FOREST CITY AMUSEMENT AND BUSINESS CENTER

Theatres and Merchants Doing Great Work in Drawing Large Crowds.

A Review By Noted Authority of Horn's Great Four Star Picture.

Forest City has made great strides in the past few years, gaining the enviable position of trade and amusement center of a rich and populous county. Great crowds, in ever-increasing numbers, come to this city to do their shopping, and to attend the high class theatres.

The theatres do a great part in attracting the crowds to our city, and the large and varied stocks and close prices made by the merchants appeal to those buying in the city. Forest City is also ideally located and has ample parking facilities and a cordial welcome to the visitors.

As an evidence of the high class attractions brought to Forest City by local theatres, it might be mentioned that "Devil May Care," show at Horn's Theatre, Thursday and Friday of last week, reviewed by Frederick James Smith in Liberty Magazine, second February number, was given a four star rating, which means that it was classed by this noted authority as "extraordinary." This late picture was shown in Forest City by Mr. Horn ahead of many of the largest cities in the state.

The Courier does not make a practice of reviewing pictures, believing that a short and snappy advance notice to be of much greater value to the movie proprietor.

Mr. Horn states that he has shown many "four star" pictures in the past few months and expects to show many others in the future, as he buys only the latest and best of the movie attractions.

Very few pictures get a four star rating, the highest given by Mr. Smith. Below we append his review of "Devil May Care," in order that Courier readers may know his classification of the great picture shown by Mr. Horn last week:

 DEVIL MAY CARE

Another talkie adventure in charm comes from the Metro-Goldwin studios and stars the young Mexican, Ramon Navarro. It is Devil May Care, a musical romance of Napoleonic days. It does not equal that superb celluloid operetta, The Love Parade, but it is both engaging and spirited.

The plot of Devil May Care is as old as drama itself. Remember the young Union officer who loved the beautiful Confederate? The soldier of Washington who lost his heart to the lovely Tory? The handsome Cavalier who was captivated by the prim Roundhead? It is the old fable of love versus duty.

Napoleon had abdicated and departed for Elba. His followers are being hunted down by Louis XVIII. The young color bearer of Bonaparte in escaping from a firing squad, climbs into the bedroom of a pretty little royalist. In the end (just after Napoleon returns to French soil) our hero kidnaps his royalist, the romance coming to a pleasant ending quite oblivious of Waterloo, just around the corner.

Devil May Care does not take its history very seriously. It merely is a background for a light sentimental comedy. Its charm comes largely from Navarro's performance of the sharp-witted and amazingly Armand de Treville, lieutenant in the emperor's service. Navarro sang The Pagan Love Song in the otherwise silent film, The Pagan. So this picture really marks his talkie debut. Right here let it be said that he gains immeasurably with the aid of his voice.

His light comedy is highly skillful—shy and unaffectionately guileless. Indeed, Navarro seems a sort of sensitive and sentimental Chevalier. His is a winning performance, miles ahead of his florid Scaramouche and his hard-working Ben-Hur. And he sings delightfully.

You will like Dorothy Jordan as the royalist. Miss Jordan is a little Tennessee girl making her second screen appearance. Her first was in The Taming of the Shrew.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—of other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

IN MEMORIAM.

A boy so wonderful and fair,
With sparkling eyes and beautiful hair,
Was slipped by an angel and carried away,
As the pale shadows of the night slipped into day.
Mikey's spirit was wafted away on wings of love.
To Jesus who had need of him above,
He wanted him tender, pure in heart,
In heaven to take an angel's part.
No loving human hand could heal his disease,
But Jesus said "come I will give you ease,
He could not tell us where or just how,
But we know he is well and happy now.
Look up, he is dancing round the heavenly throne,
Fairer, even more beautiful than we have known.
See his radiant light shining from heaven afar,
To guide us on, as homeward star,
Weep not mother and father do not meditate,
Mikey is safe, shut within the golden gate.
Where angels will kiss each tear into a smile,
Till you shall meet your loving child.
—NANNIE MELTON.
