KIWANIS NOTES

A Kiwanis play, the "Kiwanis Frolic," will be produced under the direction of Miss Marie Davenport, representing the Home Talent Producing Co., of Raleigh. Miss Davenport appeared before the club Monday evening and very readily "sold" the club on the idea. The play is similar to the "Flapper Grandmother," so successfully produced here last year and will be composed entirely of the Kiwanis membership. It is to be given at the High School auditorium on Friday evening, Feb. 26.

That Miss Davenport is a great entertainer was demonstrated Monday evening, when she brought forth rounds of applause.

The program was also enlivened by readings by three Boy Scouts, as follows:

"What is a Scout?" by Oakland Morrison.

"The Aim of Scouting," by Craig McClure.

"What a Scout Must Know," by Phillip Padgett.

Ladies' night next Monday evening.

MOVIE PROGRAM

February 11th to 17th Inclusive

THURSDAY, FEB. 11th

Anna Q. Nilsson and Lewis Stone in "Too Much Money." Also a comedy, "Casley Love."

Anna Q. Nilsson Is Prim Matron In New Picture.

Anna Q. Nilsson will be seen today in the garb of a housekeeper—checked apron, gingham dress and all—when First National's latest feature picture, "Too Much Money," comes to the Movie Theatre, with Miss Nilsson and Lewis Stone in the featured roles.

Of course, the star wears beautiful clothes, too. But her real acting is done in a little Bronx apartment where plainly garbed, she sweeps her own floor, scrubs her own sink and washes her own dishes.

In "Too Much Money" Miss Nilsson is the wife of Lewis Stone, a man with too much money for his own happiness. Her time is so taken up with social affairs that Stone decides to turn his wealth over to a friend and pose before his wife as a pauper.

"Too Much Money" is an adaptation of Israel Zangwill's stage hit of the same title. It was directed by John Francis Dillon, under the supervision of Earl Hudson.

FRIDAY, FEB. 12th

Mary Philbin and Norman Kerry in "Fifth Avenue Models." Also first chapter "Fire Fighters," with a two-reel comedy, "Sunday Column."

Expensive Costumes For Philbin Picture.

Lingerie, gowns, wraps and furs to an aggregated value $70,000 were used in one of the big scenes in "Fifth Avenue Models." Universal-Jewel starring Mary Philbin, which will be screened in the Movie theatre Feb. 12th.

The scene in question portrays a style show in the salon of a modiste who caters only to the most exclusive patronage, and the wearing apparel was displayed by some of the most beautiful young women obtainable from the "atmosphere" circles of Hollywood.

The picture is a romance-drama dealing with the experiences of a little seamstress who misjudges the attentions of a rich young man who first sees her when she is forced against her desires to become a mannequin. The picture was made from the adaptation of "The Best in Life," Miss Philbin plays the part of the little seamstress. Her father is a best seller by Muriel Hine.

An unsuccessful artist and she is the sole support of the little family of two.

SATURDAY, FEB. 13th

Tom Mix in "Teeth." Also a comedy, "Wire Open."

War Experience Enables Lucy Fox to Save Life Of Unfortunate Stranger.

Lucy Fox, who plays the heroine so charmingly in the land of make believe, had occasion to play the same role in real life while on location at Lake Tahoe, California, with the Tom Mix company making "Teeth," the William Fox production which is coming to the Movie Theatre Saturday, Feb. 13th.

One day when the leading lady was not working a high school girl, guest at the Tahoe Tavern, wandered too near the edge of a high cliff, lost her balance, fell down the mountain side and was severely cut about the head. No one capable of giving the girl proper care was present, so Lucy volunteered her services. Having been a Red Cross nurse during the war she knew exactly what to do and how to do it, and was instrumental in saving the young girl's life.

"When complimented on her good Samaritan action, the little actress disclaimed that any credit was due her and simply said: "My experience in the war taught me the necessity of always being provided with a first aid kit and I am only too glad I had one along and that I could help the poor girl."

MONDAY, FEB. 15th

Fred Thompson and his wonder horse, Silver King, in "The Bandit's Baby."

"The Bandit's Baby"

Imagine a bandit as the judge of a baby show in a western town, where the gun-fighting fathers are willing to see that little Six-Shooter, Jr., wins, even if they have to kill a few judges to do it. And imagine a bandit who has had a young baby wished on him! Also imagine the rescue of this baby from under the wheels of a thundering Limited, a great race at a rodeo between Silver King and another horse, thrilling rides, unusual situations and the usual Thomson stunts! Then you have a fair idea of what kind of a production this new F. B. O. picture starring Fred Thompson and his famous horse may be. It's last screening will be held at the Movie Theatre Monday, Feb. 15th, after which the Bandit, the baby and the Horse move on to conquer new fields of popularity. Del Andrews directed the picture which has an excellent cast. Marion Jackson wrote the delightful scenario from an original story by Leete Renick Brown.

Production on this stupendous scale makes possible the astounding low prices announced January 7th.
