Lattimore Man Hangs Himself

Lattimore, Nov. 19.—Clifford Dysart, middle-aged farmer who lives near Lattimore and who formerly lived near the Rutherford-Cleveland line at Newhouse, was found dead in his barn Tuesday morning with a rope around his neck. A ladder stood nearby and it is thought that he hanged himself in the night. A coroner's inquest will be held today.

He is the son of Mrs. Matt Dysart and married a daughter of Clifford Putnam of Cleveland county. There is no known cause for Dysart's taking his life except worries over business. He was a highly respected farmer and leaves a widow, several children and other close relatives.

Sister Of O. Max Gardner Dies

Shelby, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Ollie Anthony, 61, widow of J. A. Anthony, and sister of Governor O. Max Gardner and Mrs. Clyde Hoey, died suddenly at the home of her son, Oliver Anthony, here Saturday night. Mrs. Anthony apparently died of heart trouble soon after retiring and her death was not known until she was called Sunday morning.

Funeral services were held at Central Methodist church here at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Six children survive. They are Oliver, of Shelby; Graham, of Hartford, Conn.; John, of Baltimore; Miss Margaret Anthony and Mrs. Everette Houser, of Shelby, and Mrs. Harry Woodson, of York and Shelby. Surviving also are three brothers and two sisters: Bate Gardner, of Gastonia; W. H., of Seaside, Oregon; Governor Gardner Raleigh; Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey, Shelby, and Mrs. R. M. Farthing, Alberta, Canada.

Mrs. Anthony had been in declining health for some time, particularly since the death of her husband, one of Cleveland county's leading citizens, several years ago.

WOMAN'S CLUB

November Meeting.

The November meeting of the Woman's Club was held Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. F. Alexander, with the following joint hostesses: Mesdames M. P. Bodie, W. C. Bostic, Sr., W. C. Bostic, Jr., Wrenn Chambers, U. S. Courtney, J. W. Dalton and G. D. Dalton.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. F. R. Wilkins and the business attended to. Honorable mention was made of the fact that one of our members, Mrs. A. W. Falvey, was elected first vice-chairman of fourth district at the meeting held in Bessemer City, October 25, also regrets at loss of Mrs. M. F. Moores who goes to Winston-Salem soon to reside.

The program was on Southern writers and was as follows:

Life of Julia Peterkin, Mrs. J. W. Dalton.

Trio: "Deep River," by Mesdames A. M. Glickman, Bert Moore and Miss Ruth Dorsey.

Story: "The Diamond Ring," by Julia Peterkin, Mrs. Carl Huntley. Quartette: "May Magic," by Mesdames A. M. Glickman, Arval Alcock, Broadus Moore and R. E. Biggerstaff.

Miss Frances Bray, of the National Producing Co., who is here to coach the play "West of Broadway", being sponsored by the club was then presented and gave a very interesting sketch of the play. Mrs. Broadus Moore, chairman of ticket sale, then distributed tickets to be sold by the club women.

The meeting adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed at which the hostesses served a lovely salad course with hot coffee.

"West Of Broadway" Wednesday and Thurs.

Of course you have heard a great deal about "West of Broadway". This is the play which is sponsored by the Forest City Woman's Club and directed by Miss Irma Frances Bray, of the National Producing Company of Kansas City, Mo. "West of Broadway" makes its initial bow tonight at 8:15 in the Forest City High school auditorium. The play runs both Wednesday and Thursday, November 19th and 20th.

"West of Broadway" is a comedy drama in three acts, a play within a play. It opens with a pageant of our local grammar school children.

Between each act are choruses of high school boys and girls, and these dances enjoy the reputation of being the prettiest on the road this season. The play itself is unique in that it pleases all types of dramatic tastes, for in it we find everything from the most rollicking comedy to serious and beautiful drama.

As to the play itself: a troupe of Broadway actors are stranded in Hamilton Junction "the bridge up north is washed out" so Jim Twyman, the station agent tells them: as he talks to the actors Twyman gets a happy idea. His niece Lida Bannister is stage-struck. Why not have these actors try her out—tell her she can't act, and then she will marry Joe Blake the village banker, as he has planned, and everybody will be happy. John Buskin, manager of the company agrees to do this the following day at the Junction House, local hotel. Josh and the Hawkins run the Junction House, and are responsible for a lot of clever lines and fun.

The excitement begins at noon when everybody in town comes to the Junction House to see Leily Bannister get tried out, yes, they all come, cousin Sally the "village newspaper", Mrs. Allen the up-stage wife of the new druggist, Henry Wood, the village dumb-bell, the dear old village gossip, came en masse. Has Leila talent? Will she make good? You do just what the villagers did, all come and see for yourselves.

The last act, a play which the John Buskin Repertory company puts on for the villagers. This is where we find our very good drama our moments of laughter, these and thrilling scenes which hold us, our paths, but any more would be telling. Come and see.

Forest City literally runs riot with dramatic talent, to quote Miss Bray. Imagine John Lester Duncan the important manager of the Repertory company "Weenie" Brown who "aims he runs the Junction House, Miss Connie Frye, who plays a dual role in a most competent manner, A. C. Finch, the fiery mayor who hasn't allowed a show in forty years, R. C. Alexander, the up and awake comedian, Mrs. Hewitt, as Salley, who "tells the mayor a thing or two" and space forbids more, but you will find the cast complete on another page of this issue.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the Peoples Drug Store. Don't fail to see "West of Broadway", Wednesday and Thursday nights, November 19th and 20th, at the High school auditorium.

Unnecessary Violence.

"Yes, I'm constantly breaking into song," said the cheerful one. "H'm! If you'd once get the key you wouldn't have to break in," replied the dismal one.

All Said and Done.

The speedometer said sixty miles an hour. The constable said it was ninety. The natives said it was a crime. He said it was the life. His friends said it with flowers.

A Contingent Worker.

"Ah wants a day off, boss, to look for a job faw mah wife." "And—if she doesn't get it?" "I'll be back to-morrow."

Cotton Tweed Effects For Fall

COTTON tweeds for crisp and cool autumn days! Much has been said and written this season about cottons for fall and winter, but one needs only to see the accompanying photographs to realize how completely all this has come true. The costume photographed at the left shows a charming combination of a new cotton tweed with short velvet jacket which is the essence of youth. The colorful plaid design of the tweed makes it particularly appropriate as a jumper frock for general daytime or school wear. The other model shows a new tweed-printed cotton corduroy which combines rich shades of brown with bud green in a smartly tailored sports suit. One of its new features is the collarless neckline with separate scarf favored by so many of the smartly dressed younger set this season.
