THE NEWEST MODES FROM PARIS

Now that the French models for the coming season have arrived, there is no longer any doubt that all the preliminary news about a richer and elegant mode had a good foundation on fact. Even though the past months have accustomed the women to soft feminine lines, the new French frocks and coats reveal a very decided departure in the direction of still more elaboration. The modes also have a tendency towards a riot of color. Colored frocks will be considerably in demand, if one would be in style. To keep up with the demand in colored dresses, there has been placed on the market an indispensable accessory for the well groomed and fastidious woman. She may now purchase Kleinert's dress shields in any color to match her gown. She will not be worried about some inharmonious glare showing thru a sheer garment. The colored shields have been made possible by the recent discovery of a chemist, who has found that it is possible to make a dye that is absolutely fast and can be guaranteed against discoloration or fading. The manufacturers of the Kleinert dress shield maintain offices in Paris, where a style committee notifies the American headquarters immediately when new fashion trends are noted. In this way it is possible for them to keep a stock on hand of just what the public wants. The photographs which come to us from Paris show two French fashions for fall. (Herbert Photos, N. Y.)

Lawyer Was Looking to Another Day in Court

Associate Justice Wendell P. Stafford of the District of Columbia Supreme court tells this one:

A certain lawyer was arguing a case before a state Supreme court. Things were going against him. The justices had gone off on a tangent and by the battery fire of questions from the sitting justices the lawyer knew the case was going against him. Finally he admitted defeat, saying:

"May the court please, it looks as if this case is going to be decided against me. However, another case covering the identical point is soon to come before your honorable body—and it may interest the court to know that in the second case I represent the opposite side."

Out of Bounds

Count Maxence de Polignac, who has been charged with bootlegging, discussed at a tea the traffic regulations of America.

"They are excellent," he said, "but a foreigner at first finds them rather complicated and hard to understand."

"One foreigner said to another: 'In some American towns the streets are marked off in white squares. What does that mean?'"

"The other foreigner, who was a joker, shrugged and answered:

"I guess maybe it means that if you get hit outside the lines it doesn't count."—Detroit Free Press.

Men Weaker Sex at Play

That men faint more easily than women has been the claim of those producing "Frankenstein," the play about the man-monster, at a London theater. The nurse in attendance in the audience reports that at least half a dozen men have needed her ministrations. One of these was Jeffrey Farnol, the novelist. Another man was overcome, not by the monster or the constant thunderstorms, but by a cage of doves, one of which is released in the second act.

Owl Smashed Windshield

Motoring from Rutland, Vt., to Proctor one night, Gerald Markham saw a dark object swoop down from a tree and strike his windshield. After stopping the car he found an owl in the rear compartment, the bird having crashed a hole in the windshield and showered the inside of the car with pieces of glass. Mr. Markham received some cuts on the forehead.

China Bars Greyhounds

Greyhounds, looked upon with favor by sportsmen all over the world, are not popular in China, according to Canadian Pacific steamship officials as the Chinese government is determined not to permit the importation of racing dogs and the commissioner of customs at Shanghai threatens any attempt to land the dogs will result in severe penalties.

Modified Romance

"Would you marry a man for money?"

"No," answered Miss Cayenne, "and yet I don't think I should regard a man as being especially desirable because of his poverty."

Freak Calf

A bull calf on the H. E. Tietler ranch near Ripon, Calif., has three eyes and two mouths. Aside from this the animal is normal. Two of the eyes are in their natural position. The third is in the center of the forehead. Both mouths have tongues and nostrils and the calf takes nourishment with either.

Lone Deficiency

"Shakespeare's knowledge seemed to embrace every subject," said Mr. Buskin.

"Yes," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "About the only thing on which he appeared to lack information was the Baconian theory."—Washington Star.

Nutshell Sports Code

"An overdose of self-love," says Football Coach Bob Zuppke, "makes bums of men who ought to be champions. Forgetfulness of set often makes champions of men who look as if they might be bums."—American Magazine.
