THEIR SUCCESS SHOULD ENCOURAGE OTHERS
The winning of prizes by Mrs. D. Carpenter, Mrs. C. F. Cline and Mrs. Grant Allen in the state garden contest mention of which is made in the news column this week, should encourage others in Rutherford county to give more attention to their gardens. This county is rich in possibilities and our farmers should give more attention to the growing of vegetables and fruits and to live stock and poultry. The Farmers Federation is providing a market for the products and the farmers should awake to the opportunity now knocking at their door to get away from the dependence upon cotton for the only cash crop. Inasmuch as the farmers have been fairly warned against a heavy infestation of the boll weevil this year, and as an overproduction may force down the price of cotton, wouldn't it be wise to diversify more this year?

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our very deep appreciation for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the recent sickness and death of our dear beloved mother. We sincerely hope that God will graciously bless each and every one.

Redpath Lecturer Tells Human Side of George Washington
"George Washington should be something more than a picture on the wall, a statue in the park," says David Wulf Anderson, noted writer, traveler and lecturer, who is scheduled to speak here Redpath Week on "Folklore Stories of George Washington."
Mr. Anderson has spent hours almost without number in those portions of Virginia made sacred by association with Washington. He re-creates in his lecture here a human Wash-ton whom every one will be interested to know and learn about. This lecture is not only interesting but it is highly constructive. It makes George Washington a vivid, living personality, and at the same time it stimulates patriotism and love of country.

David Wulf Anderson has to his credit three popular novels—"The Blue Moon," "The Red Lock" and "Thunderhawk." The first two have been filmed for motion pictures and the third will soon be seen on the screen.

CAROLEEN HAS TWO DEATHS

Mrs. Jane Phillips and Mr. Sam Daves' Demise Reported by Courier's Correspondent.

Caroleen, May 1.—The unexpected death of Mrs. Jane Phillips occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marlow Hawkins, last Thursday night after a brief illness following a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Phillips was visiting Mrs. Hawkins, at the time she was taken sick. She made her home with her daughter, Mrs. John Gosey, of Avondale. She was seventy-five years of age this past January. Her husband, Mr. J. S. Phillips, having preceded her to the a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Phillips was a woman of fine Christian character, being a member of Floyds Creek church. She leaves three sons, Mr. Joseph Phillips, of Caroleen; Mr. Earle Phillips, of near Harris; and Mr. Sam Phillips, of Ferry; and two daughters, Mrs. Marlow Hawkins, of Caroleen and Mrs. John Gosey, of Avondale, also two brothers and two sisters and twenty-six grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at Floyds Creek church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, being in charge of Rev. Stoudemire, of Avondale, assisted by Rev. Price, of Henrietta. The bereaved family and relatives have the sympathy of their many friends in their hour of sorrow.

Mr. Sam Daves Dead
Mr. Sam Daves, aged 68 years, died at his home in Coopertown Thursday. He had been ill for some time and death was not unexpected. Funeral services were held Friday at his home and interment followed at Mt. Pleasant church in Cleveland county. The funeral services were in charge of Rev. R. N. Childress.
He is survived by his wife, seven daughters and one son, as follows: Mrs. Mollie Blackman, Mrs. Mary Bryant, of Caroleen; Fannie Alred, Avondale; Mrs. Boyce Bridges, Cliffside; Mrs. Stella Noble, Charlotte and Misses Bill and Minnie Daves, Caroleen and Mr. J. Daves.

SISK'S BARBER SHOP
To Courier readers scattered here and there,
Here's a message for you—so read with care.
Sisk's Tonsorial Shop on Depot street,
Gives real good service that is hard to beat.
In keeping with prices which rise and fall,
New prices are quoted for one and all.
Just twenty-five cents for cutting the hair,
If you'll walk right in and get in a chair.
All the children can get a hair cut, too,
For just twenty cents, the whole week through.
Except on Saturday, when shops all thrive,
Then the price is changed to twenty-five.
If a beardless face you truly crave,
Why fifteen cents is the price of a shave.
A massage comes next, as you know well,
A quarter dollar is the way they sell.
Then a head wash you will appreciate,
For to wash the dandruff from your pate.
This requisite sells for a quarter, too.
So come along and get your shampoo.
There's the tonic and bath within your reach,
Only twenty cents is the price of each.
Five good barbers in this shop you'll see,
Among the best in town you will agree
There's H. D. Phillips among the best of all,
Who desires his friends to give him a call.
And W. R. Curtis, who works with a smile,
Will give you good work, just give him a trial.
And of C. W. Watts—No need to tell,
For his splendid work is known quite well.
Then L. A. Morrow comes next in the rhyme,
With satisfied customers all the time.
You've nothing to lose, and nothing to risk
For the proprietor's name is E. E. Sisk.

and helpful talk at the Baptist church here Sunday morning. She gave a very interesting history of the beginning and growth of our Missionary work and the founding of our denominational colleges throughout our State and union. She related the hardships of the Baptists in the early days, of Roger Williams and George Whitfield's preaching to establish the first churches, and the first amendment of the constitution being a rectification of a religious clause. The undaunted work of William Cary, who awakened England and America to the religious cause and Judson and his wife in India were brought to mind. A history of our colleges and the training of our preachers in our denominational colleges were interesting facts. Out of our 474 preachers 418 have come from Baptist colleges of our State. Mrs. Lovelace's talk was very effective and made each one feel who listened to her, that they must double their proposed pledges to this great cause and not let Boiling Springs fail, through a failing of ours to support this great move.

Mr. Quinn, chairman of the board of Boiling Springs school made another fine talk Sunday evening giving facts and figures concerning the school and the importance of supporting this great move for religious education.
Caroleen church, after these inspirational messages, will do their best to go over the top with their assignment.

Rev. E. B. Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist church of Rutherforddon will assist the pastor, Rev. R. N. Childress, in a ten days revival meeting at the Baptist church here, the meeting to begin Thursday evening, May 3rd. Rev. Jenkins, who has recently accepted the pastorate at Rutherforddon is a fine speaker and an earnest preacher of the gospel. The public is cordially invited and urged to attend these meetings and assist in any way possible to make it a great soul winning campaign. The meeting closed at the Henrietta Baptist church Sunday evening which was conducted by the pastor. Baptismal services will be held Wednesday evening. There has been 34 additions to the church.
