THE SINFUL STYLE

(By E. A. BUCHANAN)

Come Devils, Come Drunkards
If you want to flirt
With the women and girls,
And their little short skirt.

Just hug 'em and kiss 'em
As much as you please,
For it isn't any trouble
To see above their knees.

They will bob their hair,
Then talk about the style;
Show their petticoats and bloomers
Near about a half a mile.

Cover the face with paint and powder,
Cut the waist a little lower;
Roll silk hose down to ankles
To show the men a little more.

About the time another summer,
They will wear no hose at all
Just a belt, in front a flapper
So the men can see them all.

Be careful, men and boys, too;
When one is caught they will yell,
And swear a great big pack of lies,
Then try to have you put in hell.

Women and girls out on the streets
Their dress above their knees
Thinking they look so well;
And how they are deceived.

Now let's say something
About the men and boys
Gazing at the girls' legs—
Most every one enjoys.

Women and girls wear coats
Partly covered with fine fur;
Tell them of the sinful style
They say well, I don't care.

They have been warned by preachers,
Now who are they going to blame;
Long as they go as they are going
Putting Christ to an open shame.

Different kind of stockings,
Spatted and striped hose
Male and female wear them;
They look like animal shows.

Some men and boys wear breeches
That only comes to the knee short,
Twist around the flappers
And think they are smart.

Look at the style and fashion,
It has got to be a sight;
You can't find a four square preacher
That will tell you it is right.

Young men, be awful careful
In picking out your wives;
Don't marry a bob haired flapper—
They wreck so many lives.

You, too, young girls, be careful;
Don't marry a drinking boy;
They will give more trouble
Than you possibly can enjoy.

All the people who take and read this
Will perhaps call it fun
Expect they will find it truthful
When our Lord the Saviour comes.

The GENERAL TIRE
—goes a long way to make friends

What do "Key" Buyers Buy

Every community has its substantial citizens who are known as "key" buyers — men whose judgment of merchandise values is respected. They buy tires as they buy other products, on the basis that quality is the bedrock of economy.

In small towns and large towns the country over you'll find Generals on the cars of the "key" buyers.

General's success over a period of ten years is based on the absolute maintenance of top quality. Now, more than ever, people are realizing the soundness of General's policy of not tampering with quality.
