Mrs. Dan Hardin is on the sick list.

Sorry to say the small child of Mr. and Mrs. Harison got its hands badly scalded Sunday morning.

Mr. Henry Henderson has been on the sick list, but glad to say he is improving some.

A large crowd was present at the Missionary Methodist church last Sunday for the all day singing. Four quartettes were there—Street's, Sisk's, Philbeck's and Tate's. The Allen quartet failed to come. Some splendid singing was rendered and every body seemed to enjoy it. Also Rev. Street delivered an able sermon at 3:30 p. m. The same quartets are expecting to be at the Missionary Methodist church next Sunday at Caroleen for the all day singing.

Little Miss Helen Deck is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Howard Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halford and children visited relatives at Shiloh Sunday.

Mr. Adam Tessiner moved into the village Tuesday. We give them a hearty welcome.

The school began here last Monday the 19th with Miss Bertie Byrd as principal and Misses Bertha Whiteside and Gertrude Ledbetter as assistants. A modern new school building has just been completed so the prospects are bright for a successful term.

The auction sale of the farming implements and household goods of Mr. G. C. Haynes at the Hazelhurst farm Saturday was a great success in spite of the inclement weather. Each article sold well and we think the auctioneer, Mr. R. E. Foster, of the Cyclone Auction Co., is the best in his line in the country.

The family and friends of Mr. W. T. Dobbins met at his home last Sunday and spread a bountiful dinner in honor of his birthday.

We had the heaviest rainfall Sunday morning that has been in a long while, it made us think of old times. We hope our wells and other water supplies will be strengthened from it. A good deal of grain is being sown through here and some fields are already up fine.
