Suffering With SICK HEADACHES

Mr. Charles F. Todd, of Estesburg near Waynesburg, Ky., says: "I was suffering with nervous headaches. About once a week I would have these headaches, and have to quit work, and go to bed for about twenty-four hours. I would have pains in my neck, and right behind my right ear."
"A merchant at Estesburg told me to try taking Black-Draught, which I did."
"It relieved me. From that time on, I would take Black-Draught as soon as I felt like I was going to have one of those headaches—and they wouldn't come on."
"Every few weeks, I take three or four doses of Black-Draught, and I feel so well, and do my work, and don't lose any more time with headache."

KIWANIS CLUB OBSERVES COUNTY HISTORY NIGHT

County Historian Urges Club to Assist in Marking County's Historical Spots

The attendance at the Kiwanis club Monday evening was not up to the standard, due to many of the members being away on vacation. The dinner, served by Mr. Cowan Blanton, was beyond expectation. The program was in charge of Dr. R. L. Reinhardt, who acted in the absence of Mr. C. E. Alcock.

The program was devoted to county history, and Clarence Griffin, county historian and Courier News Editor spoke on the historic spots of Rutherford county. Mr. Griffin presented to the club the proposition of erecting markers on historic spots of the county, and urged that a committee working in conjunction with other clubs of the county undertake this laudible task.

The first company to go into service in the War Between the States from this county was recruited and drilled in Forest City, said Mr. Griffin. Rutherford county furnished eleven companies to the service, but the old Burnt Chimney Volunteers, later Company D, 16th North Carolina Volunteers, was the outstanding organization recruited from the county. This company was composed almost wholly of Forest City men and during the four year's struggle rendered valiant service and participated in every battle of note in the eastern United States. When the organization was paroled at Appomattox in April, 1865, only nine men were present, out of an original number of approximately 160 men and officers, the remainder having been killed, wounded or captured. There is now only one survivor of this company, Mr. Aaron Wall, of Henrietta.

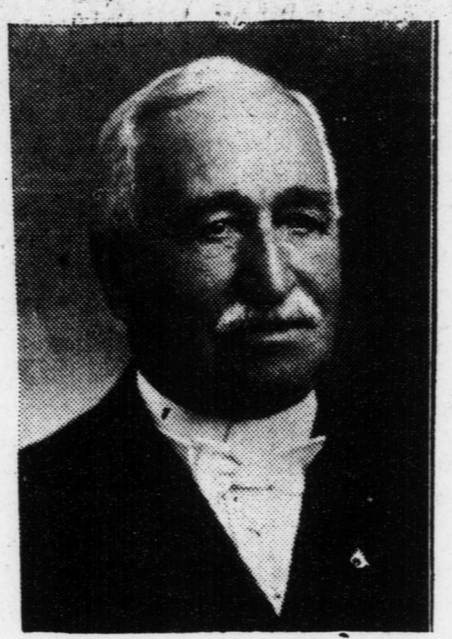

The muster ground of this company was on the square, and the flag pole stood in front of the Farmers Bank at the intersection of Cherry Mountain and Depot streets, said Mr. Griffin. A handsome shaft with a bronze plate carrying the essential facts of the organization of this company and their accomplishments would preserve to posterity the memory of these gallant volunteers, and at the same time would beautify the square, balance nicely with the monument already erected at the upper end of the square to the World War dead, and would be a source of pride to the city, as it would attract attention of hundreds of tourists passing daily.

Mr. Griffin further mentioned several other historic spots in the county that should be marked, among them the site of the Bechtler mint, Rutherfordton; Old Gilberttown, which was the camp of Ferguson's men prior to the battle of Kings Mountain, and the place where the early courts of the county were held for a long period of time. Britain Presbyterian church, one of the oldest in the state, also deserves some recognition, also the grave of Lieutenant McCollough, of Campbell's Corps, who was wounded at Kings Mountain and died at Gilberttown and is buried in Britain cemetery.

These markers could be erected at a small cost and the task would receive the wholehearted response of every citizen of the county. Mr. Griffin further urged that the Kiwanis club consider the matter and take some action on the suggestion. The president, Mr. R. L. Reinhardt, appointed a committee consisting of Mayor Charles Flack, Prof. Charles Erwin and Rev. G. R. Gillespie to work with Mr. Griffin and committees from the other clubs in the county, toward the end of marking all spots of historic interest in Rutherford county.

Following this Mr. D. H. Sutton spoke briefly in reference to the honor that had recently come to one of the members of his agricultural class, Norman Morgan, who, a few weeks ago, was selected as one of the seven outstanding young Tar Heel Farmers in North Carolina.

Rev. G. R. Gillespie, who drove 160 miles from a point in Virginia Monday in order to be present at the club meeting, told of the attention that the Forest City license tag on his car had created. Mr. Gillespie told of an amusing incident which occurred a few days ago, while in Johnson City, Tenn., when an old negro man, a former resident of Forest City, sat for forty-five minutes on the curb awaiting his return to the car in ord-
