HOME ECONOMICS CLASS FURNISHING MODEL HOME

One of the Home Economics classes of the Cliffside community has been working on a very interesting home-making problem. This has been a problem of furnishing a small home consisting of a living room, dining-room, kitchen and bedroom, for a family of average means. In order to carry out their ideas to the best advantage the girls chose a four-room cottage and decided to actually place the furniture and furnishings as if the house was to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Average Family, themselves.

The class carefully selected furnishings, keeping in mind their purpose to provide a comfortable, cozy, pleasant home at a reasonable price. Practically all of the furniture was selected from the regular stock of the Cliffside Mills Furniture Store and it is largely thru the splendid co-operation of the store that the class has been able to achieve its purpose.

This cottage, ready for its occupants, will be open to the public Friday, May 29th afternoon and night and Saturday afternoon, May 30th at which time all people who are interested are invited to come and examine the home which the girls have provided for Mr. and Mrs. Average Family.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of Cliffside Mills was held a few days ago when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Chas. H. Haynes, president.
 W. H. Haynes, vice-president.
 G. C. Shuford, secretary.
 Z. O. Jenkins, treasurer.

Immediately after the meeting a delicious dinner was served at the Cliffside Hotel to the stockholders and a few invited guests.

JAMES-MARTIN WEDDING

A beautiful wedding was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. Robert James when his eldest daughter, Geneva, became the bride of Mr. C. B. Martin. Their pastor, Rev. M. W. Heckard, was waiting at the beautiful improvised altar and officiated in his usual impressive manner. Only a few friends were assembled in the living room which was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns.

The bride was attractively dressed in a traveling suit of ashes of roses georgette and carried a lovely bouquet of bride roses and ferns.

Immediately following the ceremony the happy pair left for a two weeks tour of Western North Carolina after which they will be at home in Cliffside.

Mrs. Martin is one of Cliffside's most attractive young ladies and has held a position as stenographer for the Cliffside Mills. Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin, Sr., of Cowpens, and holds the position of bookkeeper for the Cliffside Mills Store. We join their many friends in wishing for them a bon voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Quite a number of Cliffsideites attended the memorial service at High Shoals church Sunday. As a consequence Sunday school attendance was off some.

There was no preaching service at either of the churches last Sunday morning on account of the Baccalaureate sermon at the school auditorium, preached by Rev. W. W. Akers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lincolnton. An account of the entire commencement program will be found in another column of this paper.

Misses Jessie James and Annie Zachary accompanied by Mr. Aldridge motored up from Charlotte last Saturday to be present at the marriage of Miss Geneva James and Mr. C. B. Martin.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES A SUCCESSFUL TERM

Third Annual Commencement Held May 22 to 25, Best Term in History of School

The Commencement exercises of Cliffside High School came to a close on last Monday night with the graduating exercises and the Literary address delivered by Hon. Clyde R. Hoey, of Shelby, N. C. This program marked the close of the most successful term and commencement exercises ever held in Cliffside. The Commencement was opened by the Alumni Banquet which was held on last Thursday night in the banquet hall of the Memorial building. Seventy-two plates were served by the home economics department and the banquet was attended by the members of the Alumni Association, the Cliffside School faculty, the members of the local School Board and the County Superintendent. The spirit of revelry and good cheer was present, toasts were given and responded to by those present and two dances, a rope dance and balloon dance by the girls added color to the event. Prof. Chas. C. Erwin acted as toast-master and presided in his usual happy manner.

Friday night was class night. The class of '25 chose to make a departure from the customary class exercises, and wrote their program in the form of a play. This was done under the direction of Misses Mary Weaver, Edith Lindley and Edith Jenkins, who supervised the writing of the play and the production of it. This production made a wonderful hit with all who saw it and the part containing the prophecy was declared by many present to have been one of the best things of its kind ever seen.

Saturday night the annual play by the senior class was given to one of the largest audiences ever to witness a play in the local Auditorium. The play given was the rural comedy "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick," and the house was kept in an uproar of laughter from the raising of the curtain until the last scene closed in a whirlwind of applause.

This play was produced under the direction of the High school principal, Prof. Chas. C. Erwin and it surpassed any play that has yet been given by the local high school, both in the manner in which the parts fitted those selected and in their perfectly natural acting.

The sermon Sunday morning was preached by Dr. W. W. Akers, of Lincolnton. He chose as his subject, "The whole land is Before You." Basing his sermon on the thirteenth chapter of Genesis. His was a masterly effort, teeming with advice to the members of the class and making a profound impression on all who heard him. Another feature of this program was the fine special music by the chorus class, under the direction of Miss Beulah Heafner.

The graduating exercises on Monday night proved a fitting climax to the brilliancy of the entire commencement. First was the salutatory address of the class President, Jonas Waters, the valedictory by Ruby Smith and then a wonderful and eloquent address by Hon. Clyde R. Hoey, truly a silver tongued orator. He spoke on "The Opportunities America Offers to the Young," and with his ready wit and matchless eloquence, held his audience spell bound as he portrayed the splendor of the land in which we live and the equipment necessary to become citizens worthy of it. After the address Supt. Clyde A. Erwin awarded the diplomas and presented County Supt. W. R. Hill, who awarded medals to the best all-round students in the school and also the Alumni Scholarship Medal.

The High school students winning these medals were Clyde Blanton and Lucile Frye, while those in the elementary school were won by Jesse Lancaster and Dorothy Rudisill. The Alumni Scholarship Medal was won by Miss Amanda Haynes.

These exercises brought to a close a term that has been remarkable for its success along every line, bespeaking a school system smooth in operation, meeting the needs of the people in every way and constantly alert to every demand made upon its fine resources.
