WHY PRINT A NEWSPAPER.

The merchant who says that everyone knows his place of business and that he doesn't have to advertise, can be found in Forest City, and in every other community in the country. This merchant also says that customers come to him when in need of goods, so why should he waste his money advertising? An answer to that question has been made by a newspaper whose advertising man no doubt stumbled into places of business where the owner possessed that frame of mind. This newspaper answered the question, "Why Should I Advertise" as follows:
"Of course, the newspaper man might say in rebuttal, 'Everyone in this community knows all that happens here, so what's the use of reporting the news; what's the use of printing a newspaper? If the community can get along without a newspaper, it can get along without a number of other things which are of value. The adults are educated and can teach the children, thus doing away with the need of schools. The parents, being religious, can train the younger ones in the creeds, thus doing away with ministers and the churches. People can loan their money and thereby eliminate banks. They can swap their old clothes or learn how to make homespun, thereby greatly reducing expense and actually putting the clothing merchant out of business. All trade is based upon a desire for goods. Necessity is mostly an augmented desire. Advertising has the function of reminding people of their requirements, but its greatest function—a prime factor in all progress and prosperity—is the creating of new desires; thereby stimulating trade and production and making for the greatest degree of employment.'—Hamburg, Iowa, Reporter.
