BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Although it was raining again last Sunday morning the attendance at Sunday school and the preaching service was better than the previous Sunday.

At the eleven o'clock service the pastor preached from Gal. 16:14. His subject was "Glorying in the Cross." It was a great message and brought to the hearers a new conception of the significance of the Cross and its relation to the Christian.

There was no sermon at the evening hour at which time the ordinances of baptism and the Lord's Supper were observed. The pastor read a number of passages of Scripture on the subject of baptism without entering into a full exegesis of the subject leaving the interpretation to the people. As the choir sang twenty-three candidates for baptism repaired to the rooms adjoining the baptistry. After the baptismal ordinance the Lord's supper was observed in an impressive manner the new converts occupying the front seats. Just previous to this ordinance the hand of church fellowship was extended to them. Many remarked that the simple, beautiful manner in which these ordinances were observed were the most impressive ever witnessed here. As the candidates were buried in the baptismal waters it was done with a graceful movement void of any undue haste eliminating the splash of the water so often seen.

Sunday evening at six fifteen Dr. Stevens began with a class studying the second division of the Sunday Normal Manual. Dr. Stevens will also conduct a class in the studies of the Old and New Testament before he leaves December 1st for his new field of labor as pastor of the Salem Baptist church at Winston-Salem. It is with the deepest regret that the church gives him up to Winston-Salem. One of the many outstanding features of his work here is the intensive training of teachers and other workers in the Sunday school and church. The Board of Deacons have studied Agar's "The Deacon at Work," and have learned from it more of the duties of this office and how to perform them. The extent and fruition of the work done here by Dr. Stevens cannot be estimated.

A pulpit committee was announced last Sunday evening as follows: Mr. P. C. Hawkins, chairman; Messrs. B. E. Gold, B. E. Roach, B. L. Davidson and Mrs. M. T. Greene and Miss Coda Carpenter.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The Tom Thumb wedding given by the Woman's Missionary Society last Tuesday night was a great success. About sixty "tots" from various homes in the town took part in the wedding and every one acquitted themselves splendidly in their respective parts.

A large audience was present and thoroughly enjoyed the affair from start to finish.

The Society observed last week as the week of prayer.

A service was held every day during the week, each service being well attended and much good resulted.

The Young Peoples Society, led by Mrs. J. S. Rudisill, conducted prayer service at the church Wednesday evening. A splendid and well arranged program was given and very much enjoyed by those present.

The Junior Society held their service Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. G. Garvin, their leader. This society is composed of youngsters full of interest and enthusiasm, who will some day be called upon to bear the burdens of the church.

Last Sunday was another rainy day, but attendance at Sunday school was good considering the weather. Prof. C. A. Ervin, superintendent, made a splendid address, condemning the spirit of selfishness in the world today.

Sunday evening at 7:30 Rev. Heckard delivered another able discourse on stewardship. He reminded his hearers that they were accountable as stewards of the spiritual life as well as the material. He compared, in vivid fashion, the care and time given the material things of life, to that given to service and worship of God. He exhorted the congregation to have a definite time, every day of the year for worship and communion with God.

The sermon was regarded by many as one of the best to be delivered by Mr. Heckard since the beginning of his work here.

The Cliffside Theatre announces that they will run a fine collection of shows during the winter, showing on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Beginning Nov. 10th, Tuesday night will be "family" night.

There will be no change in single admission charges, but each and every family will be admitted for 40 cents. This puts a good show within reach of every family in the community.

SCHOOL NOTES

Chapel Programs.

The eighth grade gave a very interesting chapel program Tuesday morning. We thought this all the more interesting because the freshmen composed this program themselves. They gave a play entitled Which is the Best Child.

Wednesday morning Miss Player's fourth grade gave a group of singing games.

Thursday the third grade, Miss Wilson's room, dramatized one of the stories from their reader, The Lion and The Mouse.

Friday the program was conducted by the children from Miss Hord's room. They quoted Mother Goose rhymes and sang some songs.

Eighth Grade News
The eighth grade organized their class. The officers were elected as follows:

President, Paul Bridges; vice-president, Ruby Jackson; secretary and treasurer, Eunice White.

We also voted for our class color, flower and motto. We thus decided on: Color, Gold and Blue; Flower, Goldenrod; Motto, "Not on the Heights but Climbing."

Editor, Mavorean Lemmons.
We are still enrolling new pupils in our room. Bertie Bridges is the last one we enrolled.

We have been studying about Nature in Science class. We talked about leaves last week. We took up the different kinds of leaves and our teacher, Miss Laura Hall, made the lesson very interesting.

Glenn McKinney has been absent from school this week on account of illness. We miss him very much and hope that he will soon be able to be back again.

A few of our students attended the Spartanburg Fair. They report a good time.

Tenth Grade

The Caesarean Latin Club of the ninth grade held its monthly meeting last Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the ninth grade class room. A very interesting program was enjoyed by all. Those participating on the program were as follows: Randolph Martin, Dawsey Thomas and Woodrow Grant. A vocabulary match was also enjoyed by this class. Preceding the program a motto for the club was chosen. The motto being "Labor omnia Vincit"—Work Wins everything. We are going to endeavor to let this be our guide in all things.

Our next meeting will be held Dec. 7th, and we welcome any visitor who is interested in our club, and is seeking much fun and laughter.

The Camp Fire Girls met at the home of Rosa Mae Haynes Tuesday evening, November 3. After a very brief business meeting we began piecing a quilt.

Social

Miss Edith Jenkins entertained the teachers of Cliffside and Avondale at a party Saturday morning, Nov. 7, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Andrew Harrill. Various games such as rook, hearts, carrom, etc., were played, after which the guests were served refreshments.

The guest of honor, Mrs. Harrill, was presented with a linen towel and Miss Freeman was presented a prize as winner in the game contest.

Mary Frances Greene delightfully entertained a number of her friends Monday, November 2nd.

After a number of games delicious refreshments were served to the guests.

Every one went away declaring the evening joyfully spent.

The tenth grade physical geography class has begun a very interesting course under the direction of Miss Weaver.

First, they studied North Carolina and drew maps and placed upon them rivers and mountains. They also studied the products of the State.

For the next few weeks they made a tour of the United States, visiting the largest cities and observing the buildings, occupations and trades. It seems that they are very busy and are interested very much. They have divided the class into four groups. While two of the groups are making a map of North Carolina the other two groups are making a map of the United States.

On these maps the products, rivers, railroads, mountains and other ways of transportation are placed.

When these maps are finished they are to be judged and the group winning will be given extra credit.

ELLENBORO NEWS

Ellenboro, Nov. 9.—Quite a large crowd attended an entertainment at the school auditorium last Friday evening. "Uncle Josh" entertained in his most humorous way, and his music was excellent.

Miss Sarah Byers has accepted a position at Forest City in the office of Dr. F. R. Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Halys Moore, of Earl, spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Z. Wright.

Mr. S. H. Green and family, of Forest City, visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mattie Sparks, on last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greene have moved to Mr. Russell Long's home near the latter.
