FARM WORK STOCK NOW ON DECLINE

Raleigh, August 2.—Work stock will soon bring a premium in North Carolina because few farmers in the state are raising their own animals and the supply grown by breeders is getting less and less each year.

"A survey shows that old horses and mules have decreased 16.3 per cent in the last five years and young animals have decreased 52.8 per cent," says Louis W. Anderson, in an address before the Farmers State Convention. "At the present rate of at the present time. It would require 182 years to replace the mules. production it would require 66 years to replace the horses on the farm. We are practicing false economy in depending on some one else to supply our work stock. Pretty soon, we shall pay dearly for our neglect."

Mr. Anderson is county agent in Perquimans county and knows of actual conditions on the farms. He believes that many mares could be used in raising colts without interfering with the regular work. Work stock should be regarded as a farm product, he states, and be produced at home.

Better utilization of work stock is also necessary, he states. The stock should be kept busy, but not too busy. As a general rule, when the stock is not idle, it is worked too hard and a plan of crop rotation can be devised where the work can be better balanced throughout the year. An idle team is expensive but an over-worked team will not long remain an asset on any farm.

"A lot of our teams get too much whip and not enough feed and curry comb," says Mr. Anderson. "Horses should have two ounces of salt daily but many are lucky to get two ounces per month. Many stables are cleaned only once or twice per year and the owner wonders why his mules have sore feet. Many animals suffer, too, from lack of clean, fresh water. There are many other details neglected in the care of our work stock which are essential to their efficiency."

NOVEL CONTEST BY CHIMNEY ROCK MOUNTAINS

Chimney Rock, August 2.—Public interest in the closing of the Lake Lure dam within the next few days will be heightened by the announcement just made here that a novel contest in connection with this event is planned, wherein a total of $500 in prizes will be awarded.

This contest, according to officials of Chimney Rock Mountains, Inc., developers of Lake Lure at Chimney Rock, will be based upon the length of time in days and hours it will require for the filling of the 1,500-acre lake. Answers must be received within six weeks from the time the gates are actually closed. Owing to the irregular terrain, that forms a shore line of approximately 38 miles, definite cubic content figures are not available, the engineers assert. Stream flow figures, however will soon be possible through the installation by the state of a modern stream gauging device in the Rocky Broad river at the lake head, from which periodical readings may be taken for the information of those interested.

Owing to the different character of the soil throughout the lake basin, seepage estimates are a matter of mere conjecture. The actual awarding of prizes will be made when the lake level comes to within six inches of the maximum, the time at which the hydro-electric turbines may commence operation.

Distribution of the prizes will be made on the basis of $5 gold pieces to the first 100 persons whose guesses or calculations come nearest the exact time it requires Lake Lure to fill.

STATE FARM CONVENTION WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Raleigh, August 2.—Filled with messages of optimism and helpfulness from some of the leading farmers, agricultural leaders and civic workers of the state and country, the 24th annual session of the State Farmers Convention, held at State College, last week closed Thursday, July 29, after a most successful meeting.

There were approximately 1,700 farmers and their wives registered at the convention. Other hundreds drove in for a day to attend some special session without registering for rooms at the College. The convention took up many outstanding problems of political affairs, rural schools, home building, and crop and livestock growing. Each afternoon was devoted to lectures on important farm and home problems while the forenoons were given over to special addresses.

The evenings were devoted to inspirational talks and social affairs.

Mrs. J. S. Turner, of Rockingham county, was elected as the next president of the State Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs. The other officers elected are: Vice president, Mrs. R. A. McCullen, of Sampson county; secretary, Miss Belva Bennett, of Beaufort county; recording secretary, Mrs. C. E. Carter, of Buncombe county; and treasurer, Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, of State College.

The new officers for the Farmers Convention are: president, C. F. Cates, of Mebane; first vice president, P. D. Bagley, of Maycock; second vice president, James C. K. McClure, of Asheville; and secretary-treasurer, James M. Gray, of State College.

Before adjournment on Thursday morning, the assembled farmers passed resolutions advocating many of the important matters brought before the convention.

AN ORDINANCE

AN ACT TO APPOINT AND ESTABLISH A BOARD OF CENSORS TO INVESTIGATE, REGULATE, AND PROHIBIT THE SALE OF LEWD AND INDECENT LITERATURE.

At a regular meeting of the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the Town of Forest City, held on Friday, the 16th day of July, 1926, the following act was duly passed and adopted:

BE IT ORDAINED AND RESOLVED:

Section 1. That the following persons be, and are hereby appointed and constituted as a Board of Censorship Committee, to investigate, regulate and prohibit the sale and distribution of all lewd, lascivious, indecent and immoral periodicals, books, magazines and other literature, which may be detrimental to the morals and general welfare of the citizens of the Town of Forest City, and that the said committee shall be, and is hereby declared constituted and composed of the following:

MRS. G. P. REID,
MR. O. C. TURNER,
MR. D. O. BRACKETT,
DR. W. P. HALL, Jr.

Section 2. That this act shall be in force from and after its publication.

This the 16th day of July, 1926.
L. C. LOWRANCE, Mayor.
I. J. MOSS, Attorney.

"Experience is the best teacher"

"That certainly applies to making gasoline. Prominent oil men tell me years and years of striving are necessary before a company can produce a gasoline that gives motorists what they want these days; snappy starting, good pull for the high stretches, lively motor always—all qualities which only experience can teach.

"Take 'Standard' Gasoline. There's fifty-six years of experience behind that brand. And it's the best straight gasoline you can buy. Always dependable—obtainable everywhere."
