosts and little ghosts and lean ghosts, gay ghosts and solemn ghosts marched slowly up the street and assembled in Mr. J. F. Weather's front yard, Flay, having turned into a ghost himself, was entertaining his friends. First they enjoyed games and contests, then they were served pop corn, candy and fruits, three things of which young ghosts are especially fond. Later they were taken to a drug store and served ice cream. Those present were John and Rudolph, Blanton, Carter and Farmer Thomas, Fred Blanton, Chas. Ford, Chas. Hemphill, Kenneth Bostic, Horace Yelton, Boyce Covington, Jr., Evelyn Blanton, Kathrine Harrill, Mildred Moore and Bernice Kanipe.
