SCOUT MOVEMENT MUST COMBAT COMMUNISM

Reports Tuesday Reveal Active Troops of Pioneers Working Against Scout Program In Council.

Shelby, Sept. 18.—A meeting of the executive officials of the Piedmont Council, Boy Scouts of America, was held in Hotel Charles here Tuesday night with twenty-six officials representing each of the five counties of the council in attendance. Council President J. W. Atkins, editor of the Gastonia Daily Gazette, of Gastonia, presided.

Following the dinner hour reports were heard from each of the five county vice-presidents, the scout executive and members of the council committee. All reports tended to show that the council was in favorable condition, and the scout movement progressing nicely. Reports disclosed the fact that approximately $1,100 is yet due from Rutherford county on the 1929 quota. The big problem facing the council, as disclosed Tuesday night, is the lack of adequate leadership of scout troops and the menace of the "Pioneer" movement, an organization sponsored in Gaston county by the Communists.

According to President Atkins active troops of "The Pioneers" are at work in Gaston county, and in one instance this movement has been detrimental to one Boy Scout troop.

Rev. G. R. Gillespie, a former Forest City man, now of Gastonia, has been devoting much time and effort in combatting the influence of the Pioneer and Communist movement, stated Mr. Atkins. He further stated that the Communists had filched Boy Scout uniforms, in which they clothed members of their own organizations, who were placed on the streets of Gastonia to distribute "Red" literature. Rev. G. R. Gillespie was instrumental in recovering these uniforms from the imposters and placing them in the hands of the proper authorities.

At the close of the business session an interesting report was made by Scout Fred Smyre, Jr., of Gastonia, who was one of the North Carolina delegation of Boy Scouts to the International Jamboree, held in Birkenhead, England, last month.

Rutherford county representatives attending the meeting were county vice-president Clarence Griffin; Fred C. Kinzie, chairman of troop training, and R. E. Price, county finance chairman.
