Forest City Bride

Mrs. Arthur Graham Hamrick, who prior to her marriage Tuesday was Miss Emma Jane Dalton, popular Forest City girl.

HAMRICK-DALTON.

In a simple but impressive ring ceremony, Miss Emma Jane Dalton, of this city, and Mr. Arthur Graham Hamrick, of Henrietta, were united in marriage Tuesday night, at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dalton.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Wilma McRorie, attired in a pink satin and tulle, rendered very beautifully Schubert's "Serenade." Following this Miss Edith Ann Pearson, charmingly clad in orchid chiffon, sang "O Promise Me," by DeKoven and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

To the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," played by Miss McRorie, entered the ring bearer, little Fay Covington; niece of the groom, daintily dressed in blue taffeta. She carried the ring in a lovely white rose. Next to enter was the maid-of-honor, Miss Cora Lee Dalton, sister of the bride. She was beautifully clad in rose satin and tulle and carried arm bouquets of pink asters, tied with green tulle. The bride and groom then entered and were met at the improvised altar, which was banked with ferns and roses, and flanked with white tapers previously lighted by Mr. Charles Dalton, brother of the bride. Here, they were met by Rev. W. Arthur Barber, pastor of the Pleasant Grove Methodist church, of which the bride is a member, who performed the ceremony in the presence of the family and friends. "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell, was softly played during the ceremony.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dalton, of Forest City. She was attractively dressed in a blue going-away suit of canton-faille, trimmed in rose beige with purse, hat and shoes of blue and rose-beige hose to match. She carried an arm bouquet of white rose buds, tied with bridal tulle.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hamrick, of Henrietta. He is connected with the H. K. Ferguson Company, of Cleveland, Ohio. The bride has previously been connected with the Dalton Bros., Inc., of Forest City. Her many friends throughout this state and others will be interested to hear of her marriage.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hamrick left on a motor trip to Florida and other points.

Moldy bread may result from wrapping the bread up before it is thoroughly cool, or from lack of care of the bread box. In addition to airing the bread box frequently, sometimes scald it out thoroughly, and dry it in a warm oven or on the back of the stove, or directly in the sun. Molds do not like dry hot air or sunshine.

REPUBLICANS LOST THEIR "PINT"

The much ado about nothing—the clamor made by Republican leaders anent the proposal to print the names of the candidates for United States senator, for representatives in Congress and for State offices on one ballot—has vanished. When the Democratic majority of the State election board proposed the consolidation—the voter privileged, of course, to check the names preferred—on the ground that there would be a saving of $3,000 in the printing, at least one Republican member of the board approved and other Republicans felt the same way about it.

But George Pritchard, Republican candidate for senator, raised a yell that stirred the Republican leaders who immediately became vocal with Pritchard. It was a "trick" to prevent independent voting, declared Pritchard; which is bunk, if you ask us. At least up to this good moment we are unable to see the Democratic advantage, and we happen to know that some intelligent Republicans have the same view.

The meeting of the election board to make decision about the printing of the ballots was held in Raleigh Wednesday. Numbers of Republican leaders were present with lawyers, ready to precipitate a contest, they said, if the consolidation was made. The law, they declared, provided for seven separate and distinct ballots, and no Republican would think of violating a law, of course. Attention was called to a provision attached to the statute giving the election board power to consolidate if the board so decides.

The attorney general ruled that provision was plain and specific and the board had the power. But the provision and the ruling of the State's chief law officer meant nothing to the complaining Republicans. They were looking for an issue and they thought they had found one. Saving $3,000 in the printing meant nothing to these Republicans in this time of Hoover prosperity.

Mr. Bailey, Democratic candidate for the senate, was indifferent whether his and Pritchard's name appear on a separate ballot or with others. And so the Democrats on the board took the wind out of the Republican sails by agreeing to fix the ballots as the Republicans desired. That, we may believe, amazed the Republicans. They didn't expect it and we doubt they really wanted it that way.

Their opportunity to shout "trick" was lost—and that will hurt. One might suspect that the Democrats proposed the consolidation to get the Republicans "all het up" and then let them have their way. That might have been the real "trick," if any; but we are not saying that it was because we have no information to that effect. But the Republicans lost their point, that which they hoped to make a noise about, by hollering too soon and too loud. If they had kept quiet and entered a dignified protest at the meeting, so as to make a record, they might now have the hollering point which they lost—not that it would make any difference in the result, as we believe.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that Republicans in the legislature favored the consolidated ballot—all names of candidates on one sheet, as is the custom in the secret ballot—and it was the Democrats who did the splitting, a provision being added to give the election board discretion as to consolidation. No doubt the Republicans did, but when the Democrats proposed the consolidation Republicans of the Pritchard type claimed to see a trick. As remarked aforetime, there were really no "ruthers" here as to the election board decision because, as we see it the matter is one of convenience.

For our personal convenience we prefer to take a sheet with a list of candidates and check names rather than handle a half dozen separate slips. In such case one can vote the straight party ticket by checking at the top of the ticket, which is designed by emblem; or he can split his ticket by taking choice of names and checking names separately. But with the names of the two senatorial candidates in the same space, whether they are on a separate ticket or on a ticket with other candidates, we are unable to see that any voter is handicapped in voting his preference. But we're glad the Democrats let the Republicans have it their way. Their mouths are closed on that point.—Statesville Landmark.
