The Forest City Courier A Real Newspaper

(Danville (Ky.) Daily Messenger)

The Forest City Courier, edited and owned by C. E. Alcock, brother of the editor of the Danville Daily Messenger, recently published a 28-page paper in the interest of Lake Lure at Chimney Rock, in Rutherford county, N. C., where the paper is located. Chimney Rock is one of the greatest attractions in the United States, thousands of people from everywhere visiting the place all during the year. The enterprising citizens of that part of Western North Carolina built a beautiful lake in the mountains near Chimney Rock and call it "Lake Lure," and upon the occasion of the jubilee celebrating the completion of Route 20 (the "Main Street" of North Carolina) Editor Alcock issued a special edition of his paper, which was beautifully illustrated and contained much valuable information about that wonderful section of the country. The Forest City Courier, which is one of the best weekly papers in North Carolina, is receiving many deserved compliments upon its Lake Lure edition.

The editor of the Forest City Courier also deserves much credit for publishing a good paper every week, as it has from 12 to 20 pages every time it is issued and not only reflects credit upon the entire newspaper organization, but shows a progressive community. The news articles and editorials are well written, the paper is neatly printed and made up, and the progressive business men of Rutherford county liberally support the paper with attractive advertisements. It is this kind of co-operation that makes a city and county grow and prosper, and we not only congratulate our brother upon his great success, but the good people of that section of a progressive state for giving him the support that is necessary to properly boost a community or enterprise.

REV. GEO. L. COOK DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME IN SPINDALE

Retired Presbyterian Minister Falls Dead Tuesday—Founder of Cook's Memorial Chapel

Spindale, Aug. 17.—Rev. George L. Cook, aged 81 years, died at his home here yesterday at 5 o'clock. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 3 o'clock at Cook's Memorial Chapel, Paw Creek, with Rev. Mr. Rowan, of Charlotte, and Rev. Mr. Cassady, of Spindale, in charge.

Mr. Cooke was a retired Presbyterian minister. He had led a very active life, having been pastor of a large number of Presbyterian churches over the state during his lifetime. He founded Cook's Memorial Chapel, at Paw Creek, near Charlotte, about forty years ago, which was named for him. It was there that the funeral services were held Wednesday. It was at the same place that he baptized his wife a number of years ago. From 1908 to 1914 he was pastor of the Brittain Presbyterian church in this county. Following his retirement from the ministry he decided to spend his remaining days in Rutherford county, and about four years ago moved to Spindale.

Although he had outlived the span of three score and ten years allotted to man, he was very active and in good health until the hour of his death. He was inspecting some fruit trees in the back yard Tuesday about four o'clock and suddenly fell to the ground. He was removed to the house and a doctor summoned. He never regained consciousness, and died about an hour later; the cause of death being attributed to heart failure. Dr. Cook was a familiar figure in Spindale. In his daily walks to the postoffice he would invariably speak a word of cheer that would make the day brighter for someone.

Mr. Cook married twelve years ago. His wife survives him, also one sister.

COTTON MARKET ON UPWARD TREND
Advance of Nearly $3.00 Per Bale Reported From Cotton Marts Tuesday

Continuance of showery weather in the South, accompanied by increasingly numerous reports of damage by insects and talk of bullish private conditions and crop figures appeared responsible for an advance of nearly $3.00 per bale in cotton on the New York and New Orleans markets yesterday. The New Orleans advance was due largely to the very pessimistic report from Texas of crop deterioration and a rather unfavorable weather forecast.

At the close of the trading yesterday middling cotton was selling on the New York market for 19.95 cents per pound and on the New Orleans market for 19.15 cents per pound with indications for further advances in prices.

SCHOOL BOOKS SHOULD BE PURCHASED EARLY

In many instances pupils have been unable to get books when school begun. The Peoples Drug Store has a number of school books on hand now and it is hoped that the parents will purchase books at an early date. In some cases book companies have been unable to supply all the demands for books at the last minute. For this reason books have been purchased and a number of them are on hand now. Too, only enough books have been purchased for schools here. We purchase only for this community. Therefore, if other communities buy books here as they usually do the supply may run short. Pupils can not do standard work without books. Often pupils become discouraged when they do not have books when school begins.

List of books by grade will be given in this paper next week.

Dr. W. A. Ayers and daughter, Miss Mary and son William, left Monday for Greenville, where Dr. Ayers will conduct a meeting.
