POULTRY CAR WEEKLY

Rutherfordton, March 17.—County Agent F. E. Patton, announces that beginning this week a poultry car will be operated weekly for several weeks. A better price for poultry can be secured in this way and will furnish a regular market. The price advertised this week is the best that it has been in several months. The poultry car will also buy eggs. Poultry is one of the most profitable products in this section at present and is always in demand.

Funeral Held For Mrs. James Kanipe

Ellenboro, R-3, Mar. 17.—Mrs. James Kanipe died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clay Blanton Thursday night March 6. She seemed in her usual health Thursday and was spending the night with her daughter. She appeared to have a cold and was lying on the bed. When her daughter called her she failed to answer.

Funeral services and burial were held Friday afternoon March 7 at Big Springs Baptist church with Revs. W. M. Gold and D. J. Hunt in charge. A large crowd attended.

She leaves three daughters and four sons as follows: Mesdames Chas Witherow, Cleveland county; Romie Caampbell, Duncan Creek Township and Clay Blanton, Ellenboro, Route 3; Messrs. John Kanipe, Bessemer City; Broadus, at the home place; Bud, Lattimore, and Bert, near home. She also leaves one brother, Mr. Brack Horn, of Shelby. Her husband preceded her to the grave a few years ago.

Mrs. Evans Chitwood, of Polk county is a sister of Mrs. Kanipe. The deceased was about 70 years of age and was a faithful member of the Baptist church. She was a good mother and was honest and industrious and her death was a shock to her many friends.

Caldwell 4-H Boys Plant Black Walnuts

Two thousand black walnut trees were planted in Caldwell county last week by eighty 4-H club boys as their first effort toward replacing the fast diminishing supply of walnut timber. The trees were secured from the Alabama State Nursery as the supply of black walnut grown by the North Carolina State Nursery had been exhausted by the heavy demand.

Caldwell county did not participate in the early distribution of black walnut trees, but recently a Caldwell citizen agreed to pay for 2,000 trees if the boys would plant them and keep records of their growth for five years.

While on a recent visit to Caldwell county, R. W. Graeber, extension forester at State College, assisted P. M. Hendricks, county agent, in presenting this program to the organized 4-H clubs of the county. He asked the boys to consult their fathers and report to the county agent. In three days, eighty boys had signed up and filed their requests for trees. Each boy got twenty-five trees and they were planted in fence corners, ditch banks and other waste places around the boys' homes.

This will be the largest Black Walnut Club in the State, says Mr. Graeber. These boys will keep a five year record of the growth of the trees. The club adopted as its slogan: "Plant A Walnut Tree and Harvest a Furniture Crop."

The donor of the trees told Mr. Hendricks that he was very much interested in Caldwell county boys and their future, but he would not let his name be made known in connection with the project.

FARMER GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE WOMAN'S LIFE

Rutherfordton, Mar. 17.—Mr. Auley Crow, well known farmer who lives about five miles north of Ellenboro, believes in looking after every interest of his tenants. Last week Mr. Crow came to the Rutherford hospital and freely gave a quart of his own blood to save the life of the wife of a tenant on his farm, Mrs. Avant McKinney, when physicians announced that she must have some blood, if she lived. Mr. Crow, although, he is slender gave the blood, and the tenant soon improved and he was able to go on about his work the next day, only suffering from a sore arm a few hours.

A newly developed sugar cane planter will do as much work as 14 men planting by hand.
