THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1929.

We are grateful to those few who occasionally send in to the editor items of news. It is a material aid to us and we take this opportunity to thank you with the request that you keep it up. We would like very much for others to send in any items of interest. If you find it inconvenient to send it to us, please call us up on the telephone. Thank you in advance. (Ed.)

LIONS CLUB MEETING.

Recently representative men of Caroleen, Avondale, Henrietta and Cliffside organized a Lion's Club and preparations are being made today, (Tuesday) for the first meeting to be held here. Mrs. H. L. Robertson and her class in domestic science are busy preparing the "feed" to be served this evening.

Speaking of Mrs. Robertson's class, the class has grown until it was necessary to add more equipment and tables or desks have been added to accommodate several more girls. The old tables in the "lab" have been remodeled and new, heavy water-tight tops of proper material have taken the place of the pine tops on the old ones. This will greatly facilitate the work of the class.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Miss Mavorean Lemmons entertained a few friends Thursday night of last week at a bridge party honoring her guest, Miss Lillian Smith, of Avondale, who left Monday to enter training at Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, D. C.

Among those present were Miss Lillian Smith and Messrs. Charles Frye, Solon Smart, Oras Biggerstaff, of Avondale; Maurice Wilson of Caroleen; Thomas Harris and "Birch" Whitlock of Forest City; Misses Eunice Simmons, Georgia Blanton, Sarah Hughes, Ferne Pruett and Messrs. Ralph Crawford, Clyde Kendrick, Jesse McCurry, of Cliffside. Refreshments were served and Miss Lemmons was acclaimed a charming hostess.

The many friends of Mrs. James Packard will be glad to learn that she was able to return to her home here last Saturday after spending a few weeks at the Rutherford Hospital where she underwent a serious operation and treatment.

CLEVELAND COUNTY HAS TWO PIONEER HOMES

In the Muddy Fork section of No. 5 township there is a residence, still in use today, which was built in 1731, or 198 years ago.

Interesting data on this pioneer home and another in the county erected 135 years ago was given The Star by Mrs. Horace Wright, 69-year-old descendant of the early settlers who built both homes.

The 198-year-old residence, which is owned and occupied now by Stanford Wolfe, was erected by William Oates, great grandfather of Mrs. "He came from across the water," according to the aged woman and was one of the first settlers in this Wright on one side of the family section of the state. Mrs. Wright has a photo of the original dwelling.

The other old residence, lingering over from pioneer days, is the red house just west of New Prospect church and is on the plantation owned by Mr. Josh Lattimore and Dr. E. B. Lattimore. This residence was erected in 1794 by John Teter Beam, also a great grandfather of Mrs. Wright, who was the first of the Beam family, then known as Baum to settle in this section which is now covered by hundreds of his descendants.—Cleveland Star.

Spanish Silver Found In Shelby

An old Spanish treasure, buried perhaps a century ago, was unearthed Friday of last week in a wooded strip on the old Bob Williams place just below South Shelby.

The finder was a youth, Clyde Williams, who was playing about in the woods when he spied something shining in a gully which had been washed there.

Climbing into the ditch the youth began to scrape about and in a few minutes had uncovered 27 pieces of Spanish silver. Just what the value of the coins were, or might be now, is not known.

Practically all of the silver seemed new—in the sense that it apparently had not been in circulation very long before being buried as the coins were not scratched.

A dozen of the coins were standing on edge and in a line in the dirt indicating that they had been stacked in a row and buried in a chest or some other container, the container rotting away during the many years the silver had been buried.

The coins were dated from 1792 to 1810 and since there were no coins dated later it is estimated that the silver might have been buried about the time of the War of 1812. No local legend tells of a Spanish treasure ever being buried in the section and the unearthing of the silver has created a mystery as to when and how it was placed there, and by whom.—Cleveland Star

John Bell, 14, won the Somerset plowing contest at Williton, Eng.

WANT LOCATION GRAVES OF REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS

Anyone knowing of the location of graves of soldiers of the Revolutionary war, in Rutherford county, marked or unmarked, will confer a great favor if they will communicate with Clarence Griffin, at The Courier office, giving the location of these graves. Mr. Griffin is compiling a list of the graves of these soldiers, and their location. He has succeeded in securing a list of practically all of the marked graves, but has no record of those soldiers who have no monuments.

Mrs. G. C. Robey of Washington recently gave birth to her fourth pair of twins in seven years.

The body of Belle Boyd, most famous of all Confederate Spies during the Civil War, will be removed from Wisconsin to her native Virginia.

Little King Michal of Rumania, 7 years old, received a miniature electric locomotive as his most prized Christmas present.

Eleven children of Ensign and Mrs. W. J. Lawrence, four boys and seven girls, play in a Salvation Army band in New York.
