Origin of Deadhead.

Deadhead is the literal translation of the Latin phrase, caput mortuum, which was much used by old chemists to denote the residuum of chemicals when all their volatile matter had escaped; hence the word is figuratively used of anything from which all that rendered it valuable has been taken away. Spectators or passengers who do not pay are not valuable, from a revenue standpoint.

Something to Be Proud Of.

A woman is never satisfied with her prowess as a shopper until she has succeeded in getting a bargain at a church fair.

To Measure Gases.

A bathing cap, automobile grease gun and can of soda lime are among the parts of a simply constructed apparatus designed to teach medical students how to measure gases breathed.
