SPRING FRESHENED SEARS-ROEBUCK AGRICULTURAL FOUNDATION

COWS freshening during the spring months do not produce milk as economically as those which freshen at other seasons, and prices received for their product average lower, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation points out.

Records of dairymen covering a five-year period analyzed by the Ohio College of Agriculture showed that cows in herds in which less than 25 per cent freshened in the months of March, April and May produced an average of 8,154 pounds of milk a year at a cost of $2.47 per 100 pounds. Herds in which 35 per cent or more freshened in the spring produced an average of only 6,822 pounds of milk at an average cost of $2.71 per 100 pounds.

The cost of feed and labor per cow was lower in spring freshening herds, but the milk production per cow and the cost of producing 100 pounds of milk decreased as the proportion of spring-freshened cows diminished.

Prices of dairy products tend to be higher during the fall and winter months, when most of the product of fall-freshened cows would be marketed than during the spring and summer months. The price paid to producers at country plants for standard fluid milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat averaged $2.71 in the six months from October to March, inclusive, in the five years, 1922 to 1926, inclusive, compared with $2.53 in the remaining six months. The price of farm butter averaged 41.8 cents in the six fall and winter months compared with 38.1 cents in the six spring and summer months.

RIVERSIDE PARK TO OPEN TODAY

Lots in Forest City's New Restricted Residential Area Now on Sale.

Forest City's newest development and first restricted residential section of the city will be opened up by March 1, (today) according to an announcement made this week by the developer, Dr. Chas. S. McCall.

This new development is to be known as Riverside Park, and includes seventy-five acres, divided into fifty-two lots and reservations for a four-acre park and golf course, says Dr. McCall.

The development is located at a right angle to Highway 20, and runs parallel with Carolina avenue, just within the city limits south of Forest City. The development is situated on a long ridge that affords a beautiful half circle view of the mountains. Main street through this property is to be known as Riverside Drive. All lots will be sold at a private sale, and under restrictions. All lots have a frontage of one hundred feet while the depth is from 165 to 800 feet deep. Only one house will be allowed to a lot, and on Riverside Drive any structure erected must cost $5,000 or more.

The proposed golf course lies directly at the rear of the property. A four-acre wooded bluff, on which is located a fine spring, will eventually be made into a park and recreation center.

Tentative plans for the erection of three fine residences on this property have already been made by owners of the lots, and it is expected that construction work will begin with opening of Spring. Dr. McCall's idea is to develop a first class residential area which will be creditable to a city the size of Forest City.

The opening of this development has been set for March 1. Dr. McCall says that no auction sales will be held and no agents employed or high pressure selling methods used. Anyone interested in this development may see Dr. McCall and purchase one of these lots at a private sale.
