WHAT KIND AND AMOUNT OF FERTILIZER TO USE

"Let the cotton planter answer the questions: What kind and what amount of fertilizer should farmers use and when should it be applied to produce the most profitable crops," says D. H. Sutton of the Agricultural Department of Cool Springs High School.

"As another means of making this department helpful to this community, we have again outlined a cotton fertilizer demonstration in which we are testing four different methods of fertilization," he said. "The test is being conducted by Mr. W. E. Smith, and can be observed on the right side of the road leading from Forest City to Caroleen about two miles out of Forest City.

Conditions are forcing the successful cotton farmer to become skilled in "feeding" or fertilizing the cotton plant. Not only is it necessary to fertilize to force the plant to fruit heavily, just as it is necessary for the dairyman to feed his cows heavily to force them to give large quantities of milk.

"Since the growing and fruiting period of the plant is limited to a very short time, the fertilizer must be applied in liberal amounts and in a readily available form. In two of the plots in this test, all the nitrogen is from a quickly available source, such as Nitrate of Soda, with part of it applied at planting and part as a side application. It will be interesting to watch the growth and fruiting of the cotton in each of these plots and the farmers therefore are urged to visit and observe this work," said Mr. Sutton today.

HENLEY WRIGHT, AGED 10, SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

Ten-year-old Henley Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wright, of Shelby, died Saturday morning at Raleigh, this state, from injuries received when struck by an automobile on the streets of the capital earlier in the week.

According to word received from Mr. Wright, the remain were to have been buried Monday afternoon in Oakwood cemetery, Raleigh. Mr.

Wright's business partner, Mr. S. M. Blanton, upon receipt of the news, left for Raleigh to attend the funeral.

The brief details of the tragedy was this: The child with a number of his pals was playing baseball in the backyard of his grandmother's home. The ball was batted into the street and little Henley dashed for it and was hit by the passing car. The accident was said to have been unavoidable on the autoist's part.

The child's ribs were crushed, and his skull severely fractured. He lingered about 48 hours, in an unconscious condition, before he died.

The boy was one of four Wright children—Thomas, 14 being the oldest, next Clifton, 12, then came Henley and the youngest is a girl Ren-

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderless has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon.
