BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The attendance at Sunday school was off some last Sunday as usual when the weather is bad and it was rather cool, too. However, several more got to church in time for the preaching service.

The subject of the morning sermon was "The Exemplary Servant" based on Paul's writing in 1st Thessalonians 2.

Miss Louise Lemmons was granted a letter of dismission to unite with a church in Columbia, S. C., where she has gone to study in Columbia Bible College. Miss Lemmons will be missed in the activities of the church as she has been one of our most untiring workers.

The scripture lesson Sunday evening was the second Psalm and the message was based on the 1st chapter of Ephesians, the subject was "Fruits of the Kingdom."

The Departmental superintendents are preparing for promotion day next Sunday and they will be pretty busy this week getting certificates ready and rounding out their programs.

We were glad to have with us several visitors last Sunday. We are always glad to have visitors with us.

CHAUTAQUA WILL RETURN NEXT YEAR

Another chautauqua has come and gone and was a success. The large tent would not seat all who came and some had to stand at each session. Enough pledges for tickets were secured to assure the return of the chautauqua again next year. All the numbers were good we are looking forward to next year in anticipation of a still greater chautauqua season.

DIG SWEET POTATOES BEFORE KILLING FROST

Sweet potatoes which have been chilled in the ground will not keep well in storage so a good rule to follow in harvesting is to dig before the vines have been killed by frost.

"In digging sweet potatoes, use every precaution to prevent cutting and bruising the roots," cautions H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist at State College. "The crop should receive a grading in the field, discarding the bruised, cut and otherwise worthless specimens. Place the potatoes in slatted crates for storing. Three grades are generally made, these being U. S. No. 1, Jumbos, and culls. Culls may be fed to the livestock and should by all means be kept out of the storage house."

The U. S. No. 1 grade consists of sweet potatoes of similar characteristics which are firm, free from black rot, decay and freezing injury. Such potatoes are also, free from damage caused by dirt, secondary rootlets, bruises, cuts, growth cracks, scald, scurf, and other diseases, or by weevils and other insects, or mechanical injury. The diameter of such a potato is not less than one and three-fourths inch nor more than three and one-half inches, while the length is not less than three inches or more than 10 inches.

When putting the sweet potatoes in the storage house, it is well to see that the house has been made clean. Careful sweeping of the floors walls and ceiling is necessary. The careful grower will also heat his house for at least one day before storing any of his crop and he will then keep up the proper temperature until the so-called sweating period is over. Mr. Niswonger says that one person should be responsible for the house and entirely in charge during the curing season.

Prof. and Mrs. B. P. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haynes entertained the school faculty over the week-end at their homes at Chestnut Hills. Several others went up to spend Sunday with them.

Mr. Gold and his daughter were severely shaken and somewhat bruised, especially Miss Gold who was taken to Watts Hospital at Durham where she remained until Saturday when she was able to leave for home. Mr. Gold is able to be out and about his work, though he suffered from shock at first.

COM. ECKENER IN LATEST MOTOR CAR

It is fitting that a man like Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is the first man to successfully circumnavigate the globe in a dirigible, should be introduced on the completion of his trip to the Ruxton automobile with its front wheel drive. Here we see in this intimate photograph Dr. Hugo Eckener, hero of the round-the-world flight in the Graf Zeppelin. This photograph shows the famous airship commander leaving his hotel in the new Ruxton front-wheel-drive automobile, which was his private car during his stay in New York. From this rakish roadster, the internationally known old man this time saw the "Sidewalks of New York" from the ground, which is almost a new experience for him. (Herbert Photos, N.Y.)

SOW COVER CROP BETWEEN COTTON ROWS

It is unnecessary to wait until the corn and cotton crops have been harvested to plant cover crops. Simply sow the seed between the rows in early fall and cover lightly.

"Cover crops for soil improvement may be planted in corn and cotton fields with less trouble than anywhere else on the farm," says E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at State College. "If the cotton stalks are not large, crimson clover and vetch may be planted anytime after September first. All that is necessary is to broadcast the seed and cover them. The ordinary cultivator is suitable when sowing vetch seed but for crimson clover, the cultivator should have fine teeth so as to cover the seed lightly."

If the cotton has grown large and dense, it is better to wait until immediately after the first picking before sowing the cover crop. This will avoid damage to the lower bolls. After the first picking, some of the cotton leaves will have fallen off, giving the young clover and vetch plants a chance to grow. Too much shade will kill them, as will too much hot sunshine, says Mr. Blair.

Mr. Blair says that this same method may be followed in corn fields. Sow cover crop seed early in Sept-
