For All The Family
"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children and find it a good liver and bowel regulator," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of Mineral Springs, Ark. "I have taken it myself in the last two or three years for indigestion. I would feel dizzy, have gas and sour stomach, also feel a tightness in my chest. I'd take a good dose of

BLACK-DRAUGHT
Liver Medicine
when I felt that way, and it would relieve me, and I would feel better for days. "My husband takes it for biliousness. He says he has never found its equal. When he has the tired, heavy feeling, he takes Black-Draught night and morning for a few days and he doesn't complain any more. "I sure do recommend Theford's Black-Draught." Your liver is the largest organ in your body. When out of order, it causes many complaints. Put your liver in shape by taking Black-Draught. Purely vegetable. Sold Everywhere

"THEN AND NOW"

at Squire Flaxen's was all a ruse gotten up by the Squire, William Buster, Annie and Mattie to try to attract the attention of such as Polly and her friends, Sid, Ganes and others, so that William and his guards could get a chance to catch them napping and arrest the whole gang. Every one had been bound to secrecy but some how the deserters, Sid, old Tobe and Ganes had found it out.

Now, as you will remember, Pope Ganes was a spy and knew a great deal, but for a long time had not been seen by any one except old Charles one night at the cave. But everybody seemed to just know that he was about and in hiding with Sid and Tobe. How on earth did he and they find out that on a Tuesday night that there was to be a general raid by the William Buster forces. This was a surprise to Squire Flaxen and in his Irish way said some one had slipped a cog. There was an achin' in the camp somewhere, he said, or a negro in the wood pile.

But to play out their hand the party at Squire's must be pulled off on time and it was. You never saw so many folk as crowded in and around the Squire's old home. Torch lights and candles were seen every where. Horses and mules were hitched to every post and many to trees. The music had begun in the great room. Violin, Banjo, trombones and such a racket as only a crowd of youngsters can make in war times, could be heard all over the place, when down near the spring a gun fired.

RESULTS SHOW VALUE OF BEAN BEETLE WORK

Raleigh, Sept. 14.—Observations made this summer by J. C. Crawford, field entomologist for the North Carolina Experiment Station show that farmers who followed recommendations in the control of the Mexican Bean Beetle in western North Carolina secured good results, states Prof. Franklin Sherman of the Division of Entomology.

Mr. Crawford is stationed at the Mountain Branch Station near Swannanoa and during the past month has had the opportunity of studying the bean beetle situation in several mountain counties. He reports that the beetles appeared in young beans about May 20 this year which was earlier than in 1924. The beetles were more abundant this year than last but those plantings which were poisoned according to recommendations made by the Division of entomology often outlived and outgrew the early injury by beetles. The dry weather aided in this somewhat as it allowed the poison to remain on the beans for a longer period of time. Some localities at higher altitudes had less damage than in 1924 even though no poisoning was done.

The poisons recommended by Mr. Crawford were retested this year with success and many additional preparations were tried out in an experimental way.

The Mexican Bean Beetle has been in North Carolina only a few years, having spread northward from Alabama and invading Cherokee County in 1921. Since that time it has spread throughout the mountains and moved eastward to a line through Charlotte, Statesville and Mount Airy. The pest seems to prefer the higher and cooler elevations and it is not known now whether it will invade great soybean sections of eastern Carolina.

Mr. Crawford also studied a number of other insect pests in the mountain territory this summer and found that most of them could be controlled with the usual poisons recommended.

DEMONSTRATION FOR CLUB MEMBERS

Rutherfordton, Sept. 15.—On Monday and Tuesday, September 21st and 22nd at 10 o'clock Miss Martha Whitfield of the Southern Cotton Oil Co., will give a demonstration to the club ladies in "Preparation of Foods" especially the use of vegetables and fruits in salads.

On Friday of the same week, September 25th at 10 o'clock, Miss Helen Estabrook, State Clothing specialist, will give a demonstration in "Fitting the Foundation Pattern."

Both ladies will give their demonstrations in the assembly room of the City Hall, at Rutherfordton. All ladies in the county are invited to attend.

Plow under all cotton stalks after the last picking and do this before frost if possible, advise extension workers at State College. This will greatly aid in boll weevil control next year.
