There is an old adage which says, "a straw can show which way the wind blows." If the hearty endorsement of the democratic township committee is any criterion of the political pulse in this part of the county then it is beating strongly in favor of Senator Overman. It is the opinion of this scribe that "Our Bob's" handshake will have to have some pull to overbalance the 23 years of faithful service which Senator Overman has rendered to the democratic party and the country at large. In the words of a Raleigh correspondent to the daily papers, "we do not see how Bob is going to make port."

"THE SONG OF SOLOMON" RUTHERFORDTON, MAY 25

Many people from Forest City and surrounding section will go to Rutherfordton, next Tuesday evening, May 25, at 8 p. m. in the elementary school auditorium to see the famous play, "The Song of Solomon."

This interesting play was given at Spindale House, Spindale, April 10, and was such a success that it will be given again so that many in the county who did not see it will have the opportunity next Tuesday evening. It will be given under the auspices of the Presbyterian church of Spindale and the American Legion of Rutherfordton. Admission will be only 25 cents for all students of the county, 50 cents for adults and 75 cents for reserved seats, the latter being on sale at the Rexall Drug Store, Rutherfordton.

Elaborate costumes, impressive play and most attractive stage decorations will be features of the program. Many who saw it in April, state that the scenery is better than that of any minstrel that they ever saw. The material used in draperies and costumes was made from artificial silk or Rayon, manufactured by the Industrial Fibre Co., of New York. It was woven by the Stonecutter Mills of Spindale. The costumes were designed by Miss Florence Howard and made by the ladies of the Presbyterian church of Spindale. Costumes of King Solomon's day are used. The drama is full of interest and keeps the audience wondering what is next.

This is the best drama of the season. Get your reserved seats early, but be sure to see this great entertainment.
